

TOO MANY IN THE RACE

Under Attorney General's Decision City Can Have But Seven Councilmen.

PRESIDENT SHOULD COUNT

As a Member at Large, According to Latest Interpretation of the Law.

OTHER CITIES IN SAME FIX

A decision of Attorney General Sheets, recently sent out, says that cities of the class of Steubenville shall have but seven councilmen, including the president of council. This opinion was given as the result of a query being sent him by the secretary of the Republican city committee of Steubenville. This being the case it will mean that at the recent Republican primary elections in this city and Wellsville one more candidate for council was nominated than should have been.

There have been various conflicting opinions sent out from the office of the attorney general on this question. City Solicitor Boyd, of Wellsville, received a letter from Smith Bennett, special counsel for the attorney general's office, last fall saying that Wellsville was entitled to eight councilmen, from the four wards, three at large and a president of council. This letter was received December 11, 1902. After that Wellsville Republicans proceeded to nominate eight councilmen at their recent primaries, the same as were named in East Liverpool.

Had it not been for the letter of inquiry sent by Secretary B. F. Fisher of Steubenville, it is likely that the mistake would not have been rectified till a much later date. The answer to his inquiry is signed by Attorney General Sheets himself and in full is as follows:

"State of Ohio, Office of Attorney General.

"Columbus, O., Feb. 28, 1903.

"B. F. Fisher, Steubenville, O.

"Dear Sir—Yours of February 23d at hand. The number of council including the president of council for your city will be seven. The secretary of state has the code for distribution, but I am informed that the supply is limited if not quite exhausted. Very truly,

"J. M. SHEETS,

"Attorney General."

This decision will make it necessary to drop one of the candidates at large from the ticket nominated. City Solicitor Boyd, of Wellsville, says that several different opinions have been rendered from the office of the attorney general, but that the last given by Sheets will probably stand. City Solicitor McGarry was seen this afternoon and asked in regard to the question, but owing to the conflicting opinions sent out from the attorney general's office he did not care to give out anything for publication. Solicitor Boyd said that in his opinion the name to be dropped from the tickets already nominated would be that of the lowest candidate of the three chosen at large.

KILNMAN HURT VERY SERIOUSLY

WILLIAM HORTON FELL FROM TOP OF A LADDER.

He Was Picked Up Very Badly Injured And Taken to His Home.

William Horton, a kilnman in the glost crew at the Thompson pottery, was seriously if not fatally injured about 2 o'clock this afternoon by falling from the top of the ladder at one of the kilns at the plant. Horton had climbed to the top of the kiln and was in the act of placing his sagger on the top of the bung when the ladder upon which he was standing turned, precipitating him to the floor of the kiln, a distance of 16 feet. The force of the fall was sustained on his head and shoulders. The members of the crew, hearing the noise of his fall, hastened to his assistance and saw that the injuries he had sustained were of a very serious nature.

The wounded man was made as comfortable as possible and a hasty message was sent to Dr. Trimmer, who responded immediately. His examination revealed serious injuries about the head and shoulders, but their full extent cannot be ascertained until a more complete examination is made. Horton was removed to his home on Sugar street in the patrol wagon, Dr. Trimmer accompanying him. A more extensive examination of the injuries was then made.

AN APPEALED CASE. FROM COLUMBIANA

Decided By the Jury, Judgment Being Rendered for the Defendants.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special)—When court convened yesterday afternoon the case of Sylvanus Hisey, of Columbiana, versus Samuel Nuzum and Austin Hanna came up. It was appealed from the court of Justice Stanton Thomas in Columbiana, where judgment was rendered for the plaintiff by default. The jury brought in a verdict for the defendants last evening, after being out about half an hour. The plaintiff alleged that in September, 1901, he purchased from the defendants about 30 tons of baled hay to be delivered by them at the station at Signal, this county, as soon as a car could be secured. When thus delivered the hay was to be weighed and paid for at the rate of $9 a ton.

The plaintiff said that the hay was so delivered and put in the cars and that he was there to pay for it, but the defendants did not appear. Mr. Hisey said he went to them and tendered the money and demanded the hay, but the defendants refused to allow the shipment and disposed of it to other persons. He asked damages in the sum of $50. The defendants denied that the money had been tendered.

CANALS OF THE STATE SUFFERED GREATLY

The High Water Has Wrought Great Damage in Several Sections of the State.

Columbus, March 3.—(Special)—Chief Engineer Perkins, of the state public works, has been informed that the canals of the state have suffered much damage in consequence of the recent high water. The northern division of the system seems to have sustained the most damage.

At Coshocton the flood is reported to have been the highest since 1898, and four serious breaks occurred in the canal near Canal Dover. Supt. Charles Hatch, of Akron, reports a 40-foot break in the canal on the Summit level, above Wolf creek lock, and other minor losses. Mr. Perkins will make an inspection and arrange for the repair of all breaks.

Troublesome Sadie.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special)—Sadie Huddleson, an notorious character, who originally came from Lectoria, was before Mayor Farrell last evening and was fined $15 and costs and committed to the county jail until fine and costs are paid. Sentence was suspended, however, providing Sadie will leave the city and remain in permanent exile. She has been in similar trouble here before.

WARRANT OUT FOR A TEACHER

Trentvale Schoolmaster Accused of Cruelly Beating a Boy.

WOUNDS SHOWN THE MAYOR

By the Boy's Father and a Startling Story Told by the Lad.

CASE UNDER INVESTIGATION

With ugly bruises on his frail, little body from the chest downward, Willie Taylor, led by his father, W. G. Taylor, a potter employed at the K. T. & K., walked into the city hall this morning and after the marks of violence had been examined by the mayor and a number of others, the father had a warrant issued for the arrest of Prof. E. E. Price, principal of the Trentvale school, charging him with assault and battery.

The injured lad is only 10 years of age and has been a pupil of Prof. Price. To the mayor he stated that his teacher secured two hickory sticks yesterday and in the presence of another youth whipped him unmercifully. At the conclusion of the chastisement, he states, that Prof. Price threw the sticks into a fire and burned them.

In making an examination of the wounds inflicted by the alleged flogging Mayor Davidson counted 17 separate and distinct bruises. He states that they were horrible to behold and that the boy could not help suffering the most intense pain. Though the warrant was issued for the teacher's arrest he was not taken in hand by an officer, but was immediately notified to appear for a hearing this evening.

Mr. Taylor, father of the boy, upon learning of his son's treatment, became much exercised over the affair and started immediately to have the law take hold. He first applied at the office of Supt. Rayman, where he was told that an investigation would be made. This was not satisfactory, and he went to the court of Squire McLane.

The penalty that can be imposed for the offense charged is a fine of not more than $200 and imprisonment of six months, or both.

HIS COUSIN DROWNED

Frederick E. Nelly Receives Sad News About a Towboat Employee.

Frederick E. Nelly, a well known teamster of this city, received a telegram this morning from Pittsburg containing the information that his cousin, Louis Kraft, an engineer on one of the towboats, had fallen overboard from his boat and had been drowned. The particulars of the affair could not be learned.

ANGRY WATERS NOW SUBSIDING

People in the Lately Inundated Districts Busily Engaged in Repairing Flood Damage.

The river is within its bounds again today and except for the thick layer of mud that covers every spot touched by the waters there is scarcely a sign of the overflow. The water is falling much more rapidly than had been expected, a decline of eight feet since the highest stage of 4 a. m. Sunday being noted.

The residents of Jethro Hollow, whose homes were partly submerged, are hard at work today removing evidences of the flood. The muddy water deposited thick layers of sediment wherever it stood for any length of time. This must be removed, the floors scrubbed and dried before carpets can be put down, the furniture replaced before the rooms are ready for occupancy again. The shanty boatmen have found constant employment in keeping their floating homes adjusted to the rapidly falling waters.

The river potteries have entirely recovered from the flood and are in full operation again today. At the Thompson, where the water covered a large area, the removal of the mud and silt

GRANDCHILDREN WERE DISINHERITED

THE REASON COURT IS ASKED TO SET ASIDE A WILL.

Particulars of the Contest Inaugurated Over a Columbiana Estate.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special)—In the contested will case from Columbiana in which William Hisey et al. bring suit against Alice B. Wise et al. asking that the will of the late Matthias Nolf, of Columbiana, be set aside, in compliance from an order from common pleas court the will, testimony and all papers pertaining thereto has been filed in that court. Nolf bequeathed to his daughter, Mrs. Alice B. Wise, of Columbiana, a house and lot in Columbiana; $18.8 acres near the town and another tract of 3 acres in Fairfield township. He placed the value of these bequests at $2,500, of which he said $1,500 was given to his daughter for her dutiful services rendered him in his declining years. To his son George Nolf, of Columbiana, he bequeathed $1,000 in money and to his nephew, William B. Nolf, of Fairfield township, $500. The residue of the estate valued at about $12,000, is to be equally divided between the daughter, Mrs. Wise, and the son, George Nolf.

Mr. Nolf says in his will that he makes these bequests having in mind the children of a deceased daughter, Mrs. Joseph Hisey, by his first wife, all of whom he disinherits. The will further provides that if either of his daughters or sons contest the will the portion of the contestant shall be revoked and go to the other.

The heirs are preparing to fight the suit brought by the disinherited grandchildren, and have retained as their counsel, Attorneys Fred D. Lodge, of Columbiana, Charles S. Spenser, of Lisbon, and probably General A. W. Jones, of Youngstown.

SUIT IS ENTERED AGAINST GOV. NASH

He Is Accused of Wrongly Managing an Estate of Which He Was Executor.

Columbus, March 3.—(Special)—In a suit filed in the probate court of Franklin county, Governor George K. Nash is charged with mismanagement of a trust fund of $10,000, established under the provision of the will of the late David W. Brooks, of which he was appointed executor. The plaintiffs, Thomas S. Brooks, David W. Brooks, Faith Brooks and Herbert Brooks, allege that the defendant did not faithfully perform his duties as executor and that he is indebted to them in the sum of $16,000.

Governor Nash insists that he has managed the trust according to law and stands ready to meet the legal issue raised.

A Talk to Teachers.

ACTION UPON ROBISON CASE

Pardon Board Expected to Render Its Decision at a Meeting Tomorrow.

VERY STRONG APPEALS MADE

The State Board of Health Suffers a Serious Loss by Death.

AN ALLIANCE ANTIQUARY

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, March 3.—A report will probably be made on the case of Zach. A. Robison, serving a life sentence from Columbiana county, at the next quarterly meeting of the state board of pardons, which will be held on Thursday. Randolph W. Walton, clerk of the board, gave it as his opinion that a decision would be given in the case at the meeting, but of course declined to say what it would be. Hon. Charles C. Connell, of Lisbon, appeared before the board in Robison's behalf at the last meeting and presented a petition numerously signed by leading Columbiana county citizens requesting that he be pardoned. Letters were also received from Warden Darby and ex-Warden Coffin, of the Ohio penitentiary, declaring Robison was the best behaved prisoner over which either had ever had jurisdiction. Both officials asked for clemency.

Dr. Charles Rice, of Alliance, who was in this city several days ago, said he had begun the preparation of a genealogical history of the Hole family, of which he is a connection and which has many representatives in Columbiana county, notably at Salem. He will leave for England in about two weeks, where he will spend six weeks delving into ancient records for data on the early history of the family. Dr. Rice has in his possession a collection of autograph letters, said to be the finest extant. He has the signatures of all the signers of the first constitution of Ohio. His residence at Alliance, which has 20 rooms, is filled with quaint curios of almost every description, among which are two pipe organs, one being the first instrument of the kind brought to this country from Germany. The doctor gave an "old folks' party" several years ago which drew at attention of the entire country and gave him much prominence. While here he searched the musty archives of the state library in quest of autograph letters of famous personages.

Hon. Charles B. Galbreath, state librarian, will be one of the speakers at the dedication of the Carnegie library at Greenville, Drake county, March 19. Governor Nash, Secretary of State Laylin and State School Commissioner Bonebrake will also speak. The building will cost about $31,000, of which sum Carnegie donated $25,000, the balance being subscribed by a local banker.

B. H. Flynn, the well known engineer of the state board of health, is dead of scarlet fever. Dr. C. O. Probst, secretary of the board, says his death is a great loss both to the board and to the state. He was aged 27 and was entering upon a career of great promise. He had paid many visits to Columbiana county in an official capacity. At the time he was stricken he was establishing stream gauging stations throughout the state, the special line of work taken up by the board this year.

Following the example set by East Liverpool and 16 other cities of the state, the Columbus barbers have adopted a new schedule of prices, providing for a charge of five cents for a neck shave and an equal sum for hot towels.

Avery Rambo has completed a five-year sentence for robbery from Columbiana county.

Old Directors Re-elected.

The annual election of three members of the board of directors of the Pottery Building & Savings association was held last night and resulted in the re-election of Thomas Plunkett, W. L. Smith and John W. Vodrey. Heretofore these meetings have been held on the first Monday in March. Hereafter they will be held on the second Monday in January.

NO SHELTER OR FOOD FOR STRIKE-BREAKERS

ASHLAND, KY., INSTITUTES A BOYCOTT AGAINST SUCH MEN.

East Liverpool and Pittsburg Men Reported Among Those Who Were Turned Down.

According to a dispatch from Huntington, W. Va., fifty sheet steel workers of Pittsburg, upon their arrival at that city to take the place of the striking hundreds of the Ashland, Ky., mills, were induced to change their minds and return to the Smoky City. It states further, however, that another contingent of about sixty men from East Liverpool and Pittsburg have arrived and have given notification that they intend to go to work. As a result, the hotels and boarding houses have been warned not to give them food or shelter under penalty of a boycott.

When the local men are that have applied for the positions of the strikers is not known. It was thought that probably some of the men temporarily out of employment at the Chester mills had gone, but an investigation failed to discover the names of any. Reports from Wellsville are to the same effect, no workers of the neighboring city being known to have departed for the scene of the strike.

The conditions at Ashland have assumed an alarming state and it is predicted that unless the strikers and the officials of the mill come to a mutual agreement during the next few days, they will experience a time as full of excitement as was prevalent at Wellsville during the memorable strike of 1901. All trains and boats are being met by committees of the strikers and every man that enters the city is questioned closely as to his business and his intentions. No rash outbursts have been evident as yet, but fear is being entertained as to the result if the strike is prolonged.

CHARLES HER HUSBAND WITH MISERLY HABITS

Mrs. A. H. Ritchie Makes Other Damaging Assertions in Her Suit for Divorce.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special)—Ocella Ritchie, of East Liverpool, has filed suit for divorce from Andrew H. Ritchie, for custody of their two minor children and for alimony. The petition says they were married May 9, 1886, at Ravenswood, Jackson county, W. Va., and that two children were born to them, Minnie, now aged 16, and William, now aged 8 years.

Mrs. Ritchie says her husband has been guilty of gross neglect by reason of his miserly disposition, having wilfully failed to provide his wife and children with the common necessities of life, compelling them to subsist on charity and the wife's exertions. Mrs. Ritchie says that by her labor she has helped her husband to accumulate about $12,000 worth of property.

W. K. Gaston, of East Liverpool, is the plaintiff's attorney.

MRS. E. S. MORLEY SUES FOR LEGAL SEPARATION

Alleges That Her Husband Has Been Guilty of Abuse and Unfaithfulness.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special)—Lenora Morley, of East Liverpool, asks divorce from Edwin S. Morley and restoration of her maiden name. The plaintiff says she was married to the defendant in East Liverpool June 26, 1899. She charges unfaithfulness, gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty, specifying that in November, 1901, he was guilty of adultery with one Corinna Clantz at 1023 Bedford avenue, Pittsburg, and that in the same month, in their room in Pittsburg, her husband, while intoxicated, struck her on the head with a beer bottle and choked and otherwise abused her, desisting only when the neighbors interfered.

F. E. Grosshans is attorney for the plaintiff.

To Appraise Bank Property.

VERY QUAIN OLD VOLUME

Bible Owned in This City One of the Oldest English Books in America.

THE KING JAMES VERSION

VALUED FAMILY HEIRLOOM

One of the oldest books printed in English that exists anywhere in this country is a King James bible in the possession of W. C. Browne, a well known pottery salesman, of Third street, this city. It is a very thick octavo volume, printed at London in 1620, by Bonham Norton and John Bill. "Printers to the King's Most Excellent Majesty." It contains, in addition to the old and new testaments and apocrypha, the book of common prayer and church of England service, a description of Canaan and the bordering countries, genealogies of the chief personages of the sacred scriptures with family trees tracing the relationships of the bible patriarchs to Adam and Eve. It is supplemented by "Two Right Profitable and Fruitful Concurrences or Large and Ample Tables Alphabetical," and also a "Book of Psalmes Collected into English Meter." There is an elaborate and extended dedication of the volume to King James.

The book bears imprints on its various title pages showing that some portions of it were printed in 1619 and others as late as 1621. This bible has been in possession of Mr. Browne's ancestors for hundreds of years. Family tradition states that it cost $250 and was formerly the property of the first mate of the admiral's ship at the battle of the Boyne. Its ownership can be traced back to Christopher Ball, who was the great-great-great-grandfather of W. C. Browne, and to Robert McFadden, his great-great-great-grandfather. The autographs of both Ball and McFadden are found upon its pages.

Robert McFadden brought it from Ireland in the 18th century, and from him it passed into the hands of the family of William Browne, who was a lieutenant in the Revolutionary war and received for his services there a patent to 200 acres of land located in Warren county, Ohio, near Franklin, upon which his descendants still live.

The book is in a fair state of preservation and its quaint old English text and still more quaint spelling can easily be deciphered by the modern reader unless he becomes confused by the numerous old fashioned f-shaped s's and the frequent substitution of v for u and vice versa.

APPROPRIATION SUITS FILED BY WABASH

To Secure Rights of Way to Build the Line in Toronto.

Toronto, March 3.—The Steubenville & Toronto Railway company (the Wabash) has started two more suits in probate court to appropriate land in Toronto for the construction of the road this spring. The first suit is against John Vollmer and David W. Bell et al to appropriate a piece of land 23x174 feet opposite the Cleveland & Pittsburg passenger station in Toronto. The line of the proposed railroad has been located through this property and the petition states that the parties have been unable to agree on a price.

The second suit is against Amanda Stewart and William A. Stewart et al and is to appropriate three and a half acres of land in the north end of Toronto. By the plat filed with the petition it is shown that the yards of the new railway are to be located on this tract of ground. The preliminary hearing in both cases is set for Tuesday, March 10.

It is stated that these are only the initial suits, as a number of others of like character are in course of preparation.

GRANDCHILDREN WERE DISINHERITED

THE REASON COURT IS ASKED TO SET ASIDE A WILL.

Particulars of the Contest Inaugurated Over a Columbiana Estate.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special.)—In the contested will case from Columbiana in which William Hisey et al. bring suit against Alice B. Wise et al. asking that the will of the late Matthias Nolf, of Columbiana, be set aside, in compliance from an order from common pleas court the will, testimony and all papers pertaining thereto has been filed in that court. Nolf bequeathed to his daughter, Mrs. Alice B. Wise, of Columbiana, a house and lot in Columbiana; $18.8 acres near the town and another tract of 3 acres in Fairfield township. He placed the value of these bequests at $2,500, of which he said $1,500 was given to his daughter for her dutiful services rendered him in his declining years. To his son George Nolf, of Columbiana, he bequeathed $1,000 in money and to his nephew, William B. Nolf, of Fairfield township, $500. The residue of the estate valued at about $12,000, is to be equally divided between the daughter, Mrs. Wise, and the son, George Nolf.

Mr. Nolf says in his will that he makes these bequests having in mind the children of a deceased daughter, Mrs. Joseph Hisey, by his first wife, all of whom he disinherits. The will further provides that if either of his daughters or sons contest the will the portion of the contestant shall be revoked and go to the other.

The heirs are preparing to fight the suit brought by the disinherited grandchildren, and have retained as their counsel, Attorneys Fred D. Lodge, of Columbiana, Charles S. Speaker, of Lisbon, and probably General A. W. Jones, of Youngstown.

SUIT IS ENTERED AGAINST GOV. NASH

He Is Accused of Wrongly Managing an Estate of Which He Was Executor.

Columbus, March 3.—(Special.)—In a suit filed in the probate court of Franklin county, Governor George K. Nash is charged with mismanagement of a trust fund of $10,000, established under the provision of the will of the late David W. Brooks, of which he was appointed executor. The plaintiffs, Thomas S. Brooks, David W. Brooks, Faith Brooks and Herbert Brooks, allege that the defendant did not faithfully perform his duties as executor and that he is indebted to them in the sum of $16,000.

Governor Nash insists that he has managed the trust according to law and stands ready to meet the legal issue raised.

A Talk to Teachers.

Prof. R. E. Rayman yesterday evening at the general teachers' meeting, gave an excellent report of the superintendent's department of the National Educational Association meeting, which he attended last week in Cincinnati.

ACTION UPON ROBISON CASE

Pardon Board Expected to Render Its Decision at a Meeting Tomorrow.

VERY STRONG APPEALS MADE

The State Board of Health Suffers a Serious Loss by Death.

AN ALLIANCE ANTIQUARY

From a Staff Correspondent.
Columbus, March 3.—A report will probably be made on the case of Zach. S. Robison, serving a life sentence from Columbiana county, at the next quarterly meeting of the state board of pardons, which will be held on Thursday. Randolph W. Walton, clerk of the board, gave it as his opinion that a decision would be given in the case at the meeting, but of course declined to say what it would be. Hon. Charles C. Connell, of Lisbon, appeared before the board in Robison's behalf at the last meeting and presented a petition numerous times signed by leading Columbiana county citizens requesting that he be pardoned. Letters were also received from Warden Darby and ex-Warden Coffin, of the Ohio penitentiary, declaring Robison was the best behaved prisoner over which either had ever had jurisdiction. Both officials asked for clemency.

Dr. Charles Rice, of Alliance, who was in this city several days ago, said he had begun the preparation of a genealogical history of the Hole family, of which he is a connection and which has many representatives in Columbiana county, notably at Salem. He will leave for England in about two weeks, where he will spend six weeks delving into ancient records for data on the early history of the family. Dr. Rice has in his possession a collection of autograph letters, said to be the finest extant. He has the signatures of all the signers of the first constitution of Ohio. His residence at Alliance, which has 20 rooms, is filled with quaint curios of almost every description, among which are two pipe organs, one being the first instrument of the kind brought to this country from Germany. The doctor gave an "old folks" party several years ago which drew attention of the entire country and gave him much prominence. While here he searched the dusty archives of the state library in quest of autograph letters of famous personages.

Hon. Charles B. Galbreath, state librarian, will be one of the speakers at the dedication of the Carnegie library at Greenville, Drake county, March 19. Governor Nash, Secretary of State Laylin and State School Commissioner Bonebrake will also speak. The building will cost about $31,000, of which sum Carnegie donated $25,000, the balance being subscribed by a local banker.

B. H. Flynn, the well known engineer of the state board of health, is dead of scarlet fever. Dr. C. O. Probst, secretary of the board, says his death is a great loss both to the board and to the state. He was aged 27 and was entering upon a career of great promise. He had paid many visits to Columbiana county in an official capacity. At the time he was stricken he was establishing stream gauging stations throughout the state, the special line of work taken up by the board this year.

Following the example set by East Liverpool and 16 other cities of the state, the Columbus barbers have adopted a new schedule of prices, providing for a charge of five cents for a neck shave and an equal sum for hot towels.

Old Directors Re-elected.

The annual election of three members of the board of directors of the Pottery Building & Savings association was held last night and resulted in the re-election of Thomas Plunkett, W. L. Smith and John W. Vordrey. Heretofore these meetings have been held on the first Monday in March. Hereafter they will be held on the second Monday in January.

NO SHELTER OR FOOD FOR STRIKE-BREAKERS

ASHLAND, KY., INSTITUTES A BOYCOTT AGAINST SUCH MEN.

East Liverpool and Pittsburg Men Reported Among Those Who Were Turned Down.

According to a dispatch from Huntington, W. Va., fifty sheet steel workers of Pittsburg, upon their arrival at that city to take the place of the striking hundreds of the Ashland, Ky., mills, were induced to change their minds and return to the Smoky City. It states further, however, that another contingent of about sixty men from East Liverpool and Pittsburg have arrived and have given notification that they intend to go to work. As a result, the hotels and boarding houses have been warned not to give them food or shelter under penalty of a boycott.

When the local men are that have applied for the positions of the strikers is not known. It was thought that probably some of the men temporarily out of employment at the Chester mills had gone, but an investigation failed to discover the names of any. Reports from Wellsville are to the same effect, no workers of the neighboring city being known to have departed for the scene of the strike.

The conditions at Ashland have assumed an alarming state and it is predicted that unless the strikers and the officials of the mill come to a mutual agreement during the next few days, they will experience a time as full of excitement as was prevalent at Wellsville during the memorable strike of 1901. All trains and boats are being met by committees of the strikers and every man that enters the city is questioned closely as to his business and his intentions. No rash outbursts have been evident as yet, but fear is being entertained as to the result if the strike is prolonged.

CHARLES HER HUSBAND WITH MISERLY HABITS

Mrs. A. H. Ritchie Makes Other Damaging Assertions in Her Suit for Divorce.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special.)—Ocella Ritchie, of East Liverpool, has filed suit for divorce from Andrew H. Ritchie, for custody of their two minor children and for alimony. The petition says they were married May 9, 1886, at Ravenswood, Jackson county, W. Va., and that two children were born to them, Minnie, now aged 16, and William, now aged 8 years.

Mrs. Ritchie says her husband has been guilty of gross neglect by reason of his miserly disposition, having wilfully failed to provide his wife and children with the common necessities of life, compelling them to subsist on charity and the wife's exertions. Mrs. Ritchie says that by her labor she has helped her husband to accumulate about $12,000 worth of property.

W. K. Gaston, of East Liverpool, is the plaintiff's attorney.

MRS. E. S. MORLEY SUES FOR LEGAL SEPARATION

Alleges That Her Husband Has Been Guilty of Abuse and Unfaithfulness.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special.)—Lenora Morley, of East Liverpool, asks divorce from Edwin S. Morley and restoration of her maiden name. The plaintiff says she was married to the defendant in East Liverpool June 26, 1899. She charges unfaithfulness, gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty, specifying that in November, 1901, he was guilty of adultery with one Corinna Clantz at 1629 Bedford avenue, Pittsburg, and that in the same month, in their room in Pittsburg, her husband, while intoxicated, struck her on the head with a beer bottle and choked and otherwise abused her, assisting only when the neighbors interfered.

P. E. Grosshans is attorney for the plaintiff.

To Appraise Bank Property.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special.)—Sheriff Leonard went to Salem this morning to have the Greiner bank property on Main street in that city appraised. The appraisal is made in the partition proceedings of Joseph O. Greiner vs. Rebecca A. Greiner and Mrs. Cyrus Metzger.

Judge Martin Recovering.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special.)—Probate Judge J. A. Martin, who is ill with pneumonia, is getting along nicely and expects to be about again within a week. His condition was at no time considered dangerous.

VERY QUAIN OLD VOLUME

Bible Owned in This City One of the Oldest English Books in America.

THE KING JAMES VERSION

VALUED FAMILY HEIRLOOM

One of the oldest books printed in English that exists anywhere in this country is a King James bible in the possession of W. C. Browne, a well known pottery salesman, of Third street, this city. It is a very thick octavo volume, printed at London in 1620, by Bonham Norton and John Bill. "Printers to the King's Most Excellent Majesty." It contains, in addition to the old and new testaments and apocrypha, the book of common prayer and church of England service, a description of Canaan and the bordering countries, genealogies of the chief personages of the sacred scriptures with family trees tracing the relationships of the bible patriarchs to Adam and Eve. It is supplemented by "Two Right Profitable and Fruitful Concurrences or Large and Ample Tables Alphabetical" and also a "Book of Psalmes Collected into English Meter." There is an elaborate and extended dedication of the volume to King James.

The book bears imprints on its various title pages showing that some portions of it were printed in 1619 and others as late as 1621. This bible has been in possession of Mr. Browne's ancestors for hundreds of years. Family tradition states that it cost $250 and was formerly the property of the first mate of the admiral's ship at the battle of the Boyne. Its ownership can be traced back to Christopher Ball, who was the great-great-great-grandfather of W. C. Browne, and to Robert McFadden, his great-great-great-grandfather. The autographs of both Ball and McFadden are found upon its pages.

Robert McFadden brought it from Ireland in the 18th century, and from him it passed into the hands of the family of William Browne, who was a lieutenant in the Revolutionary war and received for his services there a patent to 200 acres of land located in Warren county, Ohio, near Franklin, upon which his descendants still live.

The book is in a fair state of preservation and its quaint old English text and still more quaint spelling can easily be deciphered by the modern reader unless he becomes confused by the numerous old fashioned f-shaped s's and the frequent substitution of v for u and vice versa.

APPROPRIATION SUITS FILED BY WABASH

To Secure Rights of Way to Build the Line in Toronto.

Toronto, March 3.—The Steubenville & Toronto Railway company (the Wabash) has started two more suits in probate court to appropriate land in Toronto for the construction of the road this spring. The first suit is against John Vollmer and David W. Bell et al to appropriate a piece of land 23x174 feet opposite the Cleveland & Pittsburg passenger station in Toronto. The line of the proposed railroad has been located through this property and the petition states that the parties have been unable to agree on a price.

The second suit is against Amanda Stewart and William R. Stewart et al and is to appropriate three and a half acres of land in the north end of Toronto. By the plat filed with the petition it is shown that the yards of the new railway are to be located on this tract of ground. The preliminary hearing in both cases is set for Tuesday, March 10.

It is stated that these are only the initial suits, as a number of others of like character are in course of preparation.

Marriage Licenses.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special.)—William H. Arb and Sadie C. Moore, both of East Liverpool, and Clayton Vollmer and Vester Beight, both of Columbiana, have been licensed to marry.

TOO MANY IN THE RACE

Under Attorney General's Decision City Can Have But Seven Councilmen.

PRESIDENT SHOULD COUNT

OTHER CITIES IN SAME FIX

A decision of Attorney General Sheets, recently sent out, says that cities of the class of Steubenville shall have but seven councilmen, including the president of council. This opinion was given as the result of a query being sent him by the secretary of the Republican city committee of Steubenville. This being the case it will mean that at the recent Republican primary elections in this city and Wellsville one more candidate for council was nominated than should have been.

There have been various conflicting opinions sent out from the office of the attorney general on this question. City Solicitor Boyd, of Wellsville, received a letter from Smith Bennett, special counsel for the attorney general's office, last fall saying that Wellsville was entitled to eight councilmen, from the four wards, three at large and a president of council. This letter was received December 11, 1902. After that Wellsville Republicans proceeded to nominate eight councilmen at their recent primaries, the same as were named in East Liverpool.

Had it not been for the letter of inquiry sent by Secretary B. F. Fisher of Steubenville, it is likely that the mistake would not have been rectified till a much later date. The answer to his inquiry is signed by Attorney General Sheets himself and in full is as follows:

"State of Ohio, Office of Attorney General.
"B. F. Fisher, Steubenville, O.

"Dear Sir—Yours of February 23d at hand. The number of council including the president of council for your city will be seven. The secretary of state has the code for distribution, but I am informed that the supply is limited if not quite exhausted. Very truly,

"J. M. SHEETS,
"Attorney General."

This decision will make it necessary to drop one of the candidates at large from the ticket nominated. City Solicitor Boyd, of Wellsville, says that several different opinions have been rendered from the office of the attorney general, but that the last given by Sheets will probably stand. City Solicitor McGarry was seen this afternoon and asked in regard to the question, but owing to the conflicting opinions sent out from the attorney general's office he did not care to give out anything for publication. Solicitor Boyd said that in his opinion the name to be dropped from the tickets already nominated would be that of the lowest candidate of the three chosen at large.

PANAMA COMPANY WILLING TO WAIT

WILLIAM HORTON FELL FROM TOP OF A LADDER.

He Was Picked Up Very Badly Injured And Taken to His Home.

William Horton, a kilnman in the glost crew at the Thompson pottery, was seriously if not fatally injured about 2 o'clock this afternoon by falling from the top of the ladder at one of the kilns at the plant. Horton had climbed to the top of the kiln and was in the act of placing his sagger on the top of the bung when the ladder upon which he was standing turned, precipitating him to the floor of the kiln, a distance of 16 feet. The force of the fall was sustained on his head and shoulders. The members of the crew, hearing the noise of his fall, hastened to his assistance and saw that the injuries he had sustained were of a very serious nature.

The wounded man was made as comfortable as possible and a hasty message was sent to Dr. Trimmer, who responded immediately. His examination revealed serious injuries about the head and shoulders, but their full extent cannot be ascertained until a more complete examination is made. Horton was removed to his home on Sugar street in the patrol wagon, Dr. Trimmer accompanying him. A more extensive examination of the injuries was then made.

AN APPEALED CASE. FROM COLUMBIANA

Decided By the Jury, Judgment Being Rendered for the Defendants.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special.)—When court convened yesterday afternoon the case of Sylvanus Hisey, of Columbiana, versus Samuel Nuzum and Austin Hanna came up. It was appealed from the court of Justice Stanton Thomas in Columbiana, where judgment was rendered for the plaintiff by default. The jury brought in a verdict for the defendants last evening, after being out about half an hour. The plaintiff alleged that in September, 1901, he purchased from the defendants about 30 tons of baled hay to be delivered by them at the station at Signal, this county, as soon as a car could be secured. When thus delivered the hay was to be weighed and paid for at the rate of $9 a ton.

The plaintiff said that the hay was so delivered and put in the cars and that he was there to pay for it, but the defendants did not appear. Mr. Hisey said he went to them and tendered the money and demanded the hay, but the defendants refused to allow the shipment and disposed of it to other persons. He asked damages in the sum of $50. The defendants denied that the money had been tendered.

CANALS OF THE STATE SUFFERED GREATLY

The High Water Has Wrought Great Damage in Several Sections of the State.

Columbus, March 3.—(Special.)—Chief Engineer Perkins, of the state public works, has been informed that the canals of the state have suffered much damage in consequence of the recent high water. The northern division of the system seems to have sustained the most damage.

At Coshocton the flood is reported to have been the highest since 1898, and four serious breaks occurred in the canal near Canal Dover. Supt. Charles Hatch, of Akron, reports a 40-foot break in the canal on the Summit level, above Wolf creek lock, and other minor losses. Mr. Perkins will make an inspection and arrange for the repair of all breaks.

Troublesome Sadie.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special.)—Sadie Huddleson, an notorious character, who originally came from Leontonia, was before Mayor Farrell last evening and was fined $15 and costs and committed to the county jail until fine and costs are paid. Sentence was suspended, however, providing Sadie will leave the city and remain in permanent exile. She has been in similar trouble here before.

WARRANT OUT FOR A TEACHER

Trentvale Schoolmaster Accused of Cruelly Beating a Boy.

WOUNDS SHOWN THE MAYOR

By the Boy's Father and a Startling Story Told by the Lad.

CASE UNDER INVESTIGATION

With ugly bruises on his frail, little body from the chest downward, Willie Taylor, led by his father, W. G. Taylor, a potter employed at the K. T. & K., walked into the city hall this morning and after the marks of violence had been examined by the mayor and a number of others, the father had a warrant issued for the arrest of Prof. E. E. Price, principal of the Trentvale school, charging him with assault and battery.

The injured lad is only 10 years of age and has been a pupil of Prof. Price. To the mayor he stated that his teacher secured two hickory sticks yesterday and in the presence of another youth whipped him unmercifully. At the conclusion of the chastisement, he states, that Prof. Price threw the sticks into a fire and burned them.

In making an examination of the wounds inflicted by the alleged flogging Mayor Davidson counted 17 separate and distinct bruises. He states that they were horrible to behold and that the boy could not help suffering the most intense pain. Though the warrant was issued for the teacher's arrest he was not taken in hand by an officer, but was immediately notified to appear for a hearing this evening.

Mr. Taylor, father of the boy, upon learning of his son's treatment, became much exercised over the affair and started immediately to have the law take hold. He first applied at the office of Supt. Rayman, where he was told that an investigation would be made. This was not satisfactory, and he went to the court of Squire McLane.

The penalty that can be imposed for the offense charged is a fine of not more than $200 and imprisonment of six months, or both.

HIS COUSIN DROWNED

Frederick E. Nelly Receives Sad News About a Towboat Employee.

Frederick E. Nelly, a well known teamster of this city, received a telegram this morning from Pittsburg containing the information that his cousin, Louis Kraft, an engineer on one of the towboats, had fallen overboard from his boat and had been drowned. The particulars of the affair could not be learned.

ANGRY WATERS NOW SUBSIDING

People in the Lately Inundated Districts Busily Engaged in Repairing Flood Damage.

The river is within its bounds again today and except for the thick layer of mud that covers every spot touched by the waters there is scarcely a sign of the overflow. The water is falling much more rapidly than had been expected, a decline of eight feet since the highest stage of 4 a. m. Sunday being noted.

The residents of Jethro Hollow, whose homes were partly submerged, are hard at work today removing evidences of the flood. The muddy water deposited thick layers of sediment wherever it stood for any length of time. This must be removed, the floors scrubbed and dried before carpets can be put down, the furniture replaced before the rooms are ready for occupancy again. The shanty boatmen have found constant employment in keeping their floating homes adjusted to the rapidly falling waters.

VERY QUAIN OLD VOLUME

Bible Owned in This City One of the Oldest English Books in America.

THE KING JAMES VERSION

VALUED FAMILY HEIRLOOM

One of the oldest books printed in English that exists anywhere in this country is a King James bible in the possession of W. C. Browne, a well known pottery salesman, of Third street, this city. It is a very thick octavo volume, printed at London in 1620, by Bonham Norton and John Bill, "Printers to the King's Most Excellent Majesty." It contains, in addition to the old and new testaments and apocrypha, the book of common prayer and church of England service, a description of Canaan and the bordering countries, genealogies of the chief personages of the sacred scriptures with family trees tracing the relationships of the bible patriarchs to Adam and Eve. It is supplemented by "Two Right Profitable and Fruitful Concordances or Large and Ample Tables Alphabetical," and also a "Book of Psalms Collected into English Meter." There is an elaborate and extended dedication of the volume to King James.

The book bears imprints on its various title pages showing that some portions of it were printed in 1619 and others as late as 1621. This bible has been in possession of Mr. Browne's ancestors for hundreds of years. Family tradition states that it cost $250 and was formerly the property of the first mate of the admiral's ship at the battle of the Boyne. Its ownership can be traced back to Christopher Ball, who was the great-great-great-grandfather of W. C. Browne, and to Robert McFadden, his great-great-great-grandfather. The autographs of both Ball and McFadden are found upon its pages.

Robert McFadden brought it from Ireland in the 18th century, and from him it passed into the hands of the family of William Browne, who was a lieutenant in the Revolutionary war and received for his services there a patent to 200 acres of land located in Warren county, Ohio, near Franklin, upon which his descendants still live.

The book is in a fair state of preservation and its quaint old English text and still more quaint spelling can easily be deciphered by the modern reader unless he becomes confused by the numerous old fashioned f-shaped s's and the frequent substitution of v for u and vice versa.

APPROPRIATION SUITS FILED BY WABASH

To Secure Rights of Way to Build the Line in Toronto.

Toronto, March 3.—The Steubenville & Toronto Railway company (the Wabash) has started two more suits in probate court to appropriate land in Toronto for the construction of the road this spring. The first suit is against John Vollmer and David W. Bell et al to appropriate a piece of land 23x174 feet opposite the Cleveland & Pittsburg passenger station in Toronto. The line of the proposed railroad has been located through this property and the petition states that the parties have been unable to agree on a price.

The second suit is against Amanda Stewart and William R. Stewart et al and is to appropriate three and a half acres of land in the north end of Toronto. By the plat filed with the petition it is shown that the yards of the new railway are to be located on this tract of ground. The preliminary hearing in both cases is set for Tuesday, March 10.

It is stated that these are only the initial suits, as a number of others of like character are in course of preparation.

Marriage Licenses.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special.)—William H. Arb and Sadie C. Moore, both of East Liverpool, and Clayton Vollmer and Vester Beight, both of Columbiana, have been licensed to marry.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

FINE AMERICAN PRODUCTS.

The modern use of clay products is extending rapidly, and in many ways not thought of a decade ago, especially in structural work and in paving. This tendency must necessarily continue, not only because the plastic nature of clay allows it to be moulded into varied and attractive designs, and because the product affords the most fireproof and durable building material known, but also because of the growing scarcity of timber in the more readily accessible localities. There is probably no variety of clay products, from the common brick to the finest art china, that is not made in the United States. The growth of the pottery industry has really been astonishing during the past 10 years, and as building operations involving great increases in production are still being carried on it is reasonable to suppose that the next decade will see a great improvement, not only in the amount of ware and diversified lines manufactured, but also in the quality of the articles. The aim of all potters is to set a high standard, and with this laudable object in view, the time has arrived when it is not necessary for buyers to leave the borders of this country to get an order filled for any grade of ware.

WOMAN POTTERS.

"The women of America," says an exchange, "owe their rapid progress principally to the great exhibitions, particularly the Chicago exhibition of 1893. They used to be shy about labeling their pottery 'made in America.' Now, so much have they advanced in the art, that for artistic and ceramic pottery they are hard to beat. It is in the decorative pottery that the woman potters excel, and her advancement in this line is due to the establishment of the Cincinnati School of Design," which was opened in 1875. The ladies of this school painted cups and saucers so exquisitely that many of them realized $25 at the exhibition. This gave an impetus to the new industry. Miss McLaughlin then successfully imitated the Limoges faience, and received an honorable mention at Paris in 1879. This stimulated other ladies and gradually a colony of women workers gathered together at Cincinnati, and now the 'Associated Artists of Cincinnati' give to the world many beautiful examples of artistic work."

WANTS THE ALLEYS.

One of the concessions asked by the Pennsylvania company, if granted by the city council, will prove a serious handicap to the Cartwright pottery and to many individuals. The company has asked for the possession of the alley running parallel with the tracks from a point near the passenger station to Jackson street. If this is given them the Cartwright plant will be practically isolated and entirely inaccessible for teams. They would be hampered seriously in the operation of the plant, as there is no other practicable route by which it can be reached with teams.

John Cartwright has called the attention of the members of the city council to the injury the granting of this concession will do his plant and several members have already assured him that his interests and that of others will not suffer.

PACKERS FLOODED OUT.

The high water Sunday reached the packing shed at Cartwright's, but very little damage was done. Precautionary measures had been taken and everything of value in the shed was in a place of safety when the waters entered. Yesterday the packing crew had a hard job cleaning up.

NO. 10'S DELEGATES.

Turners' and Handlers' local No. 10 last night elected delegates to the next convention of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters to be held in Wheeling. A large number of names were placed in nomination and the following were chosen: Samuel Burgess, Henry Shell and Frank Huff; alternates, Thomas Hall, Henry Hors' and Alfred Jewell. The local was almost unanimously of the opinion that a franchise for the proposed new street car line to the East End should be granted.

MMET TONIGHT.

Jiggermen's local No. 12 will hold an important meeting tonight in Brotherhood hall, when delegates to the national convention and to Trades and Labor Council will be elected. This year the local will send five delegates to the convention and already enough names have been placed in nomination to warrant the election being spirited.

NO. 48'S MEETING.

Warehousemen's local No. 48 elected three delegates to Trades Council at their meeting last night. Those selected were: George H. Smith, Lawrence White and T. O. Torrence. The union has also endorsed the proposed new street car line to the East End projected by C. A. Smith.

FIRE BRICK PLANT.

An extensive fire brick plant is to be erected this season by Edward Nicholson and McCready Bros., of Port Homer, on lands purchased by these gentlemen some time ago. The plant will be located between the C. & P. and Wabash railroads and will be modern in every particular.

MUCH IMPROVED.

Cyrus Bailey, the well known operative, who has been undergoing treatment at a Pittsburg hospital for the past month, has returned to his home here. He is greatly improved and the chances are bright for his complete recovery.

MOVED TO CAMERON.

Charles Macauley, of Sebring, the first superintendent of the clay department of the Oliver China company, has moved to Cameron, W. Va., to take a position at the new pottery there.

AMONG THE WORKERS.

Miss Lina Capp, of the decorating room at the Dresden, has been ill for several days.

George Drake has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to return to his work in the biscuit end at the Union.

Jenks Morgan, of Cartwright's, left Saturday for Mt. Clemens, Mich., where he will spend several weeks for his health.

A dance is to be given by the Ladies of the Golden Eagle at Columbian Park March 4. Admission, 35 cents.

Center Township Nominations.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special.)—Nomination entries for the Lisbon and Center township Republican primaries, to be held Saturday closed at noon yesterday. The following candidates will make the race: Mayor, George T. Farrell; city clerk, Lodge Riddle; city treasurer, W. H. Hepburn; city marshal (one to nominate), Louis Bowman and David Eells; board of public affairs (three to nominate), George B. Harvey, W. M. Hostetter and E. M. BIG DOG SHOW OPENS TOMORROW

Best Kennels in the Country Have Entered Their Entire String. Locals Interested.

Much interest is being taken locally in the bench show which opens in old city hall, Pittsburg, tomorrow morning. It is to be the effort of the Duquesne Kennel club and it is predicted that it will outclass any witnessed this season. Among those who will figure conspicuously at the show are H. Homer Knowles and R. L. Edmonston. The former has entered quite a number from his Alonsita Kennels and feels confident of making a creditable record with them, notwithstanding that they will be matched against some of the finest of the best kennels in the country. Mr. Edmonston has entered "Max," his fine pointer. The dog is known by every man, woman and child in the city and if he fails to carry away a prize many will be disappointed.

The majority of entries being made are whole kennels. Among the most important kennels are those of William G. Rockefeller, of New York, which enters beagles; George Douglass, of Woodstock, Can., cocker spaniels; W. T. Payne, cocker spaniels; G. M. Carnochan, New York, fox terriers, which this year include the cream of the old and new winners, among them the best smooth fox terrier in the world lately imported, Champion Barkby Ben; Dr. Folken's dachshunde, of Cleveland; Miss Alger, Great Neck, L. I., French poodles; Mrs. Lee's Alta kennels, Toledo, St. Bernards; Mrs. E. S. Woodward's Scottish, Irish, Alsatians, terriers and bull dogs; Newton Abbott kennels, New York, collies, including Champion Moreton Hebe, recently purchased from Vancroft kennels, Pittsburg; Mrs. Jack Brazier, Bay Shaw, L. I., her kennel of Scottish terriers; Dr. C. F. Motchenbacher's kennel of dachshunde; Frank F. Dole, New Haven, Conn., his kennel of bull terriers; Norfolk kennels, Toronto, Can., fox terriers.

Messrs. Knowles and Edmonston will be accompanied by R. W. Sample and Dr. Toot. Others will also likely be present.

FREEDOM MASCOTS WILL PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Will Contest With First Intermediate Y. M. C. A. Basket Ball Team. Notes of the Game.

The first intermediate Y. M. C. A. basket ball team will play the Mascots, of Freedom, Pa., here tonight, and a spirited contest is expected. The home team has been practicing faithfully for this game, which to them is one of the most important of the season. The visiting team is known to be a strong one and it will require the best work of the locals to win a victory. Their lineup will be: Evans, W. Watkins and S. Bucher, forwards; Erlanger, center; Hynes and R. Bucher, guards. The Mascots did not send their lineup. The game will be called at 8:30.

The second intermediate team received new uniforms this morning. This team are considered almost as strong as the first intermediates and in several contests have shown that they are dangerous rivals. The first intermediates were beaten by them in a practice game recently.

Homestead will be here Friday night for a game with the first team and Saturday the latter team will go to Freedom to meet the first team in that city.

New Track at Youngstown.

Plans are being perfected for a new half-mile track at Youngstown, to be built on the south side of the city. The old track which has been known for so many years by horsemen is now in the hands of George Tod. The land has become too valuable for use in that manner and it is the question of but a year or so when it will be cut up into building lots, in the most fashionable part of the city, and the new track will be necessary. There is plenty of capital behind the project and it will be pushed through successfully.

SPORTING MISCELLANY.

Jack Johnson, the California heavyweight, defeated Sam McVey at Los Angeles, a few nights ago and at once issued a challenge to Jeffries.

Boxing has been resumed in Louisville in spite of the fact that the authorities refused to allow "Young" Corbett and Terry McGovern to fight there recently.

Joe Gans and Steve Crosby, of Louisville, have been matched to fight before the Whittington Park Athletic club of Hot Springs March 11. Bat Masterson will referee the bout.

"Young" Griffo, who has been in trouble almost constantly since he came to this country, was sentenced to three months in jail for creating a disturbance in Chicago the other day.

"Kid" Davis, who won a rattling fight in London the other night, is colored and a native of London. He has issued a challenge to box any bantam in England for $500 to $1,000 a side.

Andy Tokell, who lost the world's championship bantamweight battle to Harry Rorbes at Detroit Friday night, says that the Chicago fighter is the cleverest and strongest man he ever met.

Jimmy Britt, in answer to the announcement that Frank Erne intends to return to the ring, says: "If Erne is sincere and if the International A. C. of Ft. Erie gives us a purse I will come east and fight him."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that their is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure. It is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. BIG DOG SHOW OPENS TOMORROW

Best Kennels in the Country Have Entered Their Entire String. Locals Interested.

Much interest is being taken locally in the bench show which opens in old city hall, Pittsburgh, tomorrow morning. It is to be the effort of the Duquesne Kennel club and it is predicted that it will outclass any witnessed this season. Among those who will figure conspicuously at the show are H. Homer Knowles and R. L. Edmonston. The former has entered quite a number from his Alonsita Kennels and feels confident of making a creditable record with them, notwithstanding that they will be matched against some of the finest of the best kennels in the country. Mr. Edmonston has entered "Max," his fine pointer. The dog is known by every man any child in the city and if he fails to carry away a prize many will be disappointed.

The majority of entries being made are whole kennels. Among the most important kennels are those of William G. Rockefeller, of New York, which enters beagles; George Douglass, of Woodstock, Can., cocker spaniels; W. T. Payne, cocker spaniels; G. M. Carnochan, New York, fox terriers, which this year include the cream of the old and new winners, among them the best smooth fox terrier in the world lately imported, Champion Barkby Ben; Dr. Folken's dachshunde, of Cleveland; Miss Alger, Great Neck, L. I., French poodles; Mrs. Lee's Alta kennels, Toledo, St. Bernards; Mrs. E. S. Woodward's Scottish, Irish, Alfordale terriers and bull dogs; Newton Abbott kennels, New York, collies, including Champion Moreton Hebe, recently purchased from Vancroft kennels, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Jack Brazier, Bay Shaw, L. I., her kennel of Scottish terriers; Dr. C. F. Motchenbacher's kennel of dachshunde; Frank F. Dole, New Haven, Conn., his kennel of bull terriers; Norfolk kennels, Toronto, Can., fox terriers.

Messrs. Knowles and Edmonston will be accompanied by R. W. Sample and Dr. Toot. Others will also likely be present.

FREEDOM MASCOTS WILL PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Will Contest With First Intermediate Y. M. C. A. Basket Ball Team. Notes of the Game.

The first intermediate Y. M. C. A. basket ball team will play the Mascots, of Freedom, Pa., here tonight, and a spirited contest is expected. The home team has been practicing faithfully for this game, which to them is one of the most important of the season. The visiting team is known to be a strong one and it will require the best work of the locals to win a victory. Their lineup will be: Evans, W. Watkin and S. Bucher, forwards; Erlanger, center; Hynes and R. Bucher, guards. The Mascots did not send their lineup. The game will be called at 8:30.

The second intermediate team received new uniforms this morning. This team are considered almost as strong as the first intermediates and in several contests have shown that they are dangerous rivals. The first intermediates were beaten by them in a practice game recently.

Homestead will be here Friday night for a game with the first team and Saturday the latter team will go to Freedom to meet the first team in that city.

New Track at Youngstown.

Plans are being perfected for a new half-mile track at Youngstown, to be built on the south side of the city. The old track which has been known for so many years by horsemen is now in the hands of George Tod. The land has become too valuable for use in that manner and it is the question of but a year or so when it will be cut up into building lots, in the most fashionable part of the city, and the new track will be necessary. There is plenty of capital behind the project and it will be pushed through successfully.

SPORTING MISCELLANY.

Jack Johnson, the California heavyweight, defeated Sam McVey at Los Angeles, a few nights ago and at once issued a challenge to Jeffries.

Boxing has been resumed in Louisville in spite of the fact that the authorities refused to allow "Young" Corbett and Terry McGovern to fight there recently.

Joe Gans and Steve Crosby, of Louisville, have been matched to fight before the Whittington Park Athletic club of Hot Springs March 11. Bat Masterson will referee the bout.

"Young" Griffo, who has been in trouble almost constantly since he came to this country, was sentenced to three months in jail for creating a disturbance in Chicago the other day.

"Kid" Davis, who won a rattling fight in London the other night, is colored and a native of London. He has issued a challenge to box any bantam in England for $500 to $1,000 a side.

Andy Tokell, who lost the world's championship bantamweight battle to Harry Rorbes at Detroit Friday night, says that the Chicago fighter is the cleverest and strongest man he ever met.

Jimmy Britt, in answer to the announcement that Frank Erne intends to return to the ring, says: "If Erne is sincere and if the International A. C. of Ft. Erie gives us a purse I will come east and fight him."

$1.00 REWARD, $1.00.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that their is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. A VETERAN AT REST

Impressive Funeral of W. J. Hoyt, Late of the Eighth O. V. I.

The funeral of W. J. Hoyt was held at 3.30 this afternoon. The funeral was largely attended. Veterans of the Spanish-American war, of which Mr. Hoyt had been a member, brother members of the Tribe of Ben Hur and a large number of friends and relatives of the family were also present. The remains were brought to the Erie street M. E. church, where Rev. G. W. Orcutt preached an eloquent funeral ceremony. A number of floral tributes were presented by friends of Mr. Hoyt, a handsome one, from former associates of the street force and fire station, in the shape of a maltese cross, as well as a beautiful emblem from Pan American Court, Tribe of Ben Hur.

Ben Hur Tribe Prospects.

The Tribe of Ben Hur held an excellent meeting last night, a large number of visitors being in attendance. Six new members joined the body. Word was received from the band instruments, which have been delayed for over a week, to the effect that three of the instruments at the factory were found to be defective and that it would be necessary to replace them, which will take only a short time, when the whole order will be shipped.

Victim of Peculiar Accident.

Daisy, aged 7 years, daughter of H. F. Thomas, of Oakland, had one of her fingers badly lacerated. The girl, while playing, caught her finger, which had a common ring on it, while hurrying through a doorway. The finger swelled quickly and Dr. Hendershot was called, who took the girl to a jeweler, who, after some difficulty, succeeded in sawing the ring through. The finger was dressed and will heal.

Will Perpetuate His Name.

A number of the members of Hoyt Court, 1101, of the Orient, are unaware of the fact that the court had been named in honor of W. J. Hoyt, whose funeral was held today. This will in a great measure perpetuate the name, of the departed brother, who was esteemed by all who knew him.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Rev. W. E. Hill has gone on a visit to Beaver Falls, Pa.

The moving of R. E. Price was received at the station today.

T. M. Hendershot has resigned his position at Rudabaugh's market.

A telegram was received from J. W. Harger at Gallipolis, stating that his son, who is ill with appendicitis, was

"BETTER HEALTH" NOW THE CRY

Druggist Will Reed Advises the Thin And Sick to Use Mi-o-na And Be Plump And Well.

Judging from the advertising columns of leading magazines and news papers there is a wave of physical culture and health food habit sweeping the country. Better health is the cry of the times.

Look into the faces of the men and women we meet in the streets of East Liverpool and see how large a proportion are thin, have drawn lines of care, and are wrinkled and haggard before their time. What these people need, says Druggist Will Reed, is Mi-o-na, a flesh-forming food and restorer of health and strength to the digestive organs.

If you feel unhappy and cast down, if your food fails to digest; if your skin is sallow; if you are losing flesh; if your eyes lack brightness; if you feel dull and weak, be sensible and use Mi-o-na. It will aid the food to digest; it will strengthen the digestive organs; it will build up the vitality; it will restore good, firm, healthy flesh, filling in the outlines and restoring pleasing plumpness and symmetry.

Mi-o-na has been so uniformly successful in curing all diseases caused by weakness of the digestive organs, that Druggist Will Reed is selling it under the positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. A guarantee like this speaks volumes for the merit of Mi-o-na. No one can afford to suffer longer, or to be thin and weak, now that there is a chance like this to obtain a reliable remedy that costs nothing unless it restores health and strength.

REPORTS AGREED TO.

Fortifications Appropriation and Alaskan Homestead Measure Sanctioned.

BILLS SENT TO CONFERENCE.

House Has Wearisome Time Listening to Roll-Calls—Some Business Transacted, but Democrats Still Maintain Filibustering Tactic.

Washington, March 3.—The senate yesterday passed the general deficiency bill after four hours' consideration and after it had been amended in several particulars. An amendment by Mr. Rawlins calling for an appropriation of $50,000,000 to further the work of irrigating the arid lands furnished material for considerable discussion, Mr. Rawlins contending that the surplus in the treasury could be better used in this manner than by turning it into the national banks. The amendment was rejected on a point of order.

When the Aldrich financial bill was taken up Mr. Teller continued his remarks begun Saturday. He was followed by Mr. Carmack, who replied to some criticisms of a recent speech by him on the subject of murders in the Philippines. During the course of the day the conference report on fortifications appropriation bill and the Alaskan homestead bill were agreed to. The immigration and omnibus public building bills were sent to conference.

After a brief executive session the senate at 6 o'clock took a recess until 8 o'clock.

Immediately on convening at 8 o'clock Mr. Dubois moved an adjournment. The motion was lost. After a private bill had been passed Mr. Dubois suggested the absence of a quorum. A quorum appeared and Mr. Mason presented the conference report on the postoffice appropriation bill, which was agreed to.

A house bill was passed granting the right of way to the Kenova and Big Sandy Railroad company through the government's lands at locks 2 and 3, Big Sandy river, Wayne county, West Virginia.

A house bill providing for a delegate to the house of representatives from Porto Rico in lieu of a commissioner was laid before the senate. A sub was offered by Mr. Foraker providing for the appointment by the president of three commissions, whose duty shall be to make careful investigation into titles and claims of the Holy Roman Catholic church in Porto Rico and the United States to certain property there, to make findings and conclusions and to report to the president.

The substitute also provides that Porto Ricans may be naturalized. Mr. Foraker explained that at present Porto Ricans were worse off than aliens.

On objection of Mr. Tillman the bill went over until today.

In the House.

From 11 o'clock yesterday until late last night the house struggled laboriously against the Democratic filibuster, working steadily to wind up the necessary business of the session. Despite another special rule adopted early in the day legislation proceeded at a snail's pace. Roll-call followed roll-call on every proposition. The voices of the reading clerks were worn out by the ceaseless calling of the roll and several clerks from committees have been drafted to help out. Since Thursday last, when the filibuster was inaugurated, there have been over 60 roll-calls, as against 57 for the entire long session lasting from December, 1891, to July 3, 1902. The members also show the effects of the heavy strain, but they are sticking to their posts. Last night the great hall presented a disheveled appearance. The floor was strewn with bits of paper, looking as if a snow storm had swept through the hall. In the galleries among the spectators were many weary watchers interested in bills doomed to failure, but still hoping on to the end. The proceedings were enlivened several times as the leaders of the respective sides crossed swords. Their tempers had not been sweetened by their long vigil and frequently the sparks flew.

The conference report on the Alaskan homestead bill and the immigration bill were adopted, the omnibus public building bill and the general deficiency appropriation bill were sent to conference. The Otgen bill to prohibit tobacco dealers from giving prizes, the bill to provide for a delegate from Porto Rico, a bill to advance Major W. C. Gorgas to the rank of assistant surgeon general and a bill for the relief of Lieutenant B. F. Handforth were passed. That was the net result of the session up to 9 o'clock last night.

Don't fool with a cold, no one can tell what the end may be. Pneumonia, atarrh, chronic bronchitis and consumption invariably result from neglected colds. Nothing can be compared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as a quick cure for colds and influenza, and by its use these diseases may be avoided. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

A Story of the Flood

There was a cloud burst and the grocery store basement was partly flooded.

The grocerman sent the boy down to see if any damage had been done to the stock stored there.

15 minutes passed and the boy failed to return; 30 minutes and still no boy. Then the grocerman investigated.

He found the boy there all right, seated well above high water mark; a package of Uneeda Biscuit in his hand; his mouth full of the contents.

"What in the name of common sense have you been doing down here all this time?" inquired the grocerman.

The boy looked up with a good natured grin; gulped once or twice; finally gained control of his speech and replied:

"Gee! I ain't found a spoiled package of Uneeda Biscuit yet. I've opened and tried all of this big pile here, and this is the last package. They're just as good and fresh as ever!"

MORAL.—A hungry boy will "spoil" more good, fresh Uneeda Biscuit than a cloud burst.

Protected from dampness and dirt by the In-er-seal Package.

Fishermen in Peril.

Menominee, Mich., March 3.—About 20 fishermen are in peril on a large body of floating ice that suddenly broke loose Sunday afternoon between Bailey's harbor and Chambers island. A strong west wind has been carrying the ice floe out toward Lake Michigan, and it is feared that unless the men are quickly rescued it will be broken up by the waves at Death's Door, the entrance to Lake Michigan. Three men managed to get off the ice floe at Fish creek and three were rescued farther down the bay. It is reported that several more were rescued last night, just as the ice was bearing down on Death's Door. Captain Hill, of the Hill steamboat line, with a picked crew, has gone to the rescue.

Impressive Funeral of W. J. Hoyt, Late of the Eighth O. V. I.

The funeral of W. J. Hoyt was held at 3:30 this afternoon. The funeral was largely attended. Veterans of the Spanish-American war, of which Mr. Hoyt had been a member, brother members of the Tribe of Ben Hur and a large number of friends and relatives of the family were also present.

The remains were brought to the Erie street M. E. church, where Rev. G. W. Orentt preached an eloquent funeral ceremony. A number of floral tributes were presented by friends of Mr. Hoyt, a handsome one, from former associates of the street force and fire station, in the shape of a maltese cross, as well as a beautiful emblem from Pan American Court, Tribe of Ben Hur.

The interment took place at River-view cemetery, Pan American Court, Tribe of Ben Hur, conducting the exercises at the grave.

Ben Hur Tribe Prospers.

The Tribe of Ben Hur held an excellent meeting last night, a large number of visitors being in attendance. Six new members joined the body. Word was received from the band instruments, which have been delayed for over a week, to the effect that three of the instruments at the factory were found to be defective and that it would be necessary to replace them, which will take only a short time, when the whole order will be shipped.

Victim of Peculiar Accident.

Daisy, aged 7 years, daughter of H. F. Thomas, of Oakland, had one of her fingers badly lacerated. The girl, while playing, caught her finger, which had a common ring on it, while hurrying through a doorway. The finger swelled quickly and Dr. Henderson was called, who took the girl to a jeweler, who, after some difficulty, succeeded in sawing the ring through. The finger was dressed and will heal.

Will Perpetuate His Name.

A number of the members of Hoyt Court, 1101, of the Orient, are unaware of the fact that the court had been named in honor of W. J. Hoyt, whose funeral was held today. This will in a great measure perpetuate the name of the departed brother, who was esteemed by all who knew him.

"BETTER HEALTH" NOW THE CRY

Druggist Will Reed Advises the Thin And Sick to Use Mio-na And Be Plump And Well.

Judging from the advertising columns of leading magazines and news papers there is a wave of physical culture and health food habit sweeping the country. Better health is the cry of the times.

Look into the faces of the men and women we meet in the streets of East Liverpool and see how large a proportion are thin, have drawn lines of care, and are wrinkled and haggard before their time. What these people need, says Druggist Will Reed, is Mio-na, a flesh-forming food and restorer of health and strength to the digestive organs.

If you feel unhappy and cast down, if your food fails to digest, if your skin is sallow, if you are losing flesh, if your eyes lack brightness, if you feel dull and weak, be sensible and use Mio-na. It will aid the food to digest, it will strengthen the digestive organs, it will build up the vitality, it will restore good, firm, healthy flesh, filling in the outlines and restoring pleasing plumpness and symmetry.

Mio-na has been so uniformly successful in curing all diseases caused by weakness of the digestive organs that Druggist Will Reed is selling it under the positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. A guarantee like this speaks volumes for the merit of Mio-na. No one can afford to suffer longer, or to be thin and weak, now that there is a chance like this to obtain a reliable remedy that costs nothing unless it restores health and strength.

BILLS SENT TO CONFERENCE.

House Has Wearisome Time Listening to Roll-Calls—Some Business Transacted, but Democrats Still Maintain Filibustering Tactic.

Washington, March 3.—The senate yesterday passed the general deficiency bill after four hours' consideration and after it had been amended in several particulars. An amendment by Mr. Rawlins calling for an appropriation of $50,000,000 to further the work of irrigating the arid lands furnished material for considerable discussion. Mr. Rawlins contending that the surplus in the treasury could be better used in this manner than by turning it into the national banks. The amendment was rejected on a point of order.

When the Aldrich financial bill was taken up Mr. Teller continued his remarks begun Saturday. He was followed by Mr. Carmack, who replied to some criticisms of a recent speech by him on the subject of murders in the Philippines. During the course of the day the conference report on fortifications appropriation bill and the Alaskan homestead bill were agreed to. The immigration and omnibus public building bills were sent to conference.

After a brief executive session the senate at 6 o'clock took a recess until 8 o'clock.

Immediately on convening at 8 o'clock Mr. Dubois moved an adjournment. The motion was lost. After a private bill had been passed Mr. Dubois suggested the absence of a quorum. A quorum appeared and Mr. Mason presented the conference report on the postoffice appropriation bill, which was agreed to.

A house bill was passed granting the right of way to the Kenova and Big Sandy Railroad company through the government's lands at locks 2 and 3, Big Sandy river, Wayne county, West Virginia.

A house bill providing for a delegate to the house of representatives from Porto Rico in lieu of a commissioner was laid before the senate. A sub was offered by Mr. Foraker providing for the appointment by the president of three commissions, whose duty shall be to make careful investigation into titles and claims of the Holy Roman Catholic church in Porto Rico and the United States to certain property there, to make findings and conclusions and to report to the president.

The substitute also provides that Porto Ricans may be naturalized. Mr. Foraker explained that at present Porto Ricans were worse off than aliens.

On objection of Mr. Tillman the bill went over until today.

In the House.

From 11 o'clock yesterday until late last night the house struggled laboriously against the Democratic filibuster, working steadily to wind up the necessary business of the session. Despite another special rule adopted early in the day legislation proceeded at a snail's pace. Roll-call followed roll-call on every proposition. Fortifications Appropriation and Alaskan Homestead Measure Sanctioned.

BILLS SENT TO CONFERENCE.

House Has Wearisome Time Listening to Roll-Calls—Some Business Transacted, but Democrats Still Maintain Filibustering Tactic.

Washington, March 3.—The senate yesterday passed the general deficiency bill after four hours' consideration and after it had been amended in several particulars. An amendment by Mr. Rawlins calling for an appropriation of $50,000,000 to further the work of irrigating the arid lands furnished material for considerable discussion. Mr. Rawlins contending that the surplus in the treasury could be better used in this manner than by turning it into the national banks. The amendment was rejected on a point of order.

When the Aldrich financial bill was taken up Mr. Teller continued his remarks begun Saturday. He was followed by Mr. Carmack, who replied to some criticisms of a recent speech by him on the subject of murders in the Philippines. During the course of the day the conference report on fortifications appropriation bill and the Alaskan homestead bill were agreed to. The immigration and omnibus public building bills were sent to conference.

After a brief executive session the senate at 6 o'clock took a recess until 8 o'clock.

Immediately on convening at 8 o'clock Mr. Dubois moved an adjournment. The motion was lost. After a private bill had been passed Mr. Dubois suggested the absence of a quorum. A quorum appeared and Mr. Mason presented the conference report on the postoffice appropriation bill, which was agreed to.

A house bill was passed granting the right of way to the Kenova and Big Sandy Railroad company through the government's lands at locks 2 and 3, Big Sandy river, Wayne county, West Virginia.

A house bill providing for a delegate to the house of representatives from Porto Rico in lieu of a commissioner was laid before the senate. A sub was offered by Mr. Foraker providing for the appointment by the president of three commissioners, whose duty shall be to make careful investigation into titles and claims of the Holy Roman Catholic church in Porto Rico and the United States to certain property there, to make findings and conclusions and to report to the president.

The substitute also provides that Porto Ricans may be naturalized. Mr. Foraker explained that at present Porto Ricans were worse off than aliens.

On objection of Mr. Tillman the bill went over until today.

In the House.

From 11 o'clock yesterday until late last night the house struggled laboriously against the Democratic filibuster, working steadily to wind up the necessary business of the session. Despite another special rule adopted early in the day legislation proceeded at a snail's pace. Roll-call followed roll-call on every proposition. The voices of the reading clerks were worn out by the ceaseless calling of the roll and several clerks from committees have been drafted to help out. Since Thursday last, when the filibuster was inaugurated, there have been over 60 roll-calls, as against 57 for the entire long session lasting from December, 1891, to July 3, 1902. The members also show the effects of the heavy strain, but they are sticking to their posts. Last night the great hall presented a disheveled appearance. The floor was strewn with bits of paper, looking as if a snow storm had swept through the hall. In the galleries among the spectators were many weary watchers interested in bills doomed to failure, but still hoping on to the end. The proceedings were enlivened several times as the leaders of the respective sides crossed swords. Their tempers had not been sweetened by their long vigil and frequently the sparks flew.

The conference report on the Alaskan homestead bill and the immigration bill were adopted, the omnibus public building bill and the general deficiency appropriation bill were sent to conference. The Otgen bill to prohibit tobacco dealers from giving prizes, the bill to provide for a delegate from Porto Rico, a bill to advance Major W. C. Gorgas to the rank of assistant surgeon general and a bill for the relief of Lieutenant B. F. Handforth were passed. That was the net result of the session up to 9 o'clock last night.

Don't fool with a cold, no one can tell what the end may be. Pneumonia, atarrh, chronic bronchitis and consumption invariably result from neglected colds. Nothing can be compared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as a quick cure for colds and influenza, and by its use these diseases may be avoided. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

The Food That Does Good

Here is a food for invalids and for those with weak life functions, which, by its action on the blood, will help your body to throw off disease. For over a decade

OZOMULSION

(a scientifically medicated emulsion of pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites and Guaiacon) has been prescribed by the physicians of Greater New York and all other large cities in their daily practice.

They have used it with marked success in all cases of Weak Lungs, Colds, Coughs, Catarrh, Consumption and Throat Troubles; for Scrofula, Eczema, Pimples, Boils, Abscesses, and all skin affections. In fact, for all disorders caused by Mal Nutrition or the weaknesses of a body that is improperly or poorly fed.

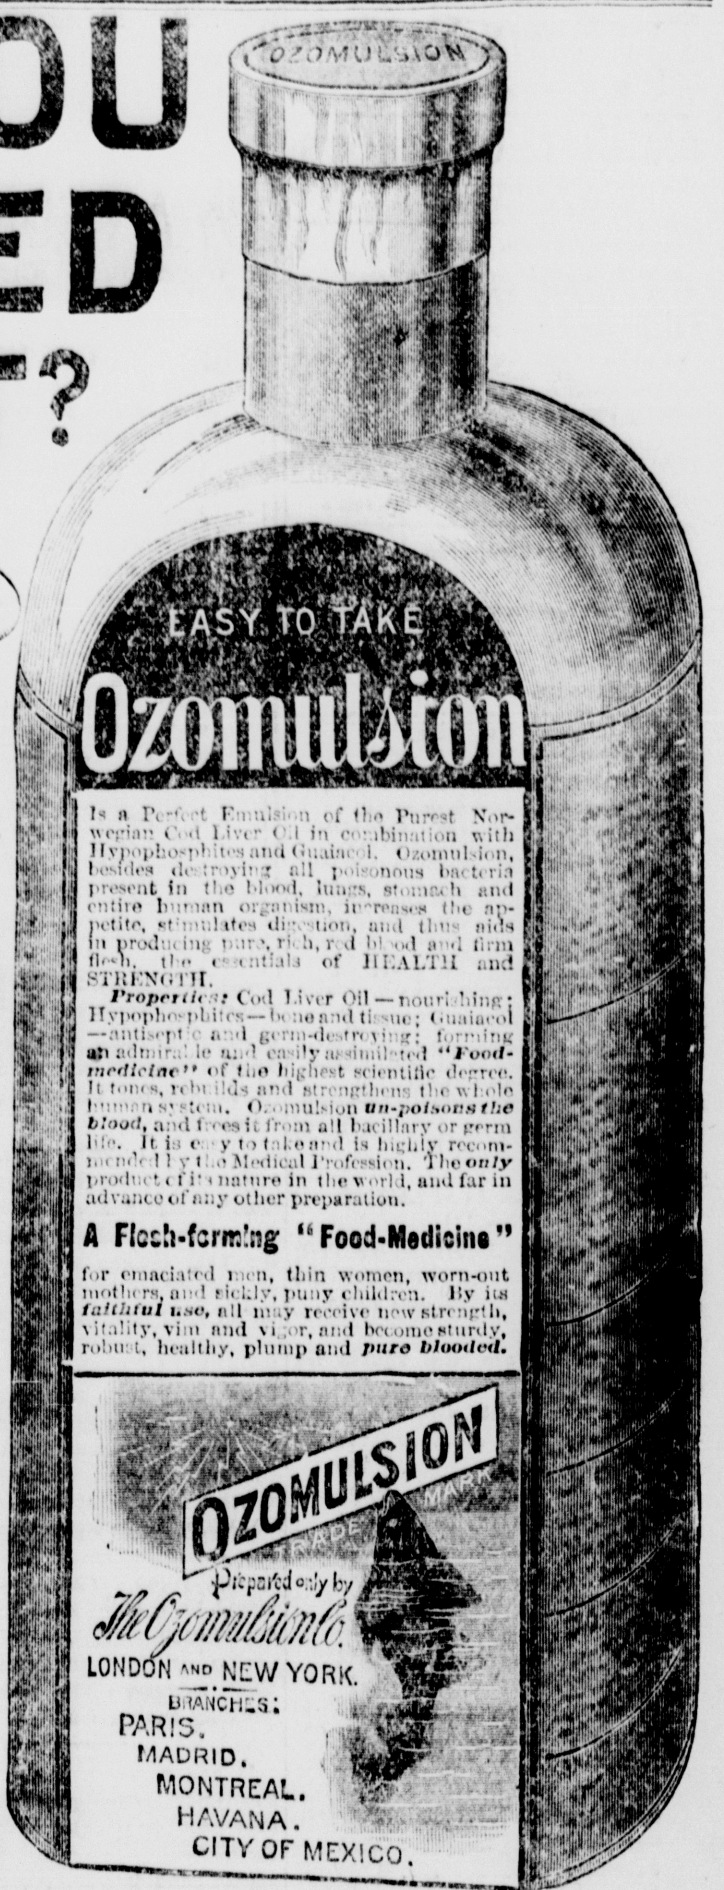

As a result, Ozomulsion has to-day a larger sale than any other emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, and is carried in stock by every druggist in the United States.

But still it may be that you have never tried it. So we have decided to make it possible for all to give it a test. We will therefore send to any address on request, so that invalids in every walk of life can test it for themselves and see what Ozomulsion will do for them. Send us your name and complete address, and the large sample free bottle will at once be sent to you by mail. Address—

A Story of the Flood

There was a cloud burst and the grocery store basement was partly flooded.

The grocerman sent the boy down to see if any damage had been done to the stock stored there.

15 minutes passed and the boy failed to return; 30 minutes and still no boy. Then the grocerman investigated.

He found the boy there all right, seated well above high water mark; a package of Uneeda Biscuit in his hand; his mouth full of the contents.

"What in the name of common sense have you been doing down here all this time?" inquired the grocerman.

The boy looked up with a good natured grin; gulped once or twice; finally gained control of his speech and replied:

"Geel I ain't found a spoiled package of Uneeda Biscuit yet. I've opened and tried all of this big pile here, and this is the last package. They're just as good and fresh as ever!"

MORAL.—A hungry boy will "spoil" more good, fresh Uneeda Biscuit than a cloud burst.

Protected from dampness and dirt by the In-er-seal Package.

Fishermen in Peril.

Menominee, Mich., March 3.—About 20 fishermen are in peril on a large body of floating ice that suddenly broke loose Sunday afternoon between Bailey's harbor and Chambers island. A strong west wind has been carrying the ice floe out toward Lake Michigan, and it is feared that unless the men are quickly rescued it will be broken up by the waves at Death's Door, the entrance to Lake Michigan. Three men managed to get off the ice floe at Fish creek and three were rescued farther down the bay. It is reported that several more were rescued last night, just as the ice was bearing down on Death's Door. Captain Hill, of the Hill steamboat line, with a picked crew, has gone to the rescue.

TUESDAY, MARCH 3, 1903.

A word to advertisers. Attention is called to the Evening News Review's circulation statement for February, published today. We desire to remind our friends and patrons that the News Review is the only paper in East Liverpool that publishes a sworn statement of circulation. Further, aside from the vaguest and most indefinite sort of claims, it is the only paper that publishes any circulation statement at all. We give figures in detail. The News Review has made a practice of keeping the public informed of its growth, believing that business men who pay for advertising in its columns are entitled to that information, having the right to demand and know what they are getting for their money. Our long-standing and undisputed claim of the largest circulation in East Liverpool and Columbiana county is again splendidly borne out by the figures made public today. Business men do not need to ask themselves twice which is the best advertising medium when the evidence is before them that during the month of February an average of more than 3,300 copies of the News Review were printed and circulated daily. Moreover, these figures represent the actual circulation. We publish no copies for gratuitous distribution, none which are sent to distant towns to be given away or sold at half price. Our subscribers are mainly in East Liverpool, Wellsville and Chester, and the paper reaches the people whom local business men desire to reach with their advertisements. Ours is the leading home newspaper, without a rival in its class. That is why its circulation, as well as its advertising patronage, is growing constantly.

Several of the rural newspapers of the county are saying disagreeable things because East Liverpool stands the best chance of capturing a few county offices next fall. Well, why didn't they get in the game, if they had favorite sons to boost? It is a little late to protest after the Republican entry lists are closed. Besides, there is no occasion for worry. Capable and competent Republicans will continue to fill the county offices, as usual. East Liverpool has more wealth, population and interests than any other section of the county and though some of her country friends would be glad to shut her out of the office-holding class, they have no occasion or right to grumble because they recognize the impossibility of working such a manifest injustice.

It has come to our attention that the report is being circulated in certain sections of the county that the News Review is against the East Liverpool candidate for prosecuting attorney. The News Review takes this occasion to repudiate the assertion as a baseless fabrication, and to challenge any person to point to anything said or done by this paper to give color to such a slur. We are absolutely neutral in this fight, knowing that only good men are in the race, and are perfectly satisfied to give our earnest support to the man whom the Republicans, at the county primaries, shall select as their candidate.

Galusha A. Grow, of Pennsylvania, who first entered the house of representatives as a member 51 years ago, retires from that body tomorrow. He has had an experience that would make a volume of reminiscences from his pen well worth reading. His public career has been both brilliant and honorable.

The sardine has deserted the coast of Breton and France has lost an industry. Eastport, Me., will be busier than ever canning "genuine French sardines."

It must be humiliating for the dignified United States senators to be kept in after school because they have not attended to their tasks in study hours.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Oliver Cope.

Mrs. Oliver Cope died Sunday morning at her home near Riverview cemetery after an illness lasting many weeks. Mrs. Cope has lived in this city and St. Clair township for many months and had an extensive circle of friends and acquaintances. She leaves a husband and four children, two sons and two daughters, as follows: Mrs. Seth Rauch, of Chester; Miss Laura, Irwin and Taron, who reside at home. The funeral services were held from the house at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Interment at Riverview cemetery.

Jason Morgan.

Lisbon, March 2.—(Special)—The remains of Jason Morgan, whose death occurred Sunday at his home in Ravenna, was brought here at noon today for burial. Mr. Morgan was born in Wayne township, November 4, 1828. He went to Ravenna about twenty years ago, after having lived in Lisbon many years. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. Carl Mublenbrock and Mrs. Frank Peck, both of Minneapolis; James and Elmer, of Ravenna; Emmet and Ira, of Leetonia; Harvey, of Cleveland, and Miss Jeanette, of Lisbon. The remains were taken from the station direct to the cemetery, where the casket was opened and a large number of friends and acquaintances viewed the remains.

William Massey.

William Massey, aged 53 years, died at 9:30 this morning at his home on Jethro street after an illness covering a period of nearly two years. The arrangements for the funeral had not been made this afternoon, but it is probable that it will be held at the residence Thursday afternoon. He was one of the best known residents of the city and was employed for a number of years in the local potteries as a cover-dish maker. His last place of employment was at the Wallace & Chetwynd plant. About two years ago he began to suffer with an affection of the throat, which grew steadily worse until it caused his death. During the last year he had been unable to work. A wife and four sons, Fletcher, Joseph, Ambrose and Aaron, survive him.

Mrs. Rhoda Bevington.

Beaver, Pa., March 3.—Mrs. Rhoda Bevington, wife of the late Capt. Bevington, who was a well known riverman, is dead, aged 79 years, from apoplexy. She was twice married, her first husband being W. M. Teters, by whom she had four children, now living: Mrs. John F. Lowler, of East Liverpool, Mrs. Allen Murphy, of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Edna Campbell, of Ohio, and William Teters. She leaves two sisters, who reside at Alliance.

Howard Massey.

Howard, the 1-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Massey, of Fairview street, died this morning after a brief illness from pneumonia. He was a grandson of William Massey, who died this morning. The funeral arrangements have not been made, but it is probable that it will be held at the home on Jethro street in conjunction with that of the grandfather.

FRIENDS AND VISITORS

Henry Herman, of West Market street, is seriously ill with grip.

Mrs. H. M. Foutts, of College street, is improving from her recent illness.

Mrs. Margaret Allison, of Trentville street, is visiting relatives at Salineville.

Mrs. Loren Ware, of Salineville, is the guest of A. E. Bertele and family, Sixth street.

Mrs. Harry Weaver, of Harvey avenue, East End, who has been critically ill, is reported much better today.

Rev. Milton B. Pratt, D. D., who is visiting his aged father at Portland, Maine, is expected home tomorrow evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Arbuckle are enjoying an extended sojourn in Florida and will probably remain there several months before returning home.

Cyrus Bailey has returned to his home in this city after successfully undergoing an operation at the West Penn hospital, Allegheny. He is now greatly improved.

Lizzie, the 8-year-old daughter of Mrs. William Earp, who sustained a peculiar injury recently by the setting of a ring dropping into her ear, has recovered. The hearing of the ear is destroyed.

The Wade Jewelry Co. have removed to 164 Fifth street, where they are fitting up a commodious store room and optical parlors. 31-1f

BUSINESS IS BRISK AT THE WHARFBOAT

Everybody Anxious to Ship Goods. A Large Shipment of Ware.

The high water of the past few days has been accompanied by a great rush of business at the wharf boat. The force of men employed has been increased from one to three men. This is aside from Wharfmaster Martindill, who has been busy day and night for several days. Saturday night the largest shipment ever sent out on any boat from East Liverpool was taken by the Virginia. This shipment consisted of 118 large casks of ware. It required several hours for the Virginia to unload its cargo and take on this large shipment, which was sent down the river by the local potteries. It also seems that shipments of all kinds are larger than ever before. This speaks well for the local industries when it has been supposed that many of the plants were running with a reduced force. More eggs were handled at the wharf boat the past week than in any other equal length of time for several years.

The rush does not seem to abate any and despite the fact that it is next to impossible to get teams down near the wharf boat during the high stage of water, freight piles up high between boats. Wharfmaster Martindill is an extremely busy man and he expects that the present rush of business will continue for several days and perhaps weeks.

THE EQUITABLE STATEMENT.

Splendid Showing of the Strongest of All Life Assurance Companies.

The annual statement of the Equitable Life Assurance society shows a remarkable growth during the past year, and indicates continued prosperity in the future. Over $281,000,000 worth of new assurance was issued during 1902, bringing the total amount of outstanding assurance up to the tremendous sum of $1,292,446,000. More than $29,000,000 was paid out to policyholders during the year, and over $1,000,000 was added to the surplus fund, making the present surplus $75,127,496—larger by many millions than the surplus of any other insurance company in the world.

Edward A. Woods, manager of the Western Pennsylvania agency, expects to do even a larger business this year than last, and will be able to give profitable employment to a number of active, energetic young men in this and other localities throughout the western part of the state. Men who would like to take up work with this company should get in communication with Mr. Woods at once.

OHIO'S SCATTERED SONS

More Than a Million And a Quarter of Them Living in Other States.

There are more than a million and a quarter natives of Ohio living in other states. No other state has such a record.

New York and Pennsylvania have a much larger population than Ohio, but neither state contributes so much to the population of other states as Ohio. Nearly 200,000 of Ohio natives live in Indiana, 140,000 in Illinois and 90,000 in Michigan.

Kansas has 90,000, Iowa 90,000, Missouri 80,000, Pennsylvania 60,000, New York 30,000, Colorado 25,000, California 35,000 and Washington 20,000.

There are 10,000 Ohio natives living in Texas, 5,500 in Massachusetts, 7,000 in Montana, 15,000 in Oklahoma, 700 in Alaska and 4,300 in Washington, the national capital. Ohio men are distributed throughout the country so generally that there is no state in which they are not to be found in considerable numbers, and usually taking an important part in its public and business affairs.

Ohio is not so populous a state as Illinois, but at the time of the last federal enumeration it had a larger number of persons in the military and naval service of the United States than its more populous neighbor. It has more of its natives in Hawaii than Pennsylvania, and is practically the only western state which has contributed much to the population of New England. Ohio men are to be found everywhere in the United States whether near or far from home.—New York Sun.

From this time on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will be in my house constantly." This remedy is for sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

TEN PIECES OF SHEET MUSIC FOR $1.00.

Is This Old Music?

NO!

10 pieces of copyright music, latest popular pieces of the day, for $1.00.

NO!

The reason, in order to keep up to date we have standing orders with the leading publishers for from 1 to 10 copies of each new issue. These are sent us soon as they are off the press. In 10 years we have accumulated more music than our limited space will allow, our shelves are running over. We must make more room or reduce our stock. We decide to sell 10 pieces for $1.00, or sent prepaid to any address for $1.10.

This music we have in stock and will not include the last copy of any one piece. Our clerks will not be allowed to play over music in this offer. We will, however, allow you to select three pieces that we have in stock, we will give you seven more either instrumental or vocal of our own selection, copyright music. Ordinarily these 10 pieces would cost you at least $2.50.

While this offer is not something for nothing it is very close to it. Offer for 30 days only.

Columbiana County, State of Ohio, ss. I, Louis H. Brush, publisher of the Evening News Review, swear that the above statement is true.

LOUIS H. BRUSH.

Sworn to and subscribed to in my presence this 3d day of March, 1903.

J. S. HILBERT.

TUESDAY, MARCH 3, 1903.

A word to advertisers. Attention is called to the Evening News Review's circulation statement for February, published today. We desire to remind our friends and patrons that the News Review is the only paper in East Liverpool that publishes a sworn statement of circulation. Further, aside from the vaguest and most indefinite sort of claims, it is the only paper that publishes any circulation statement at all. We give figures in detail. The News Review has made a practice of keeping the public informed of its growth, believing that business men who pay for advertising in its columns are entitled to that information, having the right to demand and know what they are getting for their money. Our long-standing and undisputed claim of the largest circulation in East Liverpool and Columbiana county is again splendidly borne out by the figures made public today. Business men do not need to ask themselves twice which is the best advertising medium when the evidence is before them that during the month of February an average of more than 3,300 copies of the News Review were printed and circulated daily. Moreover, these figures represent the actual circulation. We publish no copies for gratuitous distribution, none which are sent to distant towns to be given away or sold at half price. Our subscribers are mainly in East Liverpool, Wellsville and Chester, and the paper reaches the people whom local business men desire to reach with their advertisements. Ours is the leading home-newspaper, without a rival in its class. That is why its circulation, as well as its advertising patronage, is growing constantly.

Several of the rural newspapers of the county are saying disagreeable things because East Liverpool stands the best chance of capturing a few county offices next fall. Well, why didn't they get in the game, if they had favorite sons to boost? It is a little late to protest after the Republican entry lists are closed. Besides, there is no occasion for worry. Capable and competent Republicans will continue to fill the county offices, as usual. East Liverpool has more wealth, population and interests than any other section of the county and though some of her country friends would be glad to shut her out of the office-holding class, they have no occasion or right to grumble because they recognize the impossibility of working such a manifest injustice.

It has come to our attention that the report is being circulated in certain sections of the county that the News Review is against the East Liverpool candidate for prosecuting attorney. The News Review takes this occasion to repudiate the assertion as a baseless fabrication, and to challenge any person to point to anything said or done by this paper to give color to such a slur. We are absolutely neutral in this fight, knowing that only good men are in the race, and are perfectly satisfied to give our earnest support to the man whom the Republicans, at the county primaries, shall select as their candidate.

Galusha A. Grow, of Pennsylvania, who first entered the house of representatives as a member 51 years ago, retires from that body tomorrow. He has had an experience that would make a volume of reminiscences from his pen well worth reading. His public career has been both brilliant and honorable.

Carrie Nation is in jail again, this time in California. The world has ceased to take an interest in her erratic doings or to believe that by breaking the law she is helping the cause of temperance.

After trying for many years Delaware has at last elected a United States senator. The same result could have been accomplished in one day had the choice been left to a popular vote.

The sardine has deserted the coast of Breton and France has lost an industry. Eastport, Me., will be busier than ever canning "genuine French sardines."

It must be humiliating for the dignified United States senators to be kept in after school because they have not attended to their tasks in study hours.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Oliver Cope.

Mrs. Oliver Cope died Sunday morning at her home near Riverview cemetery after an illness lasting many weeks. Mrs. Cope has lived in this city and St. Clair township for many months and had an extensive circle of friends and acquaintances. She leaves a husband and four children, two sons and two daughters, as follows: Mrs. Seth Rauch, of Chester; Miss Laura, Irwin and Tarun, who reside at home. The funeral services were held from the house at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Interment at Riverview cemetery.

Jason Morgan.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special)—The remains of Jason Morgan, whose death occurred Sunday at his home in Ravenna, was brought here at noon today for burial. Mr. Morgan was born in Wayne township, November 4, 1828. He went to Ravenna about twenty years ago, after having lived in Lisbon many years. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. Carl Mullenbrock and Mrs. Frank Peek, both of Minneapolis; James and Elmer, of Ravenna; Emmet and Ira, of Leetonia; Harvey, of Cleveland, and Miss Jeanette, of Lisbon. The remains were taken from the station direct to the cemetery, where the casket was opened and a large number of friends and acquaintances viewed the remains.

William Massey.

William Massey, aged 53 years, died at 9:30 this morning at his home on Jethro street after an illness covering a period of nearly two years. The arrangements for the funeral had not been made this afternoon, but it is probable that it will be held at the residence Thursday afternoon. He was one of the best known residents of the city and was employed for a number of years in the local potteries as a cover-dish maker. His last place of employment was at the Wallace & Chetwynd plant. About two years ago he began to suffer with an affection of the throat, which grew steadily worse until it caused his death. During the last year he had been unable to work. A wife and four sons, Fletcher, Joseph, Ambrose and Aaron, survive him.

Mrs. Rhoda Bevington.

Beaver, Pa., March 3.—Mrs. Rhoda Bevington, wife of the late Capt. Bevington, who was a well known riverman, is dead, aged 79 years, from apoplexy. She was twice married, her first husband being W. M. Teters, by whom she had four children, now living: Mrs. John F. Lowler, of East Liverpool, Mrs. Allen Murphy, of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Edna Campbell, of Ohio, and William Teters. She leaves two sisters, who reside at Alliance.

Howard Massey.

Howard, the 1-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Massey, of Fairview street, died this morning after a brief illness from pneumonia. He was a grandson of William Massey, who died this morning. The funeral arrangements have not been made, but it is probable that it will be held at the home on Jethro street in conjunction with that of the grandfather.

FRIENDS AND VISITORS

Henry Herman, of West Market street, is seriously ill with grip.

Mrs. H. M. Fouts, of College street, is improving from her recent illness.

Mrs. Margaret Allison, of Trentvale street, is visiting relatives at Salineville.

Mrs. Loren Ware, of Salineville, is the guest of A. E. Bertele and family, Sixth street.

Mrs. Harry Weaver, of Harvey avenue, East End, who has been critically ill, is reported much better today.

Rev. Milton B. Pratt, D. D., who is visiting his aged father at Portland, Maine, is expected home tomorrow evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Arbuckle are enjoying an extended sojourn in Florida and will probably remain there several months before returning home.

Cyrus Bailey has returned to his home in this city after successfully undergoing an operation at the West Penn hospital, Allegheny. He is now greatly improved.

Lizzie, the 8-year-old daughter of Mrs. William Earp, who sustained a peculiar injury recently by the setting of a ring dropping into her ear, has recovered. The hearing of the ear is destroyed.

The Wade Jewelry Co. have removed to 164 Fifth street, where they are fitting up a commodious store room and optical parlors.

HARD'S.

BUSINESS IS BRISK AT THE WHARFBOAT

Everybody Anxious to Ship Goods. A Large Shipment of Ware.

The high water of the past few days has been accompanied by a great rush of business at the wharf boat. The force of men employed has been increased from one to three men. This is aside from Wharfmaster Martin, who has been busy day and night for several days. Saturday night the largest shipment ever sent out on any boat from East Liverpool was taken by the Virginia. This shipment consisted of 118 large casks of ware. It required several hours for the Virginia to unload its cargo and take on this large shipment, which was sent down the river by the local potteries. It also seems that shipments of all kinds are larger than ever before. This speaks well for the local industries when it has been supposed that many of the plants were running with a reduced force. More eggs were handled at the wharf boat the past week than in any other equal length of time for several years.

The rush does not seem to abate any and despite the fact that it is next to impossible to get teams down near the wharf boat during the high stage of water, freight piles up high between boats. Wharfmaster Martin is an extremely busy man and he expects that the present rush of business will continue for several days and perhaps weeks.

THE EQUITABLE STATEMENT.

Splendid Showing of the Strongest of All Life Assurance Companies.

The annual statement of the Equitable Life Assurance society shows a remarkable growth during the past year, and indicates continued prosperity in the future. Over $281,000,000 worth of new assurance was issued during 1902, bringing the total amount of outstanding assurance up to the tremendous sum of $1,292,448,000. More than $29,000,000 was paid out to policyholders during the year, and over $1,000,000 was added to the surplus fund, making the present surplus $75,127,496—larger by many millions than the surplus of any other insurance company in the world.

Edward A. Woods, manager of the Western Pennsylvania agency, expects to do even a larger business this year than last, and will be able to give profitable employment to a number of active, energetic young men in this and other localities throughout the western part of the state. Men who would like to take up work with this company should get in communication with Mr. Woods at once.

OHIO'S SCATTERED SONS

More Than a Million And a Quarter of Them Living in Other States.

There are more than a million and a quarter natives of Ohio living in other states. No other state has such a record.

New York and Pennsylvania have a much larger population than Ohio, but neither state contributes so much to the population of other states as Ohio. Nearly 200,000 of Ohio natives live in Indiana, 140,000 in Illinois and 90,000 in Michigan.

Kansas has 90,000, Iowa 90,000, Missouri 80,000, Pennsylvania 60,000, New York 30,000, Colorado 25,000, California 35,000 and Washington 20,000.

There are 10,000 Ohio natives living in Texas, 5,500 in Massachusetts, 7,000 in Montana, 15,000 in Oklahoma, 700 in Alaska and 4,300 in Washington, the national capital. Ohio men are distributed throughout the country so generally that there is no state in which they are not to be found in considerable numbers, and usually taking an important part in its public and business affairs.

Ohio is not so populous a state as Illinois, but at the time of the last federal enumeration it had a larger number of persons in the military and naval service of the United States than its more populous neighbor. It has more of its natives in Hawaii than Pennsylvania, and is practically the only western state which has contributed much to the population of New England. Ohio men are to be found everywhere in the United States whether near or far from home.—New York Sun.

A Prisoner in Her House.

Mrs. W. H. Layha, of 1001 Agnes avenue, Kansas City, Mo., has for several years been troubled with severe hoarseness and at times a hard cough, which she says, "Would keep me in doors for days. I was prescribed for by physicians with no noticeable results. A friend gave me a part of a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with instructions to closely follow the directions and I wish to state that after the first day I could notice a decided change for the better, and at this time after using it for two weeks, have no hesitation in saying I realize that I am entirely cured. From this time on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will be in my house constantly." This remedy is for sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

TEN PIECES OF SHEET MUSIC FOR $1.00.

Is This Old Music?

NO!

10 pieces of copyright music, latest popular pieces of the day, for $1.00.

NO!

The reason, in order to keep up to date we have standing orders with the leading publishers for from 1 to 10 copies of each new issue. These are sent us soon as they are off the press. In 10 years we have accumulated more music than our limited space will allow, our shelves are running over. We must make more room or reduce our stock. We decide to sell 10 pieces for $1.00, or sent prepaid to any address for $1.10.

This music we have in stock and will not include the last copy of any one piece. Our clerks will not be allowed to play over music in this offer. We will, however, allow you to select three pieces that we have in stock, we will give you seven more either instrumental or vocal of our own selection, copyright music. Ordinarily these 10 pieces would cost you at least $2.50.

While this offer is not something for nothing it is very close to it. Offer for 30 days only.

WELLSVILLE

WATER SLOWLY FALLING

Many Persons Still in Wellsville Kept from Their Homes By the Flood.

The river has fallen sufficiently now so as to allow many people who were forced to vacate their homes when it was at its highest, to move into them once more, but most of those residing on Second and the upper end of Coal streets are still kept away from home by the water.

The Freedom Oil company, whose store room is on Second street, is having some difficult work to get at its stock, as the building is completely surrounded by water and the only way one can approach the place is with a skiff.

The high water has caused a great deal of distress among the Italians living on Third street. The lot being very low, the water backed in there from Second street, causing them to vacate the entire lower floor. The house is not a very large one and being deprived of the first floor it necessitates them living in extremely close quarters.

Train No. 331, which leaves this city at 6:30 a. m., left on time yesterday. The train went as far as George's Run, a short distance below Mingo Junction, where it was stalled on account of high water, the tracks being three feet beneath the surface of the river. After waiting there for several hours, with no visible relief from the situation, the crew finally decided to return to this city, which they did, the passengers resuming their journey on the afternoon train, the water having receded enough at that time to allow trains to pass.

COUNCIL MEETING TONIGHT

Warm Debate Probable Over Question of Proposed Water Works Appropriation.

The regular meeting of the city council will be held at the city hall this evening, at which time many warm discussions are looked for. The water works board has asked council to appropriate sufficient funds to purchase the very latest and best water works equipment on the market. Supt. Ewing and Trustees Gerren, Donnelly and Stewart have visited at Pittsburgh, Steubenville, and Andover, Mass., where they inspected the machinery of the different water works plants and found it satisfactory in every way. They wish to establish a modern apparatus here, but the one obstacle is they have not money enough on hand. They will, therefore, request council to make an appropriation.

The extending of the storm sewer at the West End will also be attended to, the bids for which have been received. The contract will be awarded this evening.

Action will also be taken in the "Wooster alley" case which was closed from traffic by the improvement of Clark avenue. Council has several other minor subjects which will be talked on at this meeting.

Miss Mary Porter, of Bridgeport, is the guest of friends in this city.

Miss May Allison, Chester, W. Va., is visiting with friends in this city.

T. W. Gordon, of Beaver, Pa., is spending a few days with relatives in this city.

Mrs. T. F. Butler, of Main street, was called to Columbus to the funeral of a friend.

Miss Lizzie Dickey, who has been visiting friends in Allegheny, returned home yesterday.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, of Nevada street, is critically ill. Its recovery is doubtful.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sanford, of Commerce street, are the happy parents of a new baby girl which arrived on Sunday evening.

Miss Minnie Huff, of Steubenville, who for the past week was a guest of Miss Irene Given, of Center street, returned home last evening.

Clyde F. Sinclair has accepted a position as roddman with the C. & P. railway corps. He was formerly employed with Harry Leith, city engineer.

Mrs. Nancy Jones, of Yellow Creek is the guest of her sister, Mrs. T. L. Apple. Mrs. Jones is having a broken wrist treated by a Wellsville physician.

W. G. Stewart has returned from Holyoke, Mass., where he has been on a business trip for the city, relative to the new pumps which are to be installed here.

Mrs. S. D. Noragon returned to Cleveland last evening after spending several days with her husband, who is employed at the Wellsville shops. They expect to move to this city as soon as a desirable house can be obtained.

An Enjoyable Ball.

The annual ball of local union No. 253, A. F. of M., was held last evening in the city hall. The colored folks generally turn out at a social gathering, and last evening was no exception to the rule, as a large crowd attended. Quite a number came from East Liverpool to join in the festivities. The orchestra, which was also composed of colored people, rendered some very fine selections. The dance did not begin until quite late, as it was late when the orchestra arrived. In spite of this fact, however, all reported a good time.

Lodge Anniversary

Pleasantly Celebrated By the Daughters of St. George—Enjoyable Program Rendered.

The anniversary of the organization of White Rose lodge No. 55, Daughters of St. George, was appropriately observed last night by the members of that organization by a literary program, followed by several hours of social intercourse. The following program was given and was heartily enjoyed by all the members.

Vocal and instrumental solo, Miss Ada Eardley; vocal solo, Miss Bettie Greenwood; piano solo, Miss Liza Fynn; recitation, Mrs. Sarah A. Harley; recitation, Miss Edna Farrall; vocal solo, Miss Anna Harley; recitation, Miss Hannah Purton.

After the program was finished the balance of the evening was spent with various games, which in turn was followed by refreshments. The White Rose lodge now numbers 32 members, and is now enjoying the greatest period of prosperity in its history.

Flood Wrecks Freight.

Gallipolis, O., March 3.—The Ohio river is 48 feet and rising fast. Lowlands are flooded and great damage has been done. A freight train of eight cars went through a trestle on the Kanawha and Michigan railway, the result of high water in the Great Kanawha river.

Confidence Reviving.

Mazatlan, Mex., March 3.—There was but one death from the plague at the lazaretto yesterday and none in the city. There are now 150 persons isolated under observation. Public confidence is somewhat reviving.

Prof. Babcock, the expert optician, can still be found with the Wade Jewelry Co., 164 Fifth street.

CHESTER MILL

READY TO RESUME

WORK WILL START AT THE PLANT TOMORROW.

Several Hundred Men Go On Now and Others Soon—Engine Running Well.

All Chester is delighted with the announcement that the American Tin Plate company will resume operation at its Chester plant tomorrow. Work has been suspended for more than three weeks and in that time rumors of all kinds have been afloat. All are now happily set at rest.

Several of the high officials of the mill have been here for several days watching the work on the engine. Engineers have been at work constantly trying to locate and remedy the defects and at last their efforts have been successful. This morning the final test was made and the great engine worked smoothly and was perfect in every detail.

STORE ROBBED

Money And Valuables Taken from the Place of Business of W. A. Hill.

The racket store conducted by W. A. Hill on Carolina avenue was visited by thieves Saturday night and a considerable amount of merchandise was taken. It was hard to ascertain the exact amount of the loss and every day more articles have been discovered missing. They also took $250 in change. The total loss will probably reach $35.

The robbery was kept quiet for several days, as there is a clue to the perpetrators of the theft, and it is expected that they will be detected in trying to dispose of some of the articles taken. This is the first business house to be visited by robbers in Chester for a long time.

Office Goes Begging.

There does not seem to be much eagerness to fill the position of town assessor. Thursday night was the time set for the closing of the filing of applications. As yet no one seems anxious for the position, which is a very important one, and was recommended by the finance committee at the last council meeting. The office of assessor has been filled the past year by the recorder, and in case no applications are filed, council may appoint Recorder Maxwell to act as assessor.

New Trust Company.

The New Cumberland Title & Trust company was recently organized with a capital stock of $40,000, one-half the stock to be taken by Pittsburg capital and one-half by local capital. About $16,000 of the local amount has been subscribed, leaving only $4,000 to be obtained, which it is thought will be secured in a few days. All of the Pittsburg stock is subscribed. John Shrader and Erastus Marshall are interested $2,000 each.

Trains Again Running.

The accommodation train did not get up this morning on its first trip, but was up at 9:30, as was the local freight. But little inconvenience resulted from the fact of the road being idle, as the mill and both potteries are well supplied with coal and with plenty of empty cars to load for their orders.

CHESTER NOTES.

J. H. Maxwell is on a business trip to Pittsburgh.

Fred Sinclair and family have moved into the E. C. Baxter house on Adolphus street.

Mrs. B. I. Hillyard, of Carolina avenue, is seriously ill with an attack of typhoid fever.

W. O. Griffith, of Virginia avenue, has left for a visit with his parents at Kokomo, Ind.

William Logesden and family, of Carolina avenue, will move with his family to Wheeling.

Miss Mamie Southworth, of Phoenix avenue, has returned from a visit to her parents at East Palestine.

A number of the mill men, during the enforced idleness, have taken jobs in the East End, on the grading of the C. & P. R. R.

A number of the members of Chester Council of Mechanics will attend the entertainment which will be given by the Daughters of Liberty.

Three of the old motormen and conductors, D. P. McBane, James K. Mayes and George Wynn, are back on their respective runs on the Rock Springs car line.

IN PRIZE RING STYLE

A Couple of Scrappers Settled a Dispute And Got Fined for It.

After months of threatening and fighting at long distance, James Monday and "Rags" McKenna came together last evening. They first met in the Diamond and after a debate decided that, to avoid interruption by the police, it would be better to adjourn to the hilltop, and each accompanied by a backer left for Thompson hill. A referee was also taken. Arriving at a selected spot a ring was formed and the two men started the bout. Which one received the worst of the engagement is not known, but from their appearances each got his full share and will call further encounters off.

Officer Morris met the fellows when they came down from the prize ring and placed them under arrest. They were fined $2 and costs each this morning.

Arthur Bidwell and William Sears, arrested in a disorderly house Saturday evening, were released last evening, the father of Bidwell paying both fines.

Electric Railway Company Organized.

Kenton, O., March 3.—The Kenton and Southern Electric Railway company was organized yesterday, with J. S. Herselman, of Springfield, O., president; R. Emory, Columbus, vice president and secretary; C. S. D. Montgomery, Boston, treasurer. A. F. Appleyard, of Boston, is one of the directors. It was voted to issue stock to the amount of $60,000. The company will build electric lines in Kenton and also a line to Bellefontaine.

Charged With Stealing Mail Pouch.

Danville, Ky., March 3.—Postoffice Inspector Gibbons, of Cincinnati, and Chief of Police Holmes, of Danville, have arrested here Edward Nichols, Samuel Prather, William Tucker and Bud Hawkins, on the charge of stealing the mail pouch which was lost here in November. It contained about $75,000, mostly in revenue stamps, checks and drafts, with a small amount of cash.

Murderer Again Escaped.

Tickets at a Premium.

Rome, March 3.—The struggle to obtain tickets for today's ceremony at the Vatican on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the coronation of the pope has been quite unprecedented. It is expected that more than 70,000 persons will be present. The foreigners are especially charged at the difficulty experienced in obtaining tickets from the usual sources and the discount is increased by the fact that good seats are offered for sale at the hotels at high prices. Most of the tickets have gone to the Italian bishops. The rector of the American college had over 500 applications for tickets and he had less than 200 at his disposal.

Morgan to Dine With Palma.

Havana March 3.—J. Pierpont Morgan and his party spent yesterday at Santiago de Las Vegas, province of Havana, visiting plantations and the experimental school. Late in the afternoon Mr. Morgan and the gentlemen of his party called at the palace by appointment and had an interview lasting 40 minutes with President Palma. It was afterwards announced that the visit was purely one of courtesy and that President Palma invited Mr. Morgan to dine at the palace on Wednesday.

Public Reception for Schley.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 3.—Admiral Schley arrived here yesterday. The admiral and his party were driven at once to the hotel, where they will make their headquarters during their stay of a fortnight in Southern California. The chamber of commerce will tender the admiral a public reception, probably this evening. Admiral Schley appeared well and in good spirits, having fully recovered from a severe cold.

Deserve Vote of Thanks.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 3.—The house yesterday passed the bill introduced by Mr. Booth, of Dallas county, prohibiting the manufacture, sale or giving away of cigarettes, cigarette papers or wrappers in this state, under penalty of a fine of from $5 to $100. The bill was passed by unanimous vote.

Another Grade-Crossing Accident.

Indianapolis, March 3.—Fourteen people were injured in a grade-crossing accident at midnight. A street car carrying 25 passengers was struck by a cut of freight cars at the Indianapolis, Decatur and Western railroad crossing, on Washington street. The car was thrown some distance and two box cars were overturned.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NOTES.

The president yesterday signed the arbitration and the Philippine coinage bills.

The postoffice department will shortly adopt a flag emblematic of the postal service.

The national geographic society is contemplating nominating a scientific geographer to accompany the Ziegler arctic expedition that is to start for the North pole in May or June of this year.

The monthly statement of the coinage executed at the mints of the United States shows that during February, 1930, the total amount was $9,196,880, as follows: Gold, $7,488,519; silver, $1,521,000; minor coins, $187,370.

Upon Secretary Hay's statement that the necessity no longer existed for the presence of a United States warship in Venezuelan waters the navy department yesterday cabled Admiral Coghlan that he might withdraw the Marietta.

DATE FOR HEARING NOT FIXED.

Knapp's Family Trying to Prove Him Insane—Believed Body Found Is Hannah Goddard Knapp.

Hamilton, O., March 3.—Owing to the fact that Knapp pleaded not guilty yesterday and that he has not yet secured counsel, the date of his preliminary hearing has not yet been fixed. Prosecutor Gard and Judge Belden had a consultation in reference to calling a special grand jury, but no conclusion was reached.

The developments show that the family of Knapp intend to press the defense of insanity to the last. Knapp sat with his hands folded during the arraignment and seemed to be the most indifferent person in the court room. He seems to believe that his relatives will prove him insane and that the worst fate that awaits him is commitment to an asylum.

A dispatch received last night from New Albany, Ind., stated that the body of a woman was found floating in the Ohio river there yesterday answering the description of Hannah Goddard, including the gold band ring on the left hand and the gold earrings that Knapp maintained would be found on her body. The body had been in the water several weeks. Further details show that it is without a doubt the body of Mrs. Hannah Goddard Knapp. The jewelry and stockings found on the body were described to Knapp and Goddard, an uncle of the dead woman, and they both declared that they were those of Mrs. Hannah Goddard Knapp.

CROP CONDITIONS FOR FEBRUARY

Month Has Not Been Favorable for Farming Operations in Southern States.

Washington, March 3.—The weather bureau's general summary of crop conditions for February are as follows:

With excessive precipitation and low average temperature in the southern states, the month has not been favorable for farming operations in that section, but with lighter precipitation and only slightly deficient temperature, the Ohio and Upper Mississippi valleys experienced more favorable conditions. In California the first part of the month was abnormally cold, but the latter part was more favorable.

Winter wheat was well protected with snow covering during the severe weather from the 15th to the 19th, and the reports at the close of the month indicate that the crop is in very satisfactory condition. In portions of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky, however, the crop has sustained some injury from alternate freezing and thawing, while lowlands have suffered to some extent from overflows in the lower Ohio valley.

WELLSVILLE

Many Persons Still in Wellsville Kept from Their Homes By the Flood.

The river has fallen sufficiently now so as to allow many people who were forced to vacate their houses when it was at its highest, to move into them once more, but most of those residing on Second and the upper end of Coal streets are still kept away from home by the water.

The Freedom Oil company, whose store room is on Second street, is having some difficult work to get at its stock, as the building is completely surrounded by water and the only way one can approach the place is with a skiff.

The high water has caused a great deal of distress among the Italians living on Third street. The lot being very low, the water backed in there from Second street, causing them to vacate the entire lower floor. The house is not a very large one and being deprived of the first floor it necessitates them living in extremely close quarters.

Train No. 331, which leaves this city at 6:30 a. m., left on time yesterday. The train went as far as George's Run, a short distance below Mingo Junction, where it was stalled on account of high water, the tracks being three feet beneath the surface of the river. After waiting there for several hours, with no visible relief from the situation, the crew finally decided to return to this city, which they did, the passengers resuming their journey on the afternoon train, the water having receded enough at that time to allow trains to pass.

COUNCIL MEETING TONIGHT

Warm Debate Probable Over Question of Proposed Water Works Appropriation.

The regular meeting of the city council will be held at the city hall this evening, at which time many warm discussions are looked for. The water works board has asked council to appropriate sufficient funds to purchase the very latest and best water works equipment on the market. Supt. Ewing and Trustees Gerren, Donnelly and Stewart have visited at Pittsburg, Steubenville, and Andover, Mass., where they inspected the machinery of the different water works plants and found it satisfactory in every way. They wish to establish a modern apparatus here, but the one obstacle is they have not money enough on hand. They will, therefore, request council to make an appropriation.

The extending of the storm sewer at the West End will also be attended to, the bids for which have been received. The contract will be awarded this evening.

Action will also be taken in the "Wooster alley" case which was closed from traffic by the improvement of Clark avenue. Council has several other minor subjects which will be talked on at this meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sanford, of Commerce street, are the happy parents of a new baby girl which arrived on Sunday evening.

Miss Minnie Huff, of Steubenville, who for the past week was a guest of Miss Irene Given, of Center street, returned home last evening.

Clyde F. Sinclair has accepted a position as rodmann with the C. & P. railway corps. He was formerly employed with Harry Leith, city engineer.

Mrs. Nancy Jones, of Yellow Creek is the guest of her sister, Mrs. T. L. Apple. Mrs. Jones is having a broken wrist treated by a Wellsville physician.

W. G. Stewart has returned from Holyoke, Mass., where he has been on a business trip for the city, relative to the new pumps which are to be installed here.

Mrs. S. D. Noragon returned to Cleveland last evening after spending several days with her husband, who is employed at the Wellsville shops. They expect to move to this city as soon as a desirable house can be obtained.

The annual ball of local union No. 253, A. F. of M., was held last evening in the city hall. The colored folks generally turn out at a social gathering, and last evening was no exception to the rule, as a large crowd attended. Quite a number came from East Liverpool to join in the festivities. The orchestra, which was also composed of colored people, rendered some very fine selections. The dance did not begin until quite late, as it was late when the orchestra arrived. In spite of this fact, however, all reported a good time.

LODGE ANNIVERSARY

Pleasantly Celebrated By the Daughters of St. George—Enjoyable Program Rendered.

The anniversary of the organization of White Rose lodge No. 55, Daughters of St. George, was appropriately observed last night by the members of that organization by a literary program, followed by several hours of social intercourse. The following program was given and was heartily enjoyed by all the members.

Vocal and instrumental solo, Miss Ada Eardley; vocal solo, Miss Bettie Greenwood; piano solo, Miss Liza Fynn; recitation, Mrs. Sarah A. Harley; recitation, Miss Edna Farrell; vocal solo, Miss Anna Harley; recitation, Miss Hannah Purton.

After the program was finished the balance of the evening was spent with various games, which in turn was followed by refreshments. The White Rose lodge now numbers 93 members, and is now enjoying the greatest period of prosperity in its history.

Flood Wrecks Freight.

Gallipolis, O., March 3.—The Ohio river is 48 feet and rising fast. Lowlands are flooded and great damage has been done. A freight train of eight cars went through a trestle on the Kanawha and Michigan railway, the result of high water in the Great Kanawha river.

Confidence Reviving.

Mazatlan, Mex., March 3.—There was but one death from the plague at the lazaretto yesterday and none in the city. There are now 180 persons isolated under observation. Public confidence is somewhat reviving.

CHESTER MILL

READY TO RESUME

WORK WILL START AT THE PLANT TOMORROW.

Several Hundred Men Go On Now and Others Soon—Engine Running Well.

All Chester is delighted with the announcement that the American Tin Plate company will resume operation at its Chester plant tomorrow. Work has been suspended for more than three weeks and in that time rumors of all kinds have been afloat. All are now happily set at rest.

Several of the high officials of the mill have been here for several days watching the work on the engine. Engineers have been at work constantly trying to locate and remedy the defects and at last their efforts have been successful. This morning the final test was made and the great engine worked smoothly and was perfect in every detail.

STORE ROBBED

Money And Valuables Taken from the Place of Business of W. A. Hill.

The racket store conducted by W. A. Hill on Carolina avenue was visited by thieves Saturday night and a considerable amount of merchandise was taken. It was hard to ascertain the exact amount of the loss and every day more articles have been discovered missing. They also took $250 in change. The total loss will probably reach $35.

The robbery was kept quiet for several days, as there is a clue to the perpetrators of the theft, and it is expected that they will be detected in trying to dispose of some of the articles taken. This is the first business house to be visited by robbers in Chester for a long time.

Office Goes Begging.

There does not seem to be much eagerness to fill the position of town assessor. Thursday night was the time set for the closing of the filing of applications. As yet no one seems anxious for the position, which is a very important one, and was recommended by the finance committee at the last council meeting. The office of assessor has been filled the past year by the recorder, and in case no applications are filed, council may appoint Recorder Maxwell to act as assessor.

New Trust Company.

The New Cumberland Title & Trust company was recently organized with a capital stock of $40,000, one-half the stock to be taken by Pittsburg capital and one-half by local capital. About $16,000 of the local amount has been subscribed, leaving only $4,000 to be obtained, which it is thought will be secured in a few days. All of the Pittsburg stock is subscribed. John Shrader and Erasmus Marshall are interested $2,000 each.

Trains Again Running.

The accommodation train did not get up this morning on its first trip, but was up at 9:30, as was the local freight. But little inconvenience resulted from the fact of the road being idle, as the mill and both potteries are well supplied with coal and with plenty of empty cars to load for their orders.

CHESTER NOTES.

J. H. Maxwell is on a business trip to Pittsburg.

Fred Sinclair and family have moved into the E. C. Baxter house on Adolphus street.

Mrs. B. L. Hillyard, of Carolina avenue, is seriously ill with an attack of typhoid fever.

W. O. Griffith, of Virginia avenue, has left for a visit with his parents at Kokomo, Ind.

William Logesden and family, of Carolina avenue, will move with his family to Wheeling.

Miss Mamie Southworth, of Phoenix avenue, has returned from a visit to her parents at East Palestine.

A number of the mill men, during the enforced idleness, have taken jobs in the East End, on the grading of the C. & P. R. R.

A number of the members of Chester Council of Mechanics will attend the entertainment which will be given by the Daughters of Liberty.

Three of the old motormen and conductors, D. P. McBane, James K. Mayes and George Wynn, are back on their respective runs on the Rock Springs car line.

IN PRIZE RING STYLE

A Couple of Scrappers Settled a Dispute And Got Fined for It.

After months of threatening and fighting at long distance, James Monday and "Rags" McKenna came together last evening. They first met in the Diamond and after a debate decided that, to avoid interruption by the police, it would be better to adjourn to the hilltop, and each accompanied by a backer left for Thompson's hill. A referee was also taken. Arriving at a selected spot a ring was formed and the two men started the bout. Which one received the worst of the engagement is not known, but from their appearances each got his full share and will call further encounters off.

Officer Morris met the fellows when they came down from the prize ring and placed them under arrest. They were fined $2 and costs each this morning.

Arthur Bidwell and William Sears, arrested in a disorderly house Saturday evening, were released last evening, the father of Bidwell paying both fines.

Electric Railway Company Organized.

Kenton, O., March 3.—The Kenton and Southern Electric Railway company was organized yesterday, with J. S. Hershman, of Springfield, O., president; R. Emery, Columbus, vice president and secretary; C. S. D. Montgomery, Boston, treasurer. A. F. Appleyard, of Boston, is one of the directors. It was voted to issue stock to the amount of $60,000. The company will build electric lines in Kenton and also a line to Bellefontaine.

Charged With Stealing Mail Pouch.

Danville, Ky., March 3.—Postoffice Inspector Gibbons, of Cincinnati, and Chief of Police Holmes, of Danville, have arrested here Edward Nichols, Samuel Prather, William Tucker and Bud Hawkins, on the charge of stealing the mail pouch which was lost here in November. It contained about $75,000, mostly in revenue stamps, checks and drafts, with a small amount of cash.

Many Persons Still in Wellsville Kept from Their Homes By the Flood.

The river has fallen sufficiently now so as to allow many people who were forced to vacate their houses when it was at its highest, to move into them once more, but most of those residing on Second and the upper end of Coal streets are still kept away from home by the water.

The Freedom Oil company, whose store room is on Second street, is having some difficult work to get at its stock, as the building is completely surrounded by water and the only way one can approach the place is with a skiff.

The high water has caused a great deal of distress among the Italians living on Third street. The lot being very low, the water backed in there from Second street, causing them to vacate the entire lower floor. The house is not a very large one and being deprived of the first floor it necessitates them living in extremely close quarters.

Train No. 331, which leaves this city at 6:30 a. m., left on time yesterday. The train went as far as George's Run, a short distance below Mingo Junction, where it was stalled on account of high water, the tracks being three feet beneath the surface of the river. After waiting there for several hours, with no visible relief from the situation, the crew finally decided to return to this city, which they did, the passengers resuming their journey on the afternoon train, the water having receded enough at that time to allow trains to pass.

COUNCIL MEETING TONIGHT

Warm Debate Probable Over Question of Proposed Water Works Appropriation.

The regular meeting of the city council will be held at the city hall this evening, at which time many warm discussions are looked for. The water works board has asked council to appropriate sufficient funds to purchase the very latest and best water works equipment on the market. Supt. Ewing and Trustees Gerren, Donnelly and Stewart have visited at Pittsburg, Steubenville, and Andover, Mass., where they inspected the machinery of the different water works plants and found it satisfactory in every way. They wish to establish a modern apparatus here, but the one obstacle is they have not money enough on hand. They will, therefore, request council to make an appropriation.

The extending of the storm sewer at the West End will also be attended to, the bids for which have been received. The contract will be awarded this evening.

Action will also be taken in the "Wooster alley" case which was closed from traffic by the improvement of Clark avenue. Council has several other minor subjects which will be talked on at this meeting.

W. G. Stewart has returned from Holyoke, Mass., where he has been on a business trip for the city, relative to the new pumps which are to be installed here.

Mrs. S. D. Noragon returned to Cleveland last evening after spending several days with her husband, who is employed at the Wellsville shops. They expect to move to this city as soon as a desirable house can be obtained.

An Enjoyable Ball.

The annual ball of local union No. 253, A. F. of M., was held last evening in the city hall. The colored folks generally turn out at a social gathering, and last evening was no exception to the rule, as a large crowd attended. Quite a number came from East Liverpool to join in the festivities. The orchestra, which was also composed of colored people, rendered some very fine selections. The dance did not begin until quite late, as it was late when the orchestra arrived. In spite of this fact, however, all reported a good time.

LODGE ANNIVERSARY

Pleasantly Celebrated By the Daughters of St. George—Enjoyable Program Rendered.

The anniversary of the organization of White Rose lodge No. 55, Daughters of St. George, was appropriately observed last night by the members of that organization by a literary program, followed by several hours of social intercourse. The following program was given and was heartily enjoyed by all the members.

Vocal and instrumental solo, Miss Ada Eardley; vocal solo, Miss Bettie Greenwood; piano solo, Miss Liza Fynn; recitation, Mrs. Sarah A. Harley; recitation, Miss Edna Farrall; vocal solo, Miss Anna Harley; recitation, Miss Hannah Purton.

After the program was finished the balance of the evening was spent with various games, which in turn was followed by refreshments. The White Rose lodge now numbers 33 members, and is now enjoying the greatest period of prosperity in its history.

Flood Wrecks Freight.

Gallipolis, O., March 3.—The Ohio river is 48 feet and rising fast. Lowlands are flooded and great damage has been done. A freight train of eight cars went through a trestle on the Kanawha and Michigan railway, the result of high water in the Great Kanawha river.

Confidence Reviving.

Mazatlan, Mex., March 3.—There was but one death from the plague at the lazaretto yesterday and none in the city. There are now 180 persons isolated under observation. Public confidence is somewhat reviving.

CHESTER MILL

READY TO RESUME

WORK WILL START AT THE PLANT TOMORROW.

Several Hundred Men Go On Now and Others Soon—Engine Running Well.

All Chester is delighted with the announcement that the American Tin Plate company will resume operation at its Chester plant tomorrow. Work has been suspended for more than three weeks and in that time rumors of all kinds have been afloat. All are now happily set at rest.

Several of the high officials of the mill have been here for several days watching the work on the engine. Engineers have been at work constantly trying to locate and remedy the defects and at last their efforts have been successful. This morning the final test was made and the great engine worked smoothly and was perfect in every detail.

STORE ROBBED

Money And Valuables Taken from the Place of Business of W. A. Hill.

The racket store conducted by W. A. Hill on Carroll avenue was visited by thieves Saturday night and a considerable amount of merchandise was taken. It was hard to ascertain the exact amount of the loss and every day more articles have been discovered missing. They also took $250 in change. The total loss will probably reach $35.

The robbery was kept quiet for several days, as there is a clue to the perpetrators of the theft, and it is expected that they will be detected in trying to dispose of some of the articles taken. This is the first business house to be visited by robbers in Chester for a long time.

Office Goes Begging.

There does not seem to be much eagerness to fill the position of town assessor. Thursday night was the time set for the closing of the filing of applications. As yet no one seems anxious for the position, which is a very important one, and was recommended by the finance committee at the last council meeting. The office of assessor has been filled the past year by the recorder, and in case no applications are filed, council may appoint Recorder Maxwell to act as assessor.

New Trust Company.

The New Cumberland Title & Trust company was recently organized with a capital stock of $40,000, one-half the stock to be taken by Pittsburg capital and one-half by local capital. About $16,000 of the local amount has been subscribed, leaving only $4,000 to be obtained, which it is thought will be secured in a few days. All of the Pittsburg stock is subscribed. John Shrader and Erastus Marshall are interested $2,000 each.

Trains Again Running.

The accommodation train did not get up this morning on its first trip, but was up at 9:30, as was the local freight. But little inconvenience resulted from the fact of the road being idle, as the mill and both potteries are well supplied with coal and with plenty of empty cars to load for their orders.

CHESTER NOTES.

J. H. Maxwell is on a business trip to Pittsburg.

Fred Sinclair and family have moved into the E. C. Baxter house on Adolphus street.

Mrs. B. L. Hillyard, of Carolina avenue, is seriously ill with an attack of typhoid fever.

W. O. Griffith, of Virginia avenue, has left for a visit with his parents at Kokomo, Ind.

William Logesdon and family, of Carolina avenue, will move with his family to Wheeling.

Miss Mamie Southworth, of Phoenix avenue, has returned from a visit to her parents at East Palestine.

A number of the mill men, during the enforced idleness, have taken jobs in the East End, on the grading of the C. & P. R. R.

A number of the members of Chester Council of Mechanics will attend the entertainment which will be given by the Daughters of Liberty.

Three of the old motormen and conductors, D. P. McBane, James K. Mayes and George Wynn, are back on their respective runs on the Rock Springs car line.

IN PRIZE RING STYLE

A Couple of Scrappers Settled a Dispute And Got Fined for It.

After months of threatening and fighting at long distance, James Monday and "Rags" McKenna came together last evening. They first met in the Diamond and after a debate decided that, to avoid interruption by the police, it would be better to adjourn to the hilltop, and each accompanied by a backer left for Thompson hill. A referee was also taken. Arriving at a selected spot a ring was formed and the two men started the bout. Which one received the worst of the engagement is not known, but from their appearances each got his full share and will call further encounters off.

Officer Morris met the fellows when they came down from the prize ring and placed them under arrest. They were fined $2 and costs each this morning.

Arthur Bidwell and William Sears, arrested in a disorderly house Saturday evening, were released last evening, the father of Bidwell paying both fines.

Electric Railway Company Organized.

Kenton, O., March 3.—The Kenton and Southern Electric Railway company was organized yesterday, with J. S. Hersman, of Springfield, O., president; R. Emery, Columbus, vice president and secretary; C. S. D. Montgomery, Boston, treasurer. A. F. Appleyard, of Boston, is one of the directors. It was voted to issue stock to the amount of $60,000. The company will build electric lines in Kenton and also a line to Bellefontaine.

Charged With Stealing Mail Pouch.

Danville, Ky., March 3.—Postoffice Inspector Gibbons, of Cincinnati, and Chief of Police Holmes, of Danville, have arrested here Edward Nichols, Samuel Prater, William Tucker and Bud Hawkins, on the charge of stealing the mail pouch which was lost here in November. It contained about $75,000, mostly in revenue stamps, checks and drafts, with a small amount of cash.

Murderer Again Escaped.

Huntington, W. Va., March 3.—William Erskine, wanted in Culpepper, Va., for murder, was discovered riding bumpers on a Chesapeake and Ohio passenger train here yesterday. The conductor ordered Erskine to leave the train, when the murderer assaulted him and escaped to the hills.

Tickets at a Premium.

Rome, March 3.—The struggle to obtain tickets for today's ceremony at the Vatican on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the coronation of the pope has been quite unprecedented. It is expected that more than 70,000 persons will be present. The foreigners are especially chagrined at the difficulty experienced in obtaining tickets from the usual sources and the discontent is increased by the fact that good seats are offered for sale at the hotels at high prices. Most of the tickets have gone to the Italian bishops. The rector of the American college had over 500 applications for tickets and he had less than 200 at his disposal.

Morgan to Dine With Palma.

Havana March 3.—J. Pierpont Morgan and his party spent yesterday at Santiago de Las Vegas, province of Havana, visiting plantations and the experimental school. Late in the afternoon Mr. Morgan and the gentlemen of his party called at the palace by appointment and had an interview lasting 40 minutes with President Palma. It was afterwards announced that the visit was purely one of courtesy and that President Palma invited Mr. Morgan to dine at the palace on Wednesday.

Public Reception for Schley.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 3.—Admiral Schley arrived here yesterday. The admiral and his party were driven at once to the hotel, where they will make their headquarters during their stay of a fortnight in Southern California. The chamber of commerce will tender the admiral a public reception, probably this evening. Admiral Schley appeared well and in good spirits, having fully recovered from a severe cold.

Deserve Vote of Thanks.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 3.—The house yesterday passed the bill introduced by Mr. Booth, of Dallas county, prohibiting the manufacture, sale or giving away of cigarettes, cigars and papers or wrappers in this state, under penalty of a fine of from $5 to $100. The bill was passed by unanimous vote.

Another Grade-Crossing Accident.

Indianapolis, March 3.—Fourteen people were injured in a grade-crossing accident at midnight. A street car carrying 25 passengers was struck by a cut of freight cars at the Indianapolis, Decatur and Western railroad crossing, on Washington street. The car was thrown some distance and two box cars were overturned.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NOTES.

The president yesterday signed the arbitration and the Philippine coinage bills.

The postoffice department will shortly adopt a flag emblematic of the postal service.

The national geographic society is contemplating nominating a scientific geographer to accompany the Ziegler arctic expedition that is to start for the North pole in May or June of this year.

The monthly statement of the coinage executed at the mints of the United States shows that during February, 1903, the total amount was $9,196,860, as follows: Gold, $7,488,519; silver, $1,521,000; minor coins, $187,370.

Upon Secretary Hay's statement that the necessity no longer existed for the presence of a United States warship in Venezuelan waters the navy department yesterday called Admiral Coghlan that he might withdraw the Marietta.

Delegates from the Pittsburg chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution yesterday presented to the president a handsomely-framed picture of the historic block-house at Pittsburg that was erected in 1764 as a defense against Indians.

DATE FOR HEARING NOT FIXED.

Knapp's Family Trying to Prove Him Insane—Believed Body Found Is Hannah Goddard Knapp.

Hamilton, O., March 3.—Owing to the fact that Knapp pleaded not guilty yesterday and that he has not yet secured counsel, the date of his preliminary hearing has not yet been fixed. Prosecutor Gard and Judge Belden had a consultation in reference to calling a special grand jury, but no conclusion was reached.

The developments show that the family of Knapp intend to press the defense of insanity to the last. Knapp sat with his hands folded during the arraignment and seemed to be the most indifferent person in the court room. He seems to believe that his relatives will prove him insane and that the worst fate that awaits him is commitment to an asylum.

A dispatch received last night from New Albany, Ind., stated that the body of a woman was found floating in the Ohio river there yesterday answering the description of Hannah Goddard, including the gold band ring on the left hand and the gold earrings that Knapp maintained would be found on her body. The body had been in the water several weeks. Further details show that it is without a doubt the body of Mrs. Hannah Goddard Knapp. The jewelry and stockings found on the body were described to Knapp and Goddard, an uncle of the dead woman, and they both declared that they were those of Mrs. Hannah Goddard Knapp.

CROP CONDITIONS FOR FEBRUARY

Month Has Not Been Favorable for Farming Operations in Southern States.

Washington, March 3.—The weather bureau's general summary of crop conditions for February are as follows:

With excessive precipitation and low average temperature in the southern states, the month has not been favorable for farming operations in that section, but with lighter precipitation and only slightly deficient temperature, the Ohio and Upper Mississippi valleys experienced more favorable conditions. In California the first part of the month was abnormally cold, but the latter part was more favorable.

Winter wheat was well protected with snow covering during the severe weather from the 15th to the 19th, and the reports at the close of the month indicate that the crop is in very satisfactory condition. In portions of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky, however, the crop has sustained some injury from alternate freezing and thawing, while lowlands have suffered to some extent from overflows in the lower Ohio valley.

DOAN'S Kidney Pills
CURE Bad
Backs

East Liverpool Backs!

FEW are the people in East Liverpool who never have a bad back. Nearly everyone you know has "now and then" an aching back—some of them suffer severely from backache pains, others have mild attacks that only harrass, annoy and seem not serious. Many grievous mistakes are made through back neglect. Ever stop to think that there is reason for the weakness which causes every strain to the back—every cold—every exertion to bring backache pains? There will be less pain—less back trouble when 'tis understood the kidneys are to blame for it all nine times out of ten. The kidneys' constant call for help comes through the back—kidneys are overworked and become easily disordered, unable to perform their proper functions, then it is the back warns you to assist nature and right the wrong that is going on in the system causing impure blood to circulate and breed disease.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Mr. Charles Smith, of 198 Fourth street, letter carrier, says: "I contracted a cold which settled in my kidneys and caused such severe pain across the small of my back that I could scarcely get around my trip. I thought it would wear off but as it did not, but grew worse, I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. Pharmacy, and took them. The result was the pain soon left me, and I am all right again."

Mrs. William James who lives at 283 Third street, says: "I was troubled off and on for eight years with a weakness of back and kidneys, dull, aching pain across my loins up under my shoulders blades and rheumatic pains in my right shoulder. The trouble affected my nervous system, causing a frequent fluttering of the heart and shortness of breath. I generally resorted to porous plasters, but the relief was only temporary. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy, obtaining instant relief and finally a cure."

Mr. William Terrance, fireman at engine house No. 1, says: "For some time I was annoyed with symptoms of either weakened or over excited kidneys. I had noticed more than one recommendation made by people living in East Liverpool about Doan's Kidney Pills and thinking that if the medicine performed half what it promised it might help me, I bought a box at Larkins' drug store. The treatment cured me."

EAST LIVERPOOL PROOF.

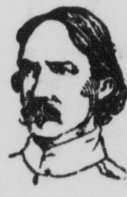

Mr. Wm. Anderson, of 305 Lisbon street, says: "During the civil war I enlisted and served three years in the Forty-second Ohio Infantry. From the exposure during the war I attributed the severe aching and weakness in the loins and muscular rheumatism of recent years which all seemed to center in my kidneys. In the morning when first getting up I was very dizzy until I had moved around for a time and my nervous system became affected, causing a fluttering and fullness around the heart. Seeing an advertisement in the paper I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy and took them. A few doses gave me relief. The improvement was gradual and continued as the medicine got thoroughly into my system. I firmly believe that Doan's Kidney Pills will in every case as they did in mine prove the justness of the claims made for them."

Mrs. Carolynn White, of 225 Railroad street, East End, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found great relief from the treatment, although I am 20 years of age, and had about given up all hope of ever being helped. I took medicines; my back ached just the same, grew stiff and lame when sitting long or when lying in bed, and sharp twinges of pain and other symptoms convinced me my kidneys were out of order. Always on the lookout for anything that might bring relief, when I heard Doan's Kidney Pills so highly spoken of, I got a box at the W. & W. pharmacy. After using that for a short time I could plainly notice the good effects they were causing. I continued some time longer and gradually but surely improved. I found Doan's Kidney Pills a splendid remedy and advised others to try them, feeling confident if they do so they will have no cause to regret it."

Mrs. Edward Orr, of 220 Thompson street, says: "My sister, Mrs. Borland, of Pittsburg, while visiting us recommended Doan's Kidney Pills so highly that I was induced to try them. I had severe attacks of kidney complaint. Sometimes I was so bad I could not get up. Many times my neighbors came and found me lying on the lounge suffering, when I intended to do a big day's work. I was so miserable I could do nothing. After my sister told me of the pills I made up my mind to try them and got a box at the W. & W. pharmacy. They did just what they claimed they would do—cured me sound and well in a few days. My little girl was feeling poorly and had a sallow complexion for some time. I gave her a few doses and after the treatment she felt splendidly."

The New Arabian Nights

By ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

(Part 2—Continued)

The whole of the next day Silas filled with a sense of great importance. He was now sure she was a countess, and when evening came he minutely obeyed her orders and was at the corner of the Luxembourg gardens by the hour appointed. No one was there. He waited nearly half an hour, looking in the face of every one who passed or loitered near the spot. He even visited the neighboring corners of the Boulevard and made a complete circuit of the garden railings, but there was no beautiful countess to throw herself into his arms. At last, and most reluctantly, he began to retrace his steps toward his hotel. On the way he remembered the words he had heard pass between Miss Zephyrine and the blond young man, and they gave him an indefinite uneasiness.

"It appears," he reflected, "that every one has to tell lies to our porter." He rang the bell, the door opened before him, and the porter in his bed clothes came to offer him a light.

"Has he gone?" inquired the porter.

"He? Whom do you mean?" asked Silas somewhat sharply, for he was irritated by his disappointment.

"I did not notice him go out," continued the porter, "but I trust you paid him. We do not care in this house to have lodgers who cannot meet their liabilities."

"What do you mean?" demanded Silas rudely. "I cannot understand a word of this farrago."

"The short, blond young man who came for his debt," returned the other. "He it is I mean. Who else should it be when I had your orders to admit no one else?"

"Of course he never came!" retorted Silas.

"I believe what I believe," returned the porter, putting his tongue into his cheek with a most regressive air.

"You are an insolent scoundrel!" cried Silas. And, feeling that he had made a ridiculous exhibition of asperity, and at the same time bewildered by a dozen alarms, he turned and began to run upstairs.

"Do you not want a light, then?" cried the porter.

But Silas only hurried the faster and did not pause until he had reached the seventh landing and stood in front of his own door. There he waited a moment to recover his breath, assailed by the worst forebodings and almost dreading to enter the room.

When at last he did so, he was relieved to find it dark and to all appearance untenanted. He drew a long breath. Here he was home again in safety, and this should be his last folly as certainly as it had been his first. The matches stood on a little table by the bed, and he began to grope his way in that direction. As he moved, his apprehensions grew upon him once more, and he was pleased, when his foot encountered an obstacle, to find it nothing more alarming than a chair. At last he touched curtains. From the position of the window, which was faintly visible, he knew he must be at the foot of the bed and had only to feel his way along it in order to reach the table in question.

He lowered his hand, but what it touched was not simply a counterpane—it was a counterpane with something underneath it like the outline of a human leg. Silas withdrew his arm and stood for a moment petrified.

"What, what," he thought, "can this be?"

He listened intently, but there was no sound of breathing. Once more, with a great effort, he reached out the end of his finger to the spot he had already touched, but this time he leaped back half a yard and stood shivering and fixed with terror. There was something in his bed. What it was he knew not, but there was something there.

It was some seconds before he could move. Then, guided by an instinct, he fell straight upon the matches and, keeping his back toward the bed, light

"I THOUGHT I HEARD A CRY," BEGAN THE DOCTOR.

ed a candle. As soon as the flame kindled, he turned slowly round and looked for what he feared to see. Sure enough, there was the worst of his imaginations realized. The coverlet was drawn carefully up over the pillow, but it molded the outlines of a human body lying motionless, and when he dashed forward and flung aside the sheets he beheld the blond young man he had seen in the Bullier ball the night before, his eyes open and without speculation, his face swollen and blackened, and a thin stream of blood trickling from his nostrils.

Silas uttered a long tremulous wail, dropped the candle and fell on his knees beside the bed. Silas was awakened from the stupor into which his terrible discovery had plunged him by a prolonged but discreet tapping at the

"I thought I heard a cry," began the doctor, "and fearing you might be unwell, I did not hesitate to offer this intrusion."

Silas, with a flushed face and a fearful beating heart, kept between the doctor and the bed, but he found no voice to answer.

"You are in the dark," pursued the doctor, "and yet you have not even begun to prepare for rest. You will not easily persuade me against my own eyesight, and your face declares most eloquently that you require either a friend or a physician—which is it to be? Let me feel your pulse, for that is often a just reporter of the heart."

He advanced to Silas, who still retreated before him backward, and sought to take him by the wrist, but the strain on the young American's nerves had become too great for endurance. He avoided the doctor with a febrile movement, and throwing himself upon the floor, burst into a flood of weeping.

As soon as Dr. Noel perceived the dead man in the bed his face darkened, and, hurrying back to the door which he had left ajar, he hastily closed and double locked it.

"Up!" he cried, addressing Silas in strident tones. "This is no time for weeping. What have you done? How came this body in your room? Speak freely to one who may be helpful. Do you imagine I would ruin you? You think this piece of dead flesh on your pillow can alter in any degree the sympathy with which you have inspired me? Credulous youth, the horror with which blind and unjust law regards an action never attaches to the doer in the eyes of those who love him, and if I saw the friend of my heart return to me out of seas of blood he would be in no way changed in my affection. Raise yourself, he said. 'Good and ill are a chimera. There is naught in life except destiny, and however you may be circumstanced, there is one at your side who will help you to the last.'"

"Thus encouraged, Silas gathered himself together and, in a broken voice and helped out by the doctor's interrogations, contrived at last to put him in possession of the facts. But the conversation between the prince and Germaine he altogether omitted, as he had understood little of its purport and had no idea that it was in any way related to his own misadventure.

"Alas!" cried Dr. Noel. "I am much abused or you have fallen innocently into the most dangerous lands in Europe. Poor boy! What a pit has been dug for your simplicity! Into what a deadly peril have your unwary feet been conducted! This man," he said, "this Englishman, whom you twice saw and whom I suspect to be the soul of the contrivance, can you describe him? Was he young or old, tall or short?"

But Silas, who, for all his curiosity, had not a seeing eye in his head, was able to supply nothing but meager generalities, which it was impossible to recognize.

"I would have it a piece of education in all schools!" cried the doctor angrily. "Where is the use of eyesight and articulate speech if a man cannot observe and recollect the features of his enemy? I, who know all the gangs of Europe, might have identified him and gained new weapons for your defense. Cultivate this art in future, my poor boy. You may find it of momentous service."

"The future!" repeated Silas. "What future is there left for me except the gallows?"

"Youth is but a cowardly season," returned the doctor, "and a man's own troubles look blacker than they are. I am old, and yet I never despair."

"Can I tell such a story to the police?" demanded Silas.

"Assuredly not," replied the doctor. "From what I see already of the machinery in which you have been involved your case is desperate upon that side, and for the narrow eye of the authorities you are infallibly the guilty person. And remember that we only know a portion of the plot, and the same infamous contrivers have doubtless arranged many other circumstances which would be elicited by a police inquiry and help to fix the guilt more certainly upon your innocence."

"I am then lost indeed!" cried Silas.

"I have not said so," answered Dr. Noel, "for I am a cautious man."

"But look at this," objected Silas, pointing to the body. "Here is this object in my bed, not to be explained, not to be disposed of, not to be regarded without horror."

"Horror?" replied the doctor. "No. When this sort of clock has run down, it is no more to me than an ingenious piece of mechanism, to be investigated with the history. When blood is once cold and stagnant, it is no longer human blood. When flesh is once dead, it is no longer the flesh which we desire in our lovers and respect in our friends. The grace, the attraction and the terror have all gone from it with the animating spirit. Accustom yourself to look upon it with composure, for if my scheme is practicable you will have to live some days in constant proximity to that which now so greatly horrifies you."

"Your scheme?" cried Silas. "What is that? Tell me speedily, doctor, for I have scarcely courage enough to continue to exist."

Without replying, Dr. Noel turned toward the bed and proceeded to examine the corpse.

"Quite dead," he murmured. "Yes, as I had supposed, the pockets empty; yes, and the name cut off the shirt. Their work has been done thoroughly and well. Fortunately, he is of small stature."

Silas followed these words with an extreme anxiety. At last the doctor, his autopsy completed, took a chair and addressed the young American with a smile.

"Since I came into your room," said he, "although my ears and my tongue have been so busy, I have not suffered my eyes to remain idle. I noted a little while ago that you have there in the corner one of those monstrous constructions which your fellow countrymen carry with them into all quarters of the globe—in a word, a Saratoga trunk. Until this moment I have never been able to conceive the utility of these erections; but then I began to have a glimmer. Whether it was for convenience in the slave trade or to obviate the results of too ready an employment of the bowie knife, I cannot bring myself to decide, but one thing I see plainly—the object of such a box is to contain a human body."

"Surely," cried Silas—"surely this is not a time for jesting?"

"Although I may express myself with some degree of pleasantry," replied the doctor, "the purport of my words is entirely serious, and the first thing we have to do, my young friend, is to empty your coffin of all that it contains."

Silas, obeying the authority of Dr. Noel, put himself at his disposition. The Saratoga trunk was soon gutted of its contents, which made a considerable litter on the floor, and then, Silas taking the heels and the doctor supporting the shoulders, the body of the murdered man was carried from the bed and, after some difficulty, doubled up and inserted whole into the empty box. With an effort on the part of both the lid was forced down upon this unusual baggage, and the trunk was locked and corded by the doctor's own hand, while Silas disposed of what had been taken out between the closet and a chest of drawers.

Mr. Charles Smith, of 198 Fourth street, letter carrier, says: "I contracted a cold which settled in my kidneys and caused such severe pain across the small of my back that I could scarcely get around my trip. I thought it would wear off but as it did not, but grew worse, I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. Pharmacy, and took them. The result was the pain soon left me, and I am all right again."

Mrs. William James who lives at 283 Third street, says: "I was troubled off and on for eight years with a weakness of back and kidneys, dull, aching pain across my loins up under my shoulders blades and rheumatic pains in my right shoulder. The trouble affected my nervous system, causing a frequent fluttering of the heart and shortness of breath. I generally resorted to porous plasters, but the relief was only temporary. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. Pharmacy, obtaining instant relief and finally a cure." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for U. S. Remember the name Doan's and take no other. Sold by W. & W. Pharmacy.

Mr. William Terrance, fireman at engine house No. 1, says: "For some time I was annoyed with symptoms of either weakened or over excited kidneys. I had noticed more than one recommendation made by people living in East Liverpool about Doan's Kidney Pills and thinking that if the medicine performed half what it promised it might help me. I bought a box at Larkins' drug store. The treatment cured me."

Mr. Wm. Anderson, of 305 Lisbon street, says: "During the civil war I enlisted and served three years in the Forty-second Ohio Infantry. From the exposure during the war I attributed the severe aching and weakness in the loins and muscular rheumatism of recent years which all seemed to center in my kidneys. In the morning when sitting up I was very dizzy until I had moved around for a time and my nervous system became affected, causing a fluttering and fullness around the heart, seeing advertisements in the paper I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. Pharmacy and took them. A few doses gave me relief. The improvement was gradual and continued as the medicine got thoroughly into my system. I finally believe that Doan's Kidney Pills will in every case as they did in mine prove the justness of the claims made for them."

Mrs. Carolina White, of 225 Railroad street, East End, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found great relief from the treatment, although I am 70 years of age, and had about given up all hope of ever being helped. I took medicines; my back ached just the same, grew stiff and lame when sitting long or when lying in bed, and sharp twinges of pain and other symptoms convinced me my kidneys were out of order. Always on the lookout for anything that might bring relief, when I heard Doan's Kidney Pills so highly spoken of, I got a box at the W. & W. Pharmacy. After using that for a short time I could plainly notice the good effects they were causing. I continued some time longer and gradually but surely improved. I found Doan's Kidney Pills a splendid remedy and advised others to try them, feeling confident if they do so they will have no cause to regret it."

The New Arabian Nights

(Part 2—Continued)

The whole of the next day Silas filled with a sense of great importance. He was now sure she was a countess, and when evening came he minutely obeyed her orders and was at the corner of the Luxembourg gardens by the hour appointed. No one was there. He waited nearly half an hour, looking in the face of every one who passed or loitered near the spot. He even visited the neighboring corners of the Boulevard and made a complete circuit of the garden railings, but there was no beautiful countess to throw herself into his arms. At last, and most reluctantly, he began to retrace his steps toward his hotel. On the way he remembered the words he had heard pass between Mme. Zephyrine and the blond young man, and they gave him an indefinite uneasiness.

"It appears," he reflected, "that every one has to tell lies to our porter."

He rang the bell, the door opened before him, and the porter in his bed clothes came to offer him a light.

"Has he gone?" inquired the porter.

"He? Whom do you mean?" asked Silas somewhat sharply, for he was irritated by his disappointment.

"I did not notice him go out," continued the porter, "but I trust you paid him. We do not care in this house to have lodgers who cannot meet their liabilities."

"What do you mean?" demanded Silas rudely. "I cannot understand a word of this farago."

"The short, blond young man who came for his debt," returned the other. "He it is I mean. Who else should it be when I had your orders to admit no one else?"

"Of course he never came!" retorted Silas.

"I believe what I believe," returned the porter, putting his tongue into his cheek with a most requisit air.

"You are an insolent scoundrel!" cried Silas. And, feeling that he had made a ridiculous exhibition of asperity, and at the same time bewildered by a dozen alarms, he turned and began to run upstairs.

"Do you not want a light, then?" cried the porter.

But Silas only hurried the faster and did not pause until he had reached the seventh landing and stood in front of his own door. There he waited a moment to recover his breath, assailed by the worst forebodings and almost dreading to enter the room.

When at last he did so, he was relieved to find it dark and to all appearance untenanted. He drew a long breath. Here he was home again in safety, and this should be his last folly as certainly as it had been his first. The matches stood on a little table by the bed, and he began to grope his way in that direction. As he moved, his apprehensions grew upon him once more, and he was pained, when his foot encountered an obstacle, to find it nothing more alarming than a chair. At last he touched curtains. From the position of the window, which was faintly visible, he knew he must be at the foot of the bed and had only to feel his way along it in order to reach the table in question.

He lowered his hand, but what it touched was not simply a counterpane—it was a counterpane with something underneath it like the outline of a human leg. Silas withdrew his arm and stood for a moment petrified.

"What, what," he thought, "can this be?"

He listened intently, but there was no sound of breathing. Once more, with a great effort, he reached out the end of his finger to the spot he had already touched, but this time he leaped back half a yard and stood shivering and fixed with terror. There was something in his bed. What it was he knew not, but there was something there.

It was some seconds before he could move. Then, guided by an instinct, he fell straight upon the matches and, keeping his back toward the bed, lighted a candle. As soon as the flame had kindled, he turned slowly round and looked for what he feared to see. Sure enough, there was the worst of his imaginations realized. The coverlet was drawn carefully up over the pillow, but it molded the outlines of a human body lying motionless, and when he dashed forward and flung aside the sheets he beheld the blond young man he had seen in the Bullier ball the night before, his eyes open and without speculation, his face swollen and blackened, and a thin stream of blood trickling from his nostrils.

But Silas only hurried the faster and did not pause until he had reached the seventh landing and stood in front of his own door. There he waited a moment to recover his breath, assailed by the worst forebodings and almost dreading to enter the room.

When at last he did so, he was relieved to find it dark and to all appearance untenanted. He drew a long breath. Here he was home again in safety, and this should be his last folly as certainly as it had been his first. The matches stood on a little table by the bed, and he began to grope his way in that direction. As he moved, his apprehensions grew upon him once more, and he was pleased, when his foot encountered an obstacle, to find it nothing more alarming than a chair. At last he touched curtains. From the position of the window, which was faintly visible, he knew he must be at the foot of the bed and had only to feel his way along it in order to reach the table in question.

He lowered his hand, but what it touched was not simply a counterpane—it was a countenance with something underneath it like the outline of a human leg. Silas withdrew his arm and stood for a moment petrified.

"What, what," he thought, "can this betoken?"

He listened intently, but there was no sound of breathing. Once more, with a great effort, he reached out the end of his finger to the spot he had already touched, but this time he leaped back half a yard and stood shivering and fixed with terror. There was something in his bed. What it was he knew not, but there was something there.

It was some seconds before he could move. Then, guided by an instinct, he fell straight upon the matches and, keeping his back toward the bed, lighted a candle. As soon as the flame was kindled, he turned slowly round and looked for what he feared to see. Sure enough, there was the worst of his imaginings realized. The coverlet was drawn carefully up over the pillow, but it molded the outlines of a human body lying motionless, and when he dashed forward and flung aside the sheets he beheld the blond young man he had seen in the Bullier hall the night before, his eyes open and without speculation, his face swollen and blackened, and a thin stream of blood trickling from his nostrils.

Silas uttered a long tremulous wail, dropped the candle and fell on his knees beside the bed. Silas was awakened from the stupor into which his terrible discovery had plunged him by a prolonged but discreet tapping at the

"I THOUGHT I HEARD A CRY," BEGAN THE DOCTOR.

"I thought I heard a cry," began the doctor, "and fearing you might be unwell, I did not hesitate to offer this intrusion."

Silas, with a flushed face and a fearful beating heart, kept between the doctor and the bed, but he found no voice to answer.

"You are in the dark," pursued the doctor, "and yet you have not even begun to prepare for rest. You will not easily persuade me against my own eyesight, and your face declares most eloquently that you require either a friend or a physician—which is it to be? Let me feel your pulse, for that is often a just reporter of the heart."

He advanced to Silas, who still retreated before him backward, and sought to take him by the wrist, but the strain on the young American's nerves had become too great for endurance. He avoided the doctor with a febrile movement, and throwing himself upon the floor, burst into a flood of weeping.

As soon as Dr. Noel perceived the dead man in the bed his face darkened, and, hurrying back to the door which he had left ajar, he hastily closed and double locked it.

"Up!" he cried, addressing Silas in strident tones. "This is no time for weeping. What have you done? How came this body in your room? Speak freely to one who may be helpful. Do you imagine I would ruin you? Do you think this piece of dead flesh on your pillow can alter in any degree the sympathy with which you have inspired me? Credulous youth, the horror with which blind and unjust law regards an action never attaches to the door in the eyes of those who love him, and if I saw the friend of my heart return to me out of seas of blood he would be in no way changed in my affection. Raise yourself," he said, "Good and ill are a chimera. There is naught in life except destiny, and, however you may be circumstanced, there is one at your side who will help you to the last."

Thus encouraged, Silas gathered himself together and, in a broken voice and helped out by the doctor's interrogations, contrived at last to put him in possession of the facts. But the conversation between the prince and Geraldine he altogether omitted, as he had understood little of its purport and had no idea that it was in any way related to his own misadventure.

"Alas!" cried Dr. Noel. "I am much abused or you have fallen innocently into the most dangerous hands in Europe. Poor boy! What a pit has been dug for your simplicity! Into what a deadly peril have your unwary feet been conducted! This man," he said, "this Englishman, whom you twice saw and whom I suspect to be the soul of the contrivance, can you describe him? Was he young or old, tall or short?"

But Silas, who, for all his curiosity, had not a seeing eye in his head, was able to supply nothing but meager generalities, which it was impossible to recognize.

"I would have it a piece of education in all schools!" cried the doctor angrily. "Where is the use of eyesight and articulate speech if a man cannot observe and recollect the features of his enemy? I, who know all the gangs of Europe, might have identified him and gained new weapons for your defense. Cultivate this art in future, my poor boy. You may find it of momentous service."

"The future?" repeated Silas. "What future is there left for me except the gallows?"

"Youth is but a cowardly season," returned the doctor, "and a man's own troubles look blacker than they are. I am old, and yet I never despair."

"Can I tell such a story to the police?" demanded Silas.

"Assuredly not," replied the doctor. "From what I see already of the machinery in which you have been involved your case is desperate upon that side, and for the narrow eye of the authorities you are infallibly the guilty person. And remember that we only know a portion of the plot, and the same infamous contrivers have doubtless arranged many other circumstances which would be elicited by a police inquiry and help to fix the guilt more certainly upon your innocence."

"I am then lost indeed!" cried Silas.

"I have not said so," answered Dr. Noel, "for I am a cautious man."

"But look at this," objected Silas, pointing to the body. "Here is this object in my bed, not to be explained, not to be disposed of, not to be regarded without horror."

"Horror?" replied the doctor. "No. When this sort of clock has run down, it is no more to me than an ingenious piece of mechanism, to be investigated with the history. When blood is once cold and stagnant, it is no longer human blood. When flesh is once dead, it is no longer the flesh which we desire in our lovers and respect in our friends. The grace, the attraction and the terror have all gone from it with the animating spirit. Accustom yourself to look upon it with composure, for if my scheme is practicable you will have to live some days in constant proximity to that which now so greatly horrifies you."

"Your scheme?" cried Silas. "What is that? Tell me speedily, doctor, for I have scarcely courage enough to continue to exist."

Without replying, Dr. Noel turned toward the bed and proceeded to examine the corpse.

"Quite dead," he murmured. "Yes, as I had supposed, the pockets empty; yes, and the name cut off the shirt. Their work has been done thoroughly and well. Fortunately, he is of small stature."

Silas followed these words with an extreme anxiety. At last the doctor, his autopsy completed, took a chair and addressed the young American with a smile.

"Since I came into your room," said he, "although my ears and my tongue have been so busy, I have not suffered my eyes to remain idle. I noted a little while ago that you have there in the corner one of those monstrous constructions which your fellow countrymen carry with them into all quarters of the globe—in a word, a Saratoga trunk. Until this moment I have never been able to conceive the utility of these erections; but then I began to have a glimmer. Whether it was for convenience in the slave trade or to obviate the results of too ready an employment of the bowie knife, I cannot bring myself to decide, but one thing I see plainly—the object of such a box is to contain a human body."

"Surely," cried Silas—"surely this is not a time for jesting?"

"Although I may express myself with some degree of pleasantry," replied the doctor, "the purport of my words is entirely serious, and the first thing we have to do, my young friend, is to empty your coffin of all that it contains."

Silas, obeying the authority of Dr. Noel, put himself at his disposition. The Saratoga trunk was soon gutted of its contents, which made a considerable litter on the floor, and then, Silas taking the heels and the doctor supporting the shoulders, the body of the murdered man was carried from the bed and, after some difficulty, doubled up and inserted whole into the empty box. With an effort on the part of both the lid was forced down upon this unusual baggage, and the trunk was locked and corded by the doctor's own hand, while Silas disposed of what had been taken out between the closet and a chest of drawers.

Hopeless.

He—Suppose I should ask your father if I could marry you. Do you think I would stand any chance?

She—No. Your case would be hopeless.

He—Do you think he would really say "No?"

She—Not that; but he would leave it to me.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

Sewing Circle—The ladies' sewing society of the First Presbyterian church held a meeting this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the church.

Another Democrat—Mrs. W. E. Morrow, wife of the Sixth street restaurant keeper, is the mother of a fine, large boy, which arrived yesterday.

Endeavor Social—The Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church will give a social Thursday evening in the lecture room of the church. All the young people are invited to be present and enjoy a pleasant evening.

Father Dacey's Funeral—A number of East Liverpool men went to Steubenville yesterday to attend the funeral of the late Rev. Father J. J. Dacey. Thousands were unable to gain admission to the church. Bishop Moeller was among the clergy who officiated at the impressive obsequies.

HUSBAND APPEARED AGAINST HIS WIFE

An East Liverpool Couple Airing Matrimonial Differences in the Divorce Court.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special)—The divorce case of Myrtle Zehm vs. Henry S. Zehm, of East Liverpool, is being heard in court this afternoon. The husband appeared against his wife.

In her petition the plaintiff says they were married at Pomeroy, December 20, 1891. Two children, born to them, are both dead.

The wife alleges that her husband was on various occasions abusive toward her, accusing her of being unchaste and accompanying the accusations with vile language and threats to kill.

Decided to Take no Part.

There was a called meeting of East Liverpool Division, No. 52, of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees, held last evening in a down town building, the usual place of meeting in the East End being abandoned for reasons very important to the members of the division. The meeting was expected to take action on the proposed new car line to the East End. After a lengthy consideration it was decided that the division take no part in the question and that it remain neutral.

A Collector's Dream.

"If I should die tonight, And you should come to my cold corpse and say: Weeping and heart-sick over my lifeless clay."

"If I should die tonight, And you should come in deepest grief and woe, And say: 'Here's that ten dollars that I owe,' I might arise in my great white shroud, And say: 'What's that?'"

"If I should die tonight, And you should come to my cold corpse and kneel, Clasp my bier to show the grief you feel— I say, 'If I should die tonight, And you should come, and there and then Just hint at paying me that ten, I might arise the while, But I'd drop dead again.'"

After reading the above the Sleepless Shoe Co. congratulated themselves on the fact that they do not have the expense of collector's bad accounts, and bookkeeping of the same.

SOCIAL EVENTS

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Charles Knowles Arranged a Delightful Surprise for Her Husband.

The home of Charles Knowles, of Cadmus street, was the scene of a delightful stag affair last night. It was arranged by Mrs. Knowles in honor of the twenty-seventh birthday anniversary of her husband. Mr. Knowles was called away for supper and some business affairs compelled him to remain up town for a short time. In this interval the home was prettily decorated with pink and green and everything was arranged to completely surprise him on his return. When he reached home he found it in possession of a large number of his gentlemen friends and the surprise was complete. The evening was spent with progressive euchre and the prize, a pocket-book, was won by John Kelley. The consolation prize was awarded to Willie Scraggs.

Mr. Knowles was presented a beautiful leather chair by his friends. After finishing the game, refreshments of a delicate nature were served and the evening was spent in a most enjoyable way despite the absence of the ladies.

Aldridge-Carlisle.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special)—Arnold H. Carlisle, of Freedom, Pa., and Miss Hannah M. Aldridge were married at 8 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Aldridge, of this city. Rev. J. E. Anderson, of the Presbyterian church, officiated. Clyde Wilson, of Canton, and Miss Margaret Aldridge were groomsmen and bridesmaid. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Framp-ton Carlisle, of Lisbon. A furnished home awaits them in Freedom, Pa., where they will commence housekeeping next Thursday.

Wilson-Barton.

A pretty wedding took place last night at 8 o'clock, when occurred the marriage ceremony making Bennett Barton and Miss Theodocia Wilson, both of this city, man and wife. The wedding took place at the home of the groom on Chester avenue and was witnessed by the families of both contracting parties and a few intimate friends. Mr. Barton is employed in one of the local potteries and is well known in the town. The couple expect to go to housekeeping at once.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. H. H. Rowden, of the First Baptist church, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. The following out-of-town guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. John Horner, Freedom, Pa.; Miss Cora Beck, Gallipolis, O.; Mrs. Mary Davidson, Pomeroy, O.; Miss Lee McBride, Millwood, W. Va.; Mrs. Margaret Campbell, Jacksonville, O.

The regular meeting of the East Liverpool Amateur Photo society will be held at their rooms tonight. At the meeting tonight the officers for the coming year will be chosen. Hereafter the society will hold two social sessions each month. One of these will be a stag smoker for the members only, but the other will be a social session at which the wives and friends of the members will be invited. The next social session will be held March 13 and the next smoker March 24.

Missionary Society Meeting.

The Women's Foreign Mission Society of the First M. E. church last evening held a most interesting business meeting, which was well attended by the members.

Tuesday Evening Club.

Miss Emma R. Bloor will entertain the Tuesday Evening club this evening at her home on Railroad street.

A MANAGER CHOSEN FOR CO-OPERATIVE STORE

Directors Made Their Selection at a Meeting Held Last Evening.

The directors of the co-operative store held a meeting last evening and practically made the selection of a manager and decided upon which of the two locations for the establishment to accept. For reasons best known to the directors their selections will not be made public at this time. It is understood that the manager is a well known young man, employed at the present time in one of the leading grocery establishments in the city.

A committee, composed of U. G. King, Samuel Steel, Richard Herbert and John Reark, was appointed to notify Edwin Oppelt that the deal for his establishment had been declared off. Another meeting of the directors will be held tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock.

Flood Is Not Dangerous.

Parkersburg, W. Va., March 3.—Parkersburg will escape serious danger from the flood, which will not reach as high a point as was first expected. Probably 50 residences in the lower part of town are surrounded and most of the factories were compelled to shut down. There is little suffering and there is no suspension of business. Traffic on the Ohio river division of the Baltimore and Ohio has been interrupted seriously. The river last night was 38 feet, and will probably reach 40 feet before falling.

Decision Sustained.

San Francisco, March 3.—In the United States circuit court of appeals Judge Hawley yesterday handed down a decision sustaining the injunction granted by the United States circuit court for the northern district of California restraining certain sheep owners from grazing their flocks on the Stanislaus forest reserve, which includes the rosemont national park. The injunction, the court says, was entirely constitutional and just under existing federal statutes.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Babylonian Creation Legends.

The story of the creation, as told on the clay tablets of ancient Babylon, is interesting. Several deities appear to have been regarded as in existence at the beginning of things. At least two, Apsu and Tiamat, represented chaos, and the former rebelled against the gods in consequence. The chief struggle was between him and Ea, whose son, Bel, created the world. Man was made by Marmuk, who in spite of the difference in name may have been identical with Bel. The creation of man was the culminating event of the history. Marmuk told Ea that he intended to perform his task and asked his father to behold him. Man was to be made out of Marmuk's blood and bone. Marmuk appears to have survived decapitation, as he subsequently took part in the councils of the gods.

Many parallels between these legends and the Hebrew story of the creation can be detected by scholars. The idea that seven days were devoted to the work may have long antedated Abraham's time. The oldest tablets yet discovered are not originals, but copies. These date back only 688-626 B. C.

Pale Colored Gowns—Feather Muffs and Stoles.

Cream and mastic, pale pastel blue and several shades of pink and strawberry are popular for costumes and gowns intended for the south. HUSBAND APPEARED AGAINST HIS WIFE

An East Liverpool Couple Airing Matrimonial Differences in the Divorce Court.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special.)—The divorce case of Myrtle Zehm vs. Henry S. Zehm, of East Liverpool, is being heard in court this afternoon. The husband appeared against his wife.

In her petition the plaintiff says they were married at Pomeroy, December 20, 1891. Two children, born to them, are both dead.

The wife alleges that her husband was on various occasions abusive toward her, accusing her of being unchaste and accompanying the accusations with vile language and threats to kill.

Decided to Take no Part.

There was a called meeting of East Liverpool Division, No. 52, of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees, held last evening in a down town building, the usual place of meeting in the East End being abandoned for reasons very important to the members of the division. The meeting was expected to take action on the proposed new car line to the East End. After a lengthy consideration it was decided that the division take no part in the question and that it remain neutral.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Charles Knowles Arranged a Delightful Surprise for Her Husband.

The home of Charles Knowles, of Cadmus street, was the scene of a delightful stag affair last night. It was arranged by Mrs. Knowles in honor of the twenty-seventh birthday anniversary of her husband. Mr. Knowles was called away for supper and some business affairs compelled him to remain up town for a short time. In this interval the home was prettily decorated with pink and green and everything was arranged to completely surprise him on his return. When he reached home he found it in possession of a large number of his gentlemen friends and the surprise was complete. The evening was spent with progressive euchre and the prize, a pocket-book, was won by John Kelley. The consolation prize was awarded to Willie Scraggs.

Mr. Knowles was presented a beautiful leather chair by his friends. After finishing the game, refreshments of a delicate nature were served and the evening was spent in a most enjoyable way despite the absence of the ladies.

A MANAGER CHOSEN FOR CO-OPERATIVE STORE

Directors Made Their Selection at a Meeting Held Last Evening.

The directors of the co-operative store held a meeting last evening and practically made the selection of a manager and decided upon which of the two locations for the establishment to accept. For reasons best known to the directors their selections will not be made public at this time. It is understood that the manager is a well known young man, employed at the present time in one of the leading grocery establishments in the city.

A committee, composed of U. G. King, Samuel Steel, Richard Herbert and John Reark, was appointed to notify Edwin Oppelt that the deal for his establishment had been declared off. Another meeting of the directors will be held tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock.

Flood Is Not Dangerous.

Parkersburg, W. Va., March 3.—Parkersburg will escape serious danger from the flood, which will not reach as high a point as was first expected. Probably 50 residences in the lower part of town are surrounded and most of the factories were compelled to shut down. There is little suffering and there is no suspension of business. Traffic on the Ohio river division of the Baltimore and Ohio has been interrupted seriously. The river last night was 38 feet, and will probably reach 40 feet before falling.

Decision Sustained.

San Francisco, March 3.—In the United States circuit court of appeals Judge Hawley yesterday handed down a decision sustaining the injunction granted by the United States circuit court for the northern district of California restraining certain sheep owners from grazing their flocks on the Stanislaus forest reserve, which includes the Yosemite national park. The injunction, the court says, was entirely constitutional and just under existing federal statutes.

Babylonian Creation Legends.

The story of the creation, as told on the clay tablets of ancient Babylon, is interesting. Several deities appear to have been regarded as in existence at the beginning of things. At least two, Apsu and Tiamat, represented chaos, and the former rebelled against the gods in consequence. The chief struggle was between him and Ea, whose son, Bel, created the world. Man was made by Marmuk, who in spite of the difference in name may have been identical with Bel. The creation of man was the culminating event of the history. Marmuk told Ea that he intended to perform his task and asked his father to behold him. Man was to be made out of Marmuk's blood and bone. Marmuk appears to have survived decapitation, as he subsequently took part in the councils of the gods.

Many parallels between these legends and the Hebrew story of the creation can be detected by scholars. The idea that seven days were devoted to the work may have long antedated Abraham's time. The oldest tablets yet discovered are not originals, but copies. These date back only 668-626 B. C.

Aldridge-Carlisle.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special.)—Arnold H. Carlisle, of Freedom, Pa., and Miss Mannah M. Aldridge were married at 8 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Aldridge, of this city. Rev. J. E. Anderson, of the Presbyterian church, officiated. Clyde Wilson, of Canton, and Miss Margaret Aldridge were groomsmen and bridesmaids. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Framp-ton Carlisle, of Lisbon. A furnished home awaits them in Freedom, Pa., where they will commence housekeeping next Thursday.

Wilson-Barton.

A pretty wedding took place last night at 8 o'clock, when occurred the marriage ceremony making Bennett Barton and Miss Theodocia Wilson, both of this city, man and wife. The wedding took place at the home of the groom on Chester avenue and was witnessed by the families of both contracting parties and a few intimate friends. Mr. Barton is employed in one of the local potteries and is well known in the town. The couple expect to go to housekeeping at once.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. H. H. Bawden, of the First Baptist church, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. The following out-of-town guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. John Horner, Freedom, Pa.; Miss Cora Beck, Gallipolis, O.; Mrs. Mary Davidson, Pomeroy, O.; Miss Lee McBride, Millwood, W. Va.; Mrs. Margaret Campbell, Jacksonville, O.

The regular meeting of the East Liverpool Amateur Photo society will be held at their rooms tonight. At the meeting tonight the officers for the coming year will be chosen. Hereafter the society will hold two social sessions each month. A MANAGER CHOSEN FOR CO-OPERATIVE STORE

Directors Made Their Selection at a Meeting Held Last Evening.

The directors of the co-operative store held a meeting last evening and practically made the selection of a manager and decided upon which of the two locations for the establishment to accept. For reasons best known to the directors their selections will not be made public at this time. It is understood that the manager is a well known young man, employed at the present time in one of the leading grocery establishments in the city.

A committee, composed of U. G. King, Samuel Steel, Richard Herbert and John Reark, was appointed to notify Edwin Oppelt that the deal for his establishment had been declared off. Another meeting of the directors will be held tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock.

Flood Is Not Dangerous.
Parkersburg, W. Va., March 3.—Parkersburg will escape serious danger from the flood, which will not reach as high a point as was first expected. Probably 50 residences in the lower part of town are surrounded and most of the factories were compelled to shut down. There is little suffering and there is no suspension of business. Traffic on the Ohio river division of the Baltimore and Ohio has been interrupted seriously. The river last night was 38 feet, and will probably reach 40 feet before falling.

Decision Sustained.
San Francisco, March 3.—In the United States circuit court of appeals Judge Hawley yesterday handed down a decision sustaining the injunction granted by the United States circuit court for the northern district of California restraining certain sheep owners from grazing their flocks on the Stanislaus forest reserve, which includes the Yosemite national park. The injunction, the court says, was entirely constitutional and just under existing federal statutes.

FOR THE SOUTH.

Pale Colored Gowns—Feather Muffs and Stoles.

Cream and mastic, pale pastel blue and several shades of pink and strawberry are popular for costumes and gowns intended for the south. The coat costume is not so universally in demand, and it is more modish to have a three-quarter sack coat for cool days, the gown being made with a short bolero and altogether in more elaborate fashion to wear with a feather tipt in warm weather.

A Russian blouse lately designed had a full front of ivory satin gathered to a lace yoke, and the broad collar and revers of cloth were ornamented with the panne. The sleeve in bell form was tucked at the widest part and drawn into a cuff of panne. One of the new stoles of chinchilla colored marabou was worn with this gown, and the very large flat muff had two bushy tails on either side.

These feather sets will be much worn in the spring, and they are exceedingly warm and cozy, being so large and full that they quite cover the shoulders. The illustration shows a stole of ermine trimmed with a broad flounce of lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Babylonian Creation Legends.

The story of the creation, as told on the clay tablets of ancient Babylon, is interesting. Several deities appear to have been regarded as in existence at the beginning of things. At least two, Apsu and Tiamat, represented chaos, and the former rebelled against the gods in consequence. The chief struggle was between him and Ea, whose son, Bel, created the world. Man was made by Marmuk, who in spite of the difference in name may have been identical with Bel. The creation of man was the culminating event of the history. Marmuk told Ea that he intended to perform his task and asked his father to behead him. Man was to be made out of Marmuk's blood and bone. Marmuk appears to have survived decapitation, as he subsequently took part in the councils of the gods. Many parallels between these legends and the Hebrew story of the creation can be detected by scholars. The idea that seven days were devoted to the work may have long antedated Abraham's time. The oldest tablets yet discovered are not originals, but copies. These date back only 665-626 B. C.

20TH YEAR. NO. 52.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., TUESDAY, MARCH 3, 1903.

TWO CENTS.

TOO MANY
IN THE RACE*Under Attorney General's Decision City Can Have But Seven Councilmen.*PRESIDENT SHOULD COUNT*As a Member at Large, According to Latest Interpretation of the Law.*OTHER CITIES IN SAME FIX

A decision of Attorney General Sheets, recently sent out, says that cities of the class of Steubenville shall have but seven councilmen, including the president of council. This opinion was given as the result of a query being sent him by the secretary of the Republican city committee of Steubenville. This being the case it will mean that at the recent Republican primary elections in this city and Wellsville one more candidate for council was nominated than should have been.

There have been various conflicting opinions sent out from the office of the attorney general on this question. City Solicitor Boyd, of Wellsville, received a letter from Smith Bennett, special counsel for the attorney general's office, last fall saying that Wellsville was entitled to eight councilmen, from the four wards, three at large and a president of council. This letter was received December 11, 1902. After that Wellsville Republicans proceeded to nominate eight councilmen at their recent primaries, the same as were named in East Liverpool.

Had it not been for the letter of inquiry sent by Secretary B. F. Fisher of Steubenville, it is likely that the mistake would not have been rectified till a much later date. The answer to his inquiry is signed by Attorney General Sheets himself and in full is as follows:

"Columbus, O., Feb. 28, 1903.

"B. F. Fisher, Steubenville, O.
"Dear Sir—Yours of February 23d at hand. The number of council including the president of council for your city will be seven. The secretary of state has the code for distribution, but I am informed that the supply is limited if not quite exhausted. Very truly,

"J. M. SHEETS,
"Attorney General."

This decision will make it necessary to drop one of the candidates at large from the ticket nominated. City Solicitor Boyd, of Wellsville, says that several different opinions have been rendered from the office of the attorney general, but that the last given by Sheets will probably stand. City Solicitor McGarry was seen this afternoon and asked in regard to the question, but owing to the conflicting opinions sent out from the attorney general's office he did not care to give out anything for publication. Solicitor Boyd said that in his opinion the name to be dropped from the tickets already nominated would be that of the lowest candidate of the three chosen at large.

KILNMAN HURT
VERY SERIOUSLY*WILLIAM HORTON FELL FROM TOP OF A LADDER.*He Was Picked Up Very Badly Injured And Taken to His Home.

William Horton, a kilnman in the glost crew at the Thompson pottery, was seriously if not fatally injured about 2 o'clock this afternoon by falling from the top of the ladder at one of the kilns at the plant. Horton had climbed to the top of the kiln and was in the act of placing his sagger on the top of the bung when the ladder upon which he was standing turned, precipitating him to the floor of the kiln, a distance of 16 feet. The force of the fall was sustained on his head and shoulders. The members of the crew, hearing the noise of his fall, hastened to his assistance and saw that the injuries he had sustained were of a very serious nature.

The wounded man was made as comfortable as possible and a hasty message was sent to Dr. Trimmer, who responded immediately. His examination revealed serious injuries about the head and shoulders, but their full extent cannot be ascertained until a more complete examination is made. Horton was removed to his home on Sugar street in the patrol wagon, Dr. Trimmer accompanying him. A more extensive examination of the injuries was then made.

AN APPEALED CASE.
FROM COLUMBIANA*Decided By the Jury, Judgment Being Rendered for the Defendants.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special)—When court convened yesterday afternoon the case of Sylvanus Hisey, of Columbiana, versus Samuel Nuzum and Austin Hanna came up. It was appealed from the court of Justice Stanton Thomas in Columbiana, where judgment was rendered for the plaintiff by default. The jury brought in a verdict for the defendants last evening, after being out about half an hour. The plaintiff alleged that in September, 1901, he purchased from the defendants about 30 tons of baled hay to be delivered by them at the station at Signal, this county, as soon as a car could be secured. When thus delivered the hay was to be weighed and paid for at the rate of $9 a ton.

The plaintiff said that the hay was so delivered and put in the cars; and that he was there to pay for it, but the defendants did not appear. Mr. Hisey said he went to them and tendered the money and demanded the hay, but the defendants refused to allow the shipment and disposed of it to other persons. He asked damages in the sum of $50. The defendants denied that the money had been tendered.

CANALS OF THE STATE SUFFERED GREATLY*The High Water Has Wrought Great Damage in Several Sections of the State.

Columbus, March 3.—(Special)—Chief Engineer Perkins, of the state public works, has been informed that the canals of the state have suffered much damage in consequence of the recent high water. The northern division of the system seems to have sustained the most damage.

At Coshocton the flood is reported to have been the highest since 1898, and four serious breaks occurred in the canal near Canal Dover. Supt. Charles Hatch, of Akron, reports a 40-foot break in the canal on the Summit level, above Wolf creek lock, and other minor losses. Mr. Perkins will make an inspection and arrange for the repair of all breaks.

Troublesome Sadie.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special)—Sadie Huddleson, an notorious character, who originally came from Leontia, was before Mayor Farrell last evening and was fined $15 and costs and committed to the county jail until fine and costs are paid. Sentence was suspended, however, providing Sadie will leave the city and remain in permanent exile. She has been in similar trouble here before.

WARRANT OUT
FOR A TEACHER*Trentvale Schoolmaster Accused of Cruelly Beating a Boy.*WOUNDS SHOWN THE MAYOR*By the Boy's Father and a Startling Story Told by the Lad.*CASE UNDER INVESTIGATION

With ugly bruises on his frail, little body from the chest downward, Willie Taylor, led by his father, W. G. Taylor, a potter employed at the K. T. & K., walked into the city hall this morning and after the marks of violence had been examined by the mayor and a number of others, the father had a warrant issued for the arrest of Prof. E. E. Price, principal of the Trentvale school, charging him with assault and battery.

The injured lad is only 10 years of age and has been a pupil of Prof. Price. To the mayor he stated that his teacher secured two hickory sticks yesterday and in the presence of another youth whipped him unmercifully. At the conclusion of the chastisement, he states, that Prof. Price threw the sticks into a fire and burned them.

In making an examination of the wounds inflicted by the alleged flogging Mayor Davidson counted 17 separate and distinct bruises. He states that they were horrible to behold and that the boy could not help suffering the most intense pain. Though the warrant was issued for the teacher's arrest he was not taken in hand by an officer, but was immediately notified to appear for a hearing this evening.

Mr. Taylor, father of the boy, upon learning of his son's treatment, became much exercised over the affair and started immediately to have the law take hold. He first applied at the office of Supt. Rayman, where he was told that an investigation would be made. This was not satisfactory, and he went to the court of Squire McLane.

The penalty that can be imposed for the offense charged is a fine of not more than $200 and imprisonment of six months, or both.

HIS COUSIN DROWNEDFrederick E. Nelly Receives Sad News About a Towboat Employee.

Frederick E. Nelly, a well known teamster of this city, received a telegram this morning from Pittsburg containing the information that his cousin, Louis Kraft, an engineer on one of the towboats, had fallen overboard from his boat and had been drowned. The particulars of the affair could not be learned.

ANGRY WATERS NOW SUBSIDINGPeople in the Lately Inundated Districts Busily Engaged in Repairing Flood Damage.

The river is within its bounds again today and except for the thick layer of mud that covers every spot touched by the waters there is scarcely a sign of the overflow. The water is falling much more rapidly than had been expected, a decline of eight feet since the highest stage of 4 a. m. Sunday being noted.

The residents of Jethro Hollow, whose homes were partly submerged, are hard at work today removing evidences of the flood. The muddy water deposited thick layers of sediment wherever it stood for any length of time. This must be removed, the floors scrubbed and dried before carpets can be put down, the furniture replaced before the rooms are ready for occupancy again. The shanty boatmen have found constant employment in keeping their floating homes adjusted to the rapidly falling waters.

The river potteries have entirely recovered from the flood and are in full operation again today. At the Thompson, where the water covered a large area, the removal of the mud and silt

GRANDCHILDREN
WERE DISINHERITED*THE REASON COURT IS ASKED TO SET ASIDE A WILL.*Particulars of the Contest Inaugurated Over a Columbiana Estate.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special)—In the contested will case from Columbiana in which William Hisey et al. bring suit against Alice B. Wise et al. asking that the will of the late Matthias Nolf, of Columbiana, be set aside, in compliance from an order from common pleas court the will, testimony and all papers pertaining thereto has been filed in that court. Nolf bequeathed to his daughter, Mrs. Alice B. Wise, of Columbiana, a house and lot in Columbiana; 81.8 acres near the town and another tract of 3 acres in Fairfield township. He placed the value of these bequests at $2,500, of which he said $1,500 was given to his daughter for her dutiful services rendered him in his declining years. To his son George Nolf, of Columbiana, he bequeathed $1,000 in money and to his nephew, William B. Nolf, of Fairfield township, $500. The residue of the estate valued at about $12,000, is to be equally divided between the daughter, Mrs. Wise, and the son, George Nolf.

Mr. Nolf says in his will that he makes these bequests having in mind the children of a deceased daughter, Mrs. Joseph Hisey, by his first wife, all of whom he disinherits. The will further provides that if either of his daughters or sons contest the will the portion of the contestant shall be revoked and go to the other.

The heirs are preparing to fight the suit brought by the disinherited grandchildren, and have retained as their counsel, Attorneys Fred D. Lodge, of Columbiana, Charles S. Spenser, of Lisbon, and probably General A. W. Jones, of Youngstown.

SUIT IS ENTERED
AGAINST GOV. NASH*He Is Accused of Wrongly Managing an Estate of Which He Was Executor.

Columbus, March 3.—(Special)—In a suit filed in the probate court of Franklin county, Governor George K. Nash is charged with mismanagement of a trust fund of $10,000, established under the provision of the will of the late David W. Brooks, of which he was appointed executor. The plaintiffs, Thomas S. Brooks, David W. Brooks, Faith Brooks and Herbert Brooks, allege that the defendant did not faithfully perform his duties as executor and that he is indebted to them in the sum of $16,000.

Governor Nash insists that he has managed the trust according to law and stands ready to meet the legal issue raised.

ACTION UPON
ROBISON CASE*Pardon Board Expected to Render Its Decision at a Meeting Tomorrow.*VERY STRONG APPEALS MADE*The State Board of Health Suffers a Serious Loss by Death.*AN ALLIANCE ANTIQUARY*From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, March 3.—A report will probably be made on the case of Zach. S. Robison, serving a life sentence from Columbiana county, at the next quarterly meeting of the state board of pardons, which will be held on Thursday. Randolph W. Walton, clerk of the board, gave it as his opinion that a decision would be given in the case at the meeting, but of course declined to say what it would be. Hon. Charles C. Connell, of Lisbon, appeared before the board in Robison's behalf at the last meeting and presented a petition numerously signed by leading Columbiana county citizens requesting that he be pardoned. Letters were also received from Warden Darby and ex-Warden Coffin, of the Ohio penitentiary, declaring Robison was the best behaved prisoner over which either had ever had jurisdiction. Both officials asked for clemency.

Dr. Charles Rice, of Alliance, who was in this city several days ago, said he had begun the preparation of a genealogical history of the Hole family, of which he is a connection and which has many representatives in Columbiana county, notably at Salem. He will leave for England in about two weeks, where he will spend six weeks delving into ancient records for data on the early history of the family. Dr. Rice has in his possession a collection of autograph letters, said to be the finest extant. He has the signatures of all the signers of the first constitution of Ohio. His residence at Alliance, which has 20 rooms, is filled with quaint curios of almost every description, among which are two pipe organs, one being the first instrument of the kind brought to this country from Germany. The doctor gave an "old folks' party" several years ago which drew at attention of the entire country and gave him much prominence. While here he searched the musty archives of the state library in quest of autograph letters of famous personages.

Hon. Charles B. Galbreath, state librarian, will be one of the speakers at the dedication of the Carnegie library at Greenville, Drake county, March 13. Governor Nash, Secretary of State Laylin and State School Commissioner Bonebrake will also speak. The building will cost about $31,000, of which sum Carnegie donated $25,000, the balance being subscribed by a local banker.

B. H. Flynn, the well known engineer of the state board of health, is dead of scarlet fever. Dr. C. O. Probst, secretary of the board, says his death is a great loss both to the board and to the state. He was aged 27 and was entering upon a career of great promise. He had paid many visits to Columbiana county in an official capacity. At the time he was stricken he was establishing stream gauging stations throughout the state, the special line of work taken up by the board this year.

Following the example set by East Liverpool and 16 other cities of the state, the Columbus barbers have adopted a new schedule of prices, providing for a charge of five cents for a neck shave and an equal sum for hot towels.

Avery Rambo has completed a five-year sentence for robbery from Columbiana county.

Old Directors Re-elected.

The annual election of three members of the board of directors of the Pottery Building & Savings association was held last night and resulted in the re-election of Thomas Plunkett, W. L. Smith and John W. Vodrey. Heretofore these meetings have been held on the first Monday in March. Hereafter they will be held on the second Monday in January.

NO SHELTER OR FOOD FOR STRIKE-BREAKERS*ASHLAND, KY., INSTITUTES A BOYCOTT AGAINST SUCH MEN.*East Liverpool and Pittsburg Men Reported Among Those Who Were Turned Down.

According to a dispatch from Huntington, W. Va., fifty sheet steel workers of Pittsburg, upon their arrival at that city to take the place of the striking hundreds of the Ashland, Ky., mills, were induced to change their minds and return to the Smoky City. It states further, however, that another contingent of about sixty men from East Liverpool and Pittsburg have arrived and have given notification that they intend to go to work. As a result, the hotels and boarding houses have been warned not to give them food or shelter under penalty of a boycott.

When the local men are that have applied for the positions of the strikers is not known. It was thought that probably some of the men temporarily out of employment at the Chester mills had gone, but an investigation failed to discover the names of any. Reports from Wellsville are to the same effect, no workers of the neighboring city being known to have departed for the scene of the strike.

The conditions at Ashland have assumed an alarming state and it is predicted that unless the strikers and the officials of the mill come to a mutual agreement during the next few days, they will experience a time as full of excitement as was prevalent at Wellsville during the memorable strike of 1901. All trains and boats are being met by committees of the strikers and every man that enters the city is questioned closely as to his business and his intentions. No rush outbursts have been evident as yet, but fear is being entertained as to the result if the strike is prolonged.

CHARGES HER HUSBAND
WITH MISERLY HABITS*Mrs. A. H. Ritchie Makes Other Damaging Assertions in Her Suit for Divorce.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special)—Ocella Ritchie, of East Liverpool, has filed suit for divorce from Andrew H. Ritchie, for custody of their two minor children and for alimony. The petition says they were married May 9, 1886, at Ravenswood, Jackson county, W. Va., and that two children were born to them, Minnie, now aged 16, and William, now aged 8 years. Mrs. Ritchie says her husband has been guilty of gross neglect by reason of his miserly disposition, having wilfully failed to provide his wife and children with the common necessities of life, compelling them to subsist on charity and the wife's exertions. Mrs. Ritchie says that by her labor she has helped her husband to accumulate about $12,000 worth of property.

W. K. Gaston, of East Liverpool, is the plaintiff's attorney.

FOR LEGAL SEPARATION*Alleges That Her Husband Has Been Guilty of Abuse and Unfaithfulness.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special)—Lenora Morley, of East Liverpool, asks divorce from Edwin S. Morley and restoration of her maiden name. The plaintiff says she was married to the defendant in East Liverpool June 26, 1899. She charges unfaithfulness, gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty, specifying that in November, 1901, he was guilty of adultery with one Corinna Clantz at 1623 Bedford avenue, Pittsburg, and that in the same month, in their room in Pittsburg, her husband, while intoxicated, struck her on the head with a beer bottle and choked and otherwise abused her, desisting only when the neighbors interfered.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special)—Sheriff Leonard went to Salem this morning to have the Greiner bank property on Main street in that city appraised. The appraisal is made in the partition proceedings of Joseph O. Greiner vs. Rebecca A. Greiner and Mrs. Cyrus Metzger.

Judge Martin Recovering.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special)—Probate Judge J. A. Martin, who is ill with pneumonia, is getting along nicely and expects to be about again within a week. His condition was at no time considered dangerous.

VERY QUAIN
OLD VOLUME*Bible Owned in This City One of the Oldest English Books in America.*THE KING JAMES VERSION*Of Sacred Scriptures, With Much Other Interesting Matter, Printed in 1620.*VALUED FAMILY HEIRLOOM

One of the oldest books printed in English that exists anywhere in this country is a King James bible in the possession of W. C. Browne, a well known pottery salesman, of Third street, this city. It is a very thick octavo volume, printed at London in 1620, by Bonham Norton and John Bill. "Printers to the King's Most Excellent Majesty." It contains, in addition to the old and new testaments and apocrypha, the book of common prayer and church of England service, a description of Canaan and the bordering countries, genealogies of the chief personages of the sacred scriptures with family trees tracing the relationships of the bible patriarchs to Adam and Eve. It is supplemented by "Two Right Profitable and Fruitful Concordances or Large and Ample Tables Alphabetical," and also a "Book of Psalms Collected into English Meter." There is an elaborate and extended dedication of the volume to King James.

The book bears imprints on its various title pages showing that some portions of it were printed in 1619 and others as late as 1621. This bible has been in possession of Mr. Browne's ancestors for hundreds of years. Family tradition states that it cost $250 and was formerly the property of the first mate of the admiral's ship at the battle of the Boyne. Its ownership can be traced back to Christopher Ball, who was the great-great-great-grandfather of W. C. Browne, and to Robert McFadden, his great-great-great-grandfather. The autographs of both Ball and McFadden are found upon its pages.

Robert McFadden brought it from Ireland in the 18th century, and from him it passed into the hands of the family of William Browne, who was a lieutenant in the Revolutionary war and received for his services there a patent to 200 acres of land located in Warren county, Ohio, near Franklin, upon which his descendants still live.

The book is in a fair state of preservation and its quaint old English text and still more quaint spelling can easily be deciphered by the modern reader unless he becomes confused by the numerous old fashioned shaped s's and the frequent substitution of v for u and vice versa.

APPROPRIATION SUITS
FILED BY WABASH*To Secure Rights of Way to Build the Line in Toronto.

Toronto, March 3.—The Steubenville & Toronto Railway company (the Wabash) has started two more suits in probate court to appropriate land in Toronto for the construction of the road this spring. The first suit is against John Vollmer and David W. Bell et al to appropriate a piece of land 23x174 feet opposite the Cleveland & Pittsburg passenger station in Toronto. The line of the proposed railroad has been located through this property and the petition states that the parties have been unable to agree on a price.

The second suit is against Amanda Stewart and William R. Stewart et al and is to appropriate three and a half acres of land in the north end of Toronto. By the plat filed with the petition it is shown that the yards of the new railway are to be located on this tract of ground. The preliminary hearing in both cases is set for Tuesday, March 10.

It is stated that these are only the initial suits, as a number of others of like character are in course of preparation.

Marriage Licenses.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special)—William H. Arb and Sadie C. Moore, both of East Liverpool, and Clayton Vollmer and Vester Beight, both of Columbiana, have been licensed to marry.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

FINE AMERICAN PRODUCTS.

The modern use of clay products is extending rapidly, and in many ways not thought of a decade ago, especially in structural work and in paving. This tendency must necessarily continue, not only because the plastic nature of clay allows it to be moulded into varied and attractive designs, and because the product affords the most fireproof and durable building material known, but also because of the growing scarcity of timber in the more readily accessible localities. There is probably no variety of clay products, from the common brick to the finest art china, that is not made in the United States. The growth of the pottery industry has been really astonishing during the past 10 years, and as building operations involving great increases in production are still being carried on it is reasonable to suppose that the next decade will see a great improvement, not only in the amount of ware and diversified lines manufactured, but also in the quality of the articles. The aim of all potters is to set a high standard, and with this laudable object in view, the time has arrived when it is not necessary for buyers to leave the borders of this country to get an order filled for any grade of ware.

"WOMAN POTTERS."

"The women of America," says an exchange, "owe their rapid progress principally to the great exhibitions, particularly the Chicago exhibition of 1893. They used to be shy about labeling their pottery 'made in America.' Now, so much have they advanced in the art, that for artistic and ceramic pottery they are hard to beat. It is in the decorative pottery that the woman potters excel, and her advancement in this line is due to the establishment of the 'Cincinnati School of Design,' which was opened in 1875. The ladies of this school painted cups and saucers so exquisitely that many of them realized $25 at the exhibition. This gave an impetus to the new industry. Miss McLaughlin then successfully imitated the Limoges faience, and received an honorable mention at Paris in 1879. This stimulated other ladies and gradually a colony of women workers gathered together at Cincinnati, and now the 'Associated Artists of Cincinnati' give to the world many beautiful examples of artistic work."

WANTS THE ALLEYS.

One of the concessions asked by the Pennsylvania company, if granted by the city council, will prove a serious handicap to the Cartwright pottery and to many individuals. The company has asked for the possession of the alley running parallel with the tracks from a point near the passenger station to Jackson street. If this is given them the Cartwright plant will be practically isolated and entirely inaccessible for teams. They would be hampered seriously in the operation of the plant, as there is no other practicable route by which it can be reached with teams.

John Cartwright has called the attention of the members of the city council to the injury the granting of this concession will do his plant and several members have already assured him that his interests and that of others will not suffer.

PACKERS FLOODED OUT.

The high water Sunday reached the packing shed at Cartwright's, but very little damage was done. Precautionary measures had been taken and everything of value in the shed was in a place of safety when the waters entered. Yesterday the packing crew had a hard job cleaning up.

NO. 10'S DELEGATES.

Turners' and Handlers' local No. 10 last night elected delegates to the next convention of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters to be held in Wheeling. A large number of names were placed in nomination and the following were chosen: Samuel Burgess, Henry Shell and Frank Huff; alternates, Thomas Hall, Henry Horst and Alfred Jewell. The local was almost unanimously of the opinion that a franchise for the proposed new street car line to the East End should be granted.

MMET TONIGHT.

Jiggermen's local No. 12 will hold an important meeting tonight in Brotherhood hall, when delegates to the national convention and to Trades and Labor Council will be elected. This year the local will send five delegates to the convention and already enough names have been placed in nomination to warrant the election being spirited.

NO. 48'S MEETING.

Warehousemen's local No. 48 elected three delegates to Trades Council at their meeting last night. Those selected were: George H. Smith, Lawrence White and T. O. Torrence. The union has also endorsed the proposed new street car line to the East End projected by C. A. Smith.

FIRE BRICK PLANT.

An extensive fire brick plant is to be erected this season by Edward Nicholson and McCready Bros., of Port Homer, on lands purchased by these gentlemen some time ago. The plant will be located between the C. & P. and Wabash railroads and will be modern in every particular.

MUCH IMPROVED.

Cyrus Bailey, the well known operative, who has been undergoing treatment at a Pittsburgh hospital for the past month, has returned to his home here. He is greatly improved and the chances are bright for his complete recovery.

MOVED TO CAMERON.

Charles Macauley, of Sebring, the first superintendent of the clay department of the Oliver China company, has moved to Cameron, W. Va., to take a position at the new pottery there.

AMONG THE WORKERS.

Miss Lina Capp, of the decorating room at the Dresden, has been ill for several days.

George Drake has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to return to his work in the biscuit end at the Union.

Jenks Morgan, of Cartwright's, left Saturday for Mt. Clemens, Mich., where he will spend several weeks for his health.

A dance is to be given by the Ladies of the Golden Eagle at Columbian Park March 4. Admission, 35 cents.

Center Township Nominations.

Lisbon, March 3.—(Special).—Nomination entries for the Lisbon and Center township Republican primaries, to be held Saturday closed at noon yesterday. The following candidates will make the race: Mayor, George T. Farrell; city clerk, Lodge Riddle; city treasurer, W. H. Hepburn; city marshal (one to nominate), Louis Bowman and David Ellis; board of public affairs (three to nominate), George B. Harvey, W. M. Hostetter and E. M. Crosser; council (six to nominate), Charles Huston, P. M. Armstrong, N. H. Ramsey, C. F. Briggs, William H. Barr, T. G. Francis; board of education (two to nominate), Al Wright and Charles S. Speaker; township trustee (one to nominate), John Adams and George Hurst; township treasurer, W. H. Hepburn; assessor, south precinct, D. C. Barlow; north precinct, Edward Chandler.

BIG DOG SHOW OPENS TOMORROW

Best Kennels in the Country Have Entered Their Entire String. Locals Interested.

Much interest is being taken locally in the bench show which opens in old city hall, Pittsburgh, tomorrow morning. It is to be the effort of the Duquesne Kennel club and it is predicted that it will outclass any witnessed this season. Among those who will figure conspicuously at the show are H. Homer Knowles and R. L. Edmonston. The former has entered quite a number from his Alonsta Kennels and feels confident of making a creditable record with them, notwithstanding that they will be matched against some of the finest of the best kennels in the country. Mr. Edmonston has entered "Max," his fine pointer. The dog is known by every man any child in the city and if he fails to carry away a prize many will be disappointed.

The majority of entries being made are whole kennels. Among the most important kennels are those of William G. Rockefeller, of New York, which enters beagles; George Douglas, of Woodstock, Can., cocker spaniels; W. T. Payne, cocker spaniels; G. M. Carnochan, New York, fox terriers, which this year include the cream of the old and new winners, among them the best smooth fox terrier in the world lately imported, Champion Barkby Ben; Dr. Folken's dachshunde, of Cleveland; Miss Alger, Great Neck, L. I., French poodles; Mrs. Lee's Alta kennels, Toledo, St. Bernards; Mrs. E. S. Woodward's Scottish, Irish, Alredale terriers and bull dogs; Newton Abbott kennels, New York, collies, including Champion Moreton Hebe, recently purchased from Vancroft kennels, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Jack Brazier, Bay Shaw, L. I., her kennel of Scottish terriers; Dr. C. F. Moichenbacher's kennel of dachshunde; Frank F. Dole, New Haven, Conn., his kennel of bull terriers; Norfolk kennels, Toronto, Can., fox terriers.

Messrs. Knowles and Edmonston will be accompanied by R. W. Sample and Dr. Toot. Others will also likely be present.

FREEDOM MASCOTS WILL PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Will Contest With First Intermediate Y. M. C. A. Basket Ball Team. Notes of the Game.

The first intermediate Y. M. C. A. basket ball team will play the Mascots, of Freedom, Pa., here tonight, and a spirited contest is expected. The home team has been practicing faithfully for this game, which to them is one of the most important of the season. The visiting team is known to be a strong one and it will require the best work of the locals to win a victory. Their lineup will be: Evans, W. Watkins and S. Bucher, forwards; Erlanger, center; Hymes and R. Bucher, guards. The Mascots did not send their lineup. The game will be called at 8:30.

The second intermediate team received new uniforms this morning. This team are considered almost as strong as the first intermediates and in several contests have shown that they are dangerous rivals. The first intermediates were beaten by them in a practice game recently.

Homestead will be here Friday night for a game with the first team and Saturday the latter team will go to Freedom to meet the first team in that city.

New Track at Youngstown.

Plans are being perfected for a new half-mile track at Youngstown, to be built on the south side of the city. The old track which has been known for so many years by horsemen is now in the hands of George Tod. The land has become too valuable for use in that manner and it is the question of but a year or so when it will be cut up into building lots, in the most fashionable part of the city, and the new track will be necessary. There is plenty of capital behind the project and it will be pushed through successfully.

SPORTING MISCELLANY.

Jack Johnson, the California heavyweight, defeated Sam McVey at Los Angeles, a few nights ago and at once issued a challenge to Jeffries.

Boxing has been resumed in Louisville in spite of the fact that the authorities refused to allow "Young" Corbett and Terry McGovern to fight there recently.

Joe Gans and Steve Crosby, of Louisville, have been matched to fight before the Whittington Park Athletic club of Hot Springs March 11. Bat Masterson will referee the bout.

"Young" Griffo, who has been in trouble almost constantly since he came to this country, was sentenced to three months in jail for creating a disturbance in Chicago the other day.

"Kid" Davis, who won a rattling fight in London the other night, is colored and a native of London. He has issued a challenge to box any bantam in England for $500 to $1,000 a side.

Andy Tokell, who lost the world's championship bantamweight battle to Harry Rorbes at Detroit Friday night, says that the Chicago fighter is the cleverest and strongest man he ever met.

Jimmy Britt, in answer to the announcement that Frank Erne intends to return to the ring, says: "If Erne is sincere and if the International A. C. of Ft. Erie gives us a purse I will come east and fight him."

$1.00 REWARD, $1.00.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that their is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and restoring nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

A VETERAN AT REST

Impressive Funeral of W. J. Hoyt, Late of the Eighth O. V. I.

The funeral of W. J. Hoyt was held at 3:30 this afternoon. The funeral was largely attended. Veterans of the Spanish-American war, of which Mr. Hoyt had been a member, brother members of the Tribe of Ben Hur and a large number of friends and relatives of the family were also present. The remains were brought to the Erie street M. E. church, where Rev. G. W. Orcutt preached an eloquent funeral ceremony. A number of floral tributes were presented by friends of Mr. Hoyt, a handsome one, from former associates of the street force and fire station, in the shape of a maltese cross, as well as a beautiful emblem from Pan American Court, Tribe of Ben Hur.

Ben Hur Tribe Prospers.

The Tribe of Ben Hur held an excellent meeting last night, a large number of visitors being in attendance. Six new members joined the body. Word was received from the band instruments, which have been delayed for over a week, to the effect that three of the instruments at the factory were found to be defective and that it would be necessary to replace them, which will take only a short time, when the whole order will be shipped.

Victim of Peculiar Accident.

Daisy, aged 7 years, daughter of H. F. Thomas, of Oakland, had one of her fingers badly lacerated. The girl, while playing, caught her finger, which had a common ring on it, while hurrying through a doorway. The finger swelled quickly and Dr. Hendershot was called, who took the girl to a jeweler, who, after some difficulty, succeeded in sawing the ring through. The finger was dressed and will heal.

Will Perpetuate His Name.

A number of the members of Hoyt Court, 1101, of the Orient, are unaware of the fact that the court had been named in honor of W. J. Hoyt, whose funeral was held today. This will in a great measure perpetuate the name of the departed brother, who was esteemed by all who knew him.

"BETTER HEALTH" NOW THE CRY

Druggist Will Reed Advises the Thin And Sick to Use Mi-o-na And Be Plump And Well.

Judging from the advertising columns of leading magazines and news papers there is a wave of physical culture and health food habit sweeping the country. Better health is the cry of the times.

Look into the faces of the men and women we meet in the streets of East Liverpool and see how large a proportion are thin, have drawn lines of care, and are wrinkled and haggard before their time. What these people need, says Druggist Will Reed, is Mi-o-na, a flesh-forming food and restorer of health and strength to the digestive organs.

If you feel unhappy and cast down, if your food fails to digest; if your skin is sallow; if you are losing flesh; if your eyes lack brightness; if you feel dull and weak, be sensible and use Mi-o-na. It will aid the food to digest; it will strengthen the digestive organs; it will build up the vitality; it will restore good, firm, healthy flesh, filling in the outlines and restoring pleasing plumpness and symmetry.

Mi-o-na has been so uniformly successful in curing all diseases caused by weakness of the digestive organs, that Druggist Will Reed is selling it under the positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. A guarantee like this speaks volumes for the merit of Mi-o-na. No one can afford to suffer longer, or to be thin and weak, now that there is a chance like this to obtain a reliable remedy that costs nothing unless it restores health and strength.

"I have every reason to recommend the Dr. Miles Remedies as the Heart Cure saved my life. I am a large man, considerably over six feet in height, weigh nearly three hundred pounds. Some years ago my heart was so seriously affected that I never expected to get well. Doctors pronounced my case incurable. I noticed your advertisement in some paper, and bought six bottles of the Heart Cure. I felt great relief and improved so I continued until I had taken twelve bottles. My trouble was organic and I never expected to be permanently cured, but thanks to Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, I have kept in good health and have been able to follow my profession continually since first taking the remedies eight years ago. I am a musician, teacher of instrumental and vocal music, musical conductor, etc. I have taught all over the state of Michigan and have recommended Dr. Miles' Heart Cure to thousands of persons in all parts of the state and have heard nothing but good reports. I have induced dozens of persons in my own county to take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure as my word is never doubted by those who know me."—C. H. Smith, Flint, Mich.

"I am a druggist and have sold and recommended Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, for I know what it has done for me, and I wish I could state more clearly the splendid good health I am enjoying now. Your Restorative Nervine gives excellent satisfaction."—Dr. T. H. Wells, Druggist, Hot Springs, S. D.

REPORTS AGREED TO.

Fortifications Appropriation and Alaskan Homestead Measure Sanctioned.

BILLS SENT TO CONFERENCE.

House Has Wearisome Time Listening to Roll-Calls—Some Business Transacted, but Democrats Still Maintain Filibustering Tactic.

Washington, March 3.—The senate yesterday passed the general deficiency bill after four hours' consideration and after it had been amended in several particulars. An amendment by Mr. Rawlins calling for an appropriation of $50,000,000 to further the work of irrigating the arid lands furnished material for considerable discussion. Mr. Rawlins contending that the surplus in the treasury could be better used in this manner than by turning it into the national banks. The amendment was rejected on a point of order.

When the Aldrich financial bill was taken up Mr. Teller continued his remarks begun Saturday. He was followed by Mr. Carmack, who replied to some criticisms of a recent speech by him on the subject of murders in the Philippines. During the course of the day the conference report on fortifications appropriation bill and the Alaskan homestead bill were agreed to. The immigration and omnibus public building bills were sent to conference.

After a brief executive session the senate at 6 o'clock took a recess until 8 o'clock.

Immediately on convening at 8 o'clock Mr. Dubois moved an adjournment. The motion was lost. After a private bill had been passed Mr. Dubois suggested the absence of a quorum. A quorum appeared and Mr. Mason presented the conference report on the postoffice appropriation bill, which was agreed to.

A house bill was passed granting the right of way to the Kenova and Big Sandy Railroad company through the government's lands at locks 2 and 3, Big Sandy river, Wayne county, West Virginia.

A house bill providing for a delegate to the house of representatives from Porto Rico in lieu of a commissioner was laid before the senate. A sub was offered by Mr. Foraker providing for the appointment by the president of three commissioners, whose duty shall be to make careful investigation into titles and claims of the Holy Roman Catholic church in Porto Rico and the United States to certain property there, to make findings and conclusions and to report to the president.

The substitute also provides that Porto Ricans may be naturalized. Mr. Foraker explained that at present Porto Ricans were worse off than aliens.

On objection of Mr. Tillman the bill went over until today.

In the House.

From 11 o'clock yesterday until late last night the house struggled laboriously against the Democratic filibuster, working steadily to wind up the necessary business of the session. Despite another special rule adopted early in the day legislation proceeded at a snail's pace. Roll-call followed roll-call on every proposition. The voices of the reading clerks were worn out by the ceaseless calling of the roll and several clerks from committees have been drafted to help out. Since Thursday last, when the filibuster was inaugurated, there have been over 60 roll-calls, as against 57 for the entire long session lasting from December, 1891, to July 3, 1902.

The members also show the effects of the heavy strain, but they are sticking to their posts. Last night the great hall presented a disheveled appearance. The floor was strewn with bits of paper, looking as if a snow storm had swept through the hall. In the galleries among the spectators were many weary watchers interested in bills doomed to failure, but still hoping on to the end. The proceedings were enlivened several times as the leaders of the respective sides crossed swords. Their tempers had not been sweetened by their long vigil and frequently the sparks flew.

The conference report on the Alaskan homestead bill and the immigration bill were adopted, the omnibus public building bill and the general deficiency appropriation bill were sent to conference. The Otgen bill to prohibit tobacco dealers from giving prizes, the bill to provide for a delegate from Porto Rico, a bill to advance Major W. C. Gorgas to the rank of assistant surgeon general and a bill for the relief of Lieutenant B. F. Handforth were passed. That was the net result of the session up to 2 o'clock last night.

Don't fool with a cold, no one can tell what the end may be. Pneumonia, atarrh, chronic bronchitis and consumption invariably result from neglected colds. Nothing can be compared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as a quick cure for colds and influenza, and by its use these diseases may be avoided. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

The Food That Does Good

Here is a food for invalids and for those with weak life functions, which, by its action on the blood, will help your body to throw off disease. For over a decade

OZOMULSION

(a scientifically medicated emulsion of pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites and Guaiacol) has been prescribed by the physicians of Greater New York and all other large cities in their daily practice.

They have used it with marked success in all cases of Weak Lungs, Colds, Coughs, Catarrh, Consumption and Throat Troubles; for Scrofula, Eczema, Pimples, Boils, Abscesses, and all skin affections. In fact, for all disorders caused by Mal Nutrition or the weaknesses of a body that is improperly or poorly fed.

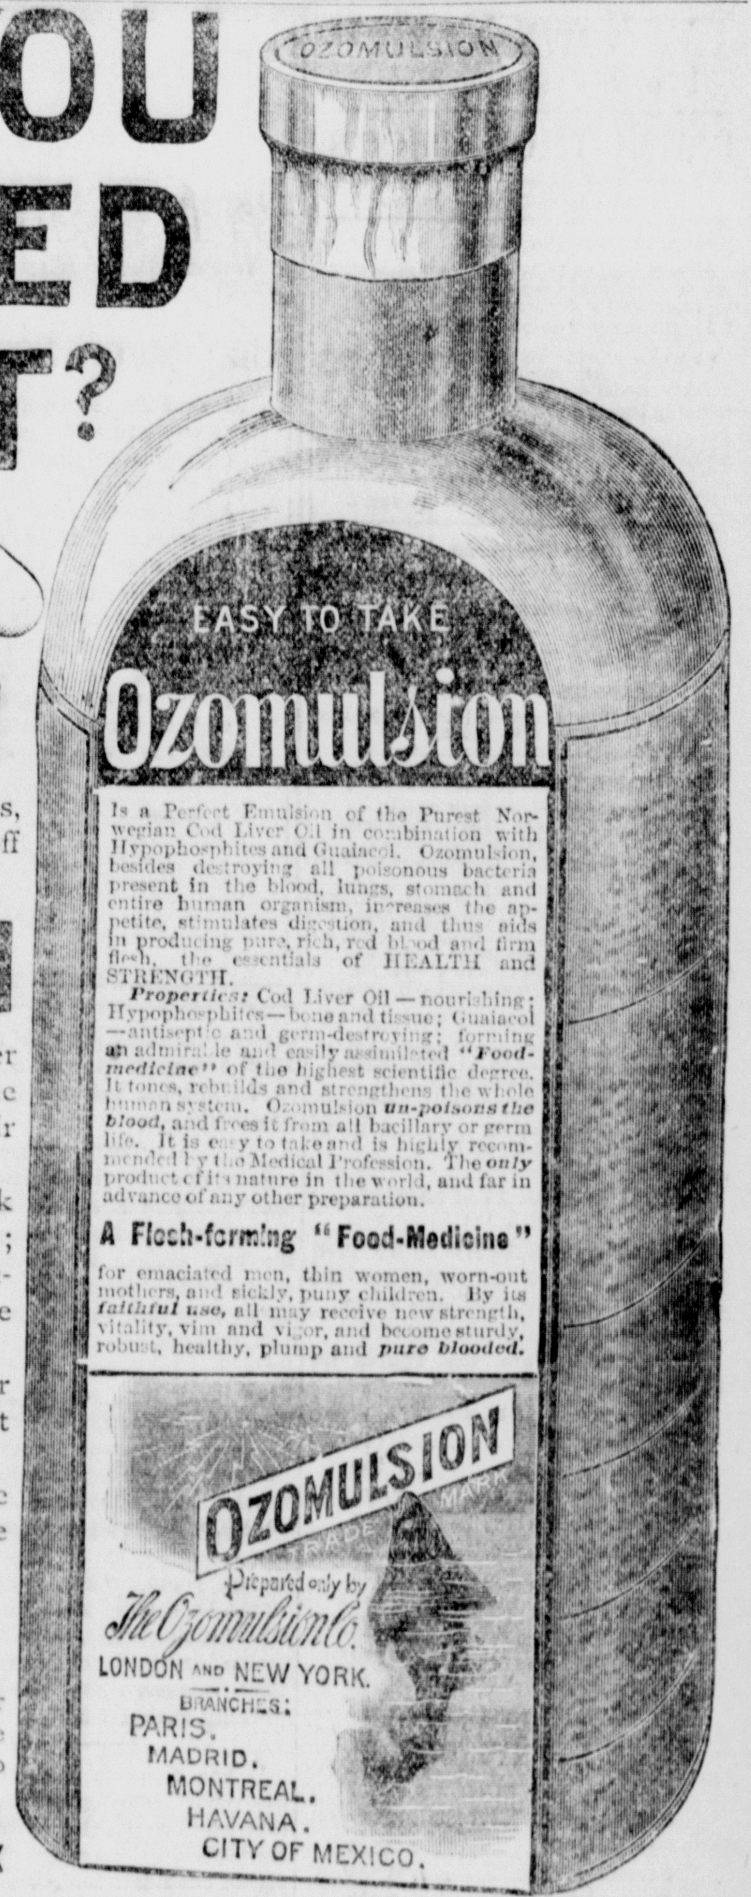

As a result, Ozomulsion has to-day a larger sale than any other emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, and is carried in stock by every druggist in the United States.

But still it may be that you have never tried it. So we have decided to make it possible for all to give it a test. We will therefore send

A Large Sample Bottle Free

to any address on request, so that invalids in every walk of life can test it for themselves and see what Ozomulsion will do for them. Send us your name and complete address, and the large sample free bottle will at once be sent to you by mail. Address—

A Story of the Flood

There was a cloud burst and the grocery store basement was partly flooded.

The grocerman sent the boy down to see if any damage had been done to the stock stored there.

15 minutes passed and the boy failed to return; 30 minutes and still no boy. Then the grocerman investigated.

He found the boy there all right, seated well above high water mark; a package of Uneeda Biscuit in his hand; his mouth full of the contents.

"What in the name of common sense have you been doing down here all this time?" inquired the grocerman.

The boy looked up with a good natured grin; gulped once or twice; finally gained control of his speech and replied:

"Geel! I ain't found a spoiled package of Uneeda Biscuit yet. I've opened and tried all of this big pile here, and this is the last package. They're just as good and fresh as ever!"

MORAL.—A hungry boy will "spoil" more good, fresh Uneeda Biscuit than a cloud burst.

Protected from dampness and dirt by the In-er-seal Package.

Fishermen in Peril.

Menominee, Mich., March 3.—About 20 fishermen are in peril on a large body of floating ice that suddenly broke loose Sunday afternoon between Bailey's harbor and Chambers island. A strong west wind has been carrying the ice floe out toward Lake Michigan, and it is feared that unless the men are quickly rescued it will be broken up by the waves at Death's Door, the entrance to Lake Michigan. Three men managed to get off the ice floe at Fish creek and three were rescued farther down the bay. It is reported that several more were rescued last night, just as the ice was bearing down on Death's Door. Captain Hill, of the Hill steamboat line, with a picked crew, has gone to the rescue.

TUESDAY, MARCH 3, 1903.

A word to advertisers. Attention is called to the Evening News Review's circulation statement for February, published today. We desire to remind our friends and patrons that the News Review is the only paper in East Liverpool that publishes a sworn statement of circulation. Further, aside from the vaguest and most indefinite sort of claims, it is the only paper that publishes any circulation statement at all. We give figures in detail. The News Review has made a practice of keeping the public informed of its growth, believing that business men who pay for advertising in its columns are entitled to that information, having the right to demand and know what they are getting for their money. Our long-standing and undisputed claim of the largest circulation in East Liverpool and Columbiana county is again splendidly borne out by the figures made public today. Business men do not need to ask themselves twice which is the best advertising medium when the evidence is before them that during the month of February an average of more than 3,300 copies of the News Review were printed and circulated daily. Moreover, these figures represent the actual circulation. We publish no copies for gratuitous distribution, none which are sent to distant towns to be given away or sold at half price. Our subscribers are mainly in East Liverpool, Wellsburg and Chester, and the paper reaches the people whom local business men desire to reach with their advertisements. Ours is the leading home newspaper, without a rival in its class. That is why its circulation, as well as its advertising patronage, is growing constantly.

Several of the rural newspapers of the county are saying disagreeable things because East Liverpool stands the best chance of capturing a few county offices next fall. Well, why didn't they get in the game, if they had favorite sons to boost? It is a little late to protest after the Republican entry lists are closed. Besides, there is no occasion for worry. Capable and competent Republicans will continue to fill the county offices, as usual. East Liverpool has more wealth, population and interests than any other section of the county and though some of her country friends would be glad to shut her out of the office-holding class, they have no occasion or right to grumble because they recognize the impossibility of working such a manifest injustice.

It has come to our attention that the report is being circulated in certain sections of the county that the News Review is against the East Liverpool candidate for prosecuting attorney. The News Review takes this occasion to repudiate the assertion as a baseless fabrication, and to challenge any person to point to anything said or done by this paper to give color to such a slur. We are absolutely neutral in this fight, knowing that only good men are in the race, and are perfectly satisfied to give our earnest support to the man whom the Republicans, at the county primaries, shall select as their candidate.

Galusha A. Grow, of Pennsylvania, who first entered the house of representatives as a member 51 years ago, retires from that body tomorrow. He has had an experience that would make a volume of reminiscences from his pen well worth reading. His public career has been both brilliant and honorable.

Carrie Nation is in jail again, this time in California. The world has ceased to take an interest in her erratic doings or to believe that by breaking the law she is helping the cause of temperance.

After trying for many years Delaware has at last elected a United States senator. The same result could have been accomplished in one day had the choice been left to a popular vote.

The sardine has deserted the coast of Breton and France has lost an industry. Eastport, Me., will be busier than ever canning "genuine French sardines."

It must be humiliating for the dignified United States senators to be kept in after school because they have not attended to their tasks in study hours.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Oliver Cope.

Mrs. Oliver Cope died Sunday morning at her home near Riverview cemetery after an illness lasting many weeks. Mrs. Cope has lived in this city and St. Clair township for many months and had an extensive circle of friends and acquaintances. She leaves a husband and four children, two sons and two daughters, as follows: Mrs. Seth Rauch, of Chester; Miss Laura Irwin and Tarun, who reside at home. The funeral services were held from the house at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Interment at Riverview cemetery.

Jason Morgan.

Lisbon, March 3—(Special)—The remains of Jason Morgan, whose death occurred Sunday at his home in Ravenna, was brought here at noon today for burial. Mr. Morgan was born in Wayne township, November 4, 1828. He went to Ravenna about twenty years ago, after having lived in Lisbon many years. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. Carl Mullenbrock and Mrs. Frank Peck, both of Minneapolis; James and Elmer, of Ravenna; Emmet and Ira, of Leetonia; Harvey, of Cleveland, and Miss Jeanette, of Lisbon. The remains were taken from the station direct to the cemetery, where the casket was opened and a large number of friends and acquaintances viewed the remains.

William Massey.

William Massey, aged 53 years, died at 9:30 this morning at his home on Jethro street after an illness covering a period of nearly two years. The arrangements for the funeral had not been made this afternoon, but it is probable that it will be held at the residence Thursday afternoon. He was one of the best known residents of the city and was employed for a number of years in the local potteries as a cover-dish maker. His last place of employment was at the Wallace & Chetwynd plant. About two years ago he began to suffer with an affection of the throat, which grew steadily worse until it caused his death. During the last year he had been unable to work. A wife and four sons, Fletcher, Joseph, Ambrose and Aaron, survive him.

Mrs. Rhoda Bevington.

Beaver, Pa., March 3.—Mrs. Rhoda Bevington, wife of the late Capt. Bevington, who was a well known riverman, is dead, aged 79 years, from apoplexy. She was twice married, her first husband being W. M. Teters, by whom she had four children, now living: Mrs. John F. Lowler, of East Liverpool, Mrs. Allen Murphy, of Pittsburg, Mrs. Edna Campbell, of Ohio, and William Teters. She leaves two sisters, who reside at Alliance.

Howard Massey.

Howard, the 1-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Massey, of Fairview street, died this morning after a brief illness from pneumonia. He was a grandson of William Massey, who died this morning. The funeral arrangements have not been made, but it is probable that it will be held at the home on Jethro street in conjunction with that of the grandfather.

FRIENDS AND VISITORS

Henry Herman, of West Market street, is seriously ill with grip.

Mrs. H. M. Fouts, of College street, is improving from her recent illness.

Mrs. Margaret Allison, of Trentvale street, is visiting relatives at Salineville.

Mrs. Loren Ware, of Salineville, is the guest of A. E. Bertele and family, Sixth street.

Mrs. Harry Weaver, of Harvey avenue, East End, who has been critically ill, is reported much better today.

Rev. Milton B. Pratt, D. D., who is visiting his aged father at Portland, Maine, is expected home tomorrow evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Arbuckle are enjoying an extended sojourn in Florida and will probably remain there several months before returning home.

Cyrus Bailey has returned to his home in this city after successfully undergoing an operation at the West Penn hospital, Allegheny. He is now greatly improved.

Lizzie, the 8-year-old daughter of Mrs. William Earp, who sustained a peculiar injury recently by the setting of a ring dropping into her ear, has recovered. The hearing of the ear is destroyed.

The Wade Jewelry Co. have removed to 164 Fifth street, where they are fitting up a commodious store room and optical parlors. 31-1t

HARD'S.

BUSINESS IS BRISK AT THE WHARFBOAT

Everybody Anxious to Ship Goods. A Large Shipment of Ware.

The high water of the past few days has been accompanied by a great rush of business at the wharf boat. The force of men employed has been increased from one to three men. This is aside from Wharfmaster Martin, who has been busy day and night for several days. Saturday night the largest shipment ever sent out on any boat from East Liverpool was taken by the Virginia. This shipment consisted of 118 large casks of ware. It required several hours for the Virginia to unload its cargo and take on this large shipment, which was sent down the river by the local potteries. It also seems that shipments of all kinds are larger than ever before. This speaks well for the local industries when it has been supposed that many of the plants were running with a reduced force. More eggs were handled at the wharf boat the past week than in any other equal length of time for several years.

The rush does not seem to abate any and despite the fact that it is next to impossible to get teams down near the wharf boat during the high stage of water, freight piles up high between boats. Wharfmaster Martin is an extremely busy man and he expects that the present rush of business will continue for several days and perhaps weeks.

THE EQUITABLE STATEMENT.

Splendid Showing of the Strongest of All Life Assurance Companies.

The annual statement of the Equitable Life Assurance society shows a remarkable growth during the past year, and indicates continued prosperity in the future. Over $281,000,000 worth of new assurance was issued during 1902, bringing the total amount of outstanding assurance up to the tremendous sum of $1,292,448,000. More than $29,000,000 was paid out to policyholders during the year, and over $1,000,000 was added to the surplus fund, making the present surplus $75,127,496—larger by many millions than the surplus of any other insurance company in the world.

Edward A. Woods, manager of the Western Pennsylvania agency, expects to do even a larger business this year than last, and will be able to give profitable employment to a number of active, energetic young men in this and other localities throughout the western part of the state. Men who would like to take up work with this company should get in communication with Mr. Woods at once.

OHIO'S SCATTERED SONS

More Than a Million And a Quarter of Them Living in Other States.

There are more than a million and a quarter natives of Ohio living in other states. No other state has such a record.

New York and Pennsylvania have a much larger population than Ohio, but neither state contributes so much to the population of other states as Ohio. Nearly 200,000 of Ohio natives live in Indiana, 140,000 in Illinois and 90,000 in Michigan.

Kansas has 90,000, Iowa 90,000, Missouri 80,000, Pennsylvania 60,000, New York 30,000, Colorado 25,000, California 35,000 and Washington 20,000.

There are 10,000 Ohio natives living in Texas, 5,500 in Massachusetts, 7,000 in Montana, 15,000 in Oklahoma, 700 in Alaska and 4,300 in Washington, the national capital. Ohio men are distributed throughout the country so generally that there is no state in which they are not to be found in considerable numbers, and usually taking an important part in its public and business affairs.

Ohio is not so populous a state as Illinois, but at the time of the last federal enumeration it had a larger number of persons in the military and naval service of the United States than its more populous neighbor. It has more of its natives in Hawaii than Pennsylvania, and is practically the only western state which has contributed much to the population of New England. Ohio men are to be found everywhere in the United States whether near or far from home.—New York Sun.

A friend gave me a part of a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with instructions to closely follow the directions and I wish to state that after the first day I could notice a decided change for the better, and at this time after using it for two weeks, have no hesitation in saying I realize that I am entirely cured. From this time on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will be in my house constantly." This remedy is for sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

NO!

10 pieces of copyright music, latest popular pieces of the day, for $1.00.

NO!

The reason, in order to keep up to date we have standing orders with the leading publishers for from 1 to 10 copies of each new issue. These are sent us soon as they are off the press. In 10 years we have accumulated more music than our limited space will allow, our shelves are running over. We must make more room or reduce our stock. We decide to sell 10 pieces for $1.00, or sent prepaid to any address for $1.10.

This music we have in stock and will not include the last copy of any one piece. Our clerks will not be allowed to play over music in this offer. We will, however, allow you to select three pieces that we have in stock, we will give you seven more either instrumental or vocal of our own selection, copyright music. Ordinarily these 10 pieces would cost you at least $2.50.

While this offer is not something for nothing it is very close to it. Offer for 30 days only.

WELLSVILLE

Many Persons Still in Wellsville Kept from Their Homes By the Flood.

The river has fallen sufficiently now so as to allow many people who were forced to vacate their houses when it was at its highest, to move into them once more, but most of those residing on Second and the upper end of Coal streets are still kept away from home by the water.

The Freedom Oil company, whose store room is on Second street, is having some difficult work to get at its stock, as the building is completely surrounded by water and the only way one can approach the place is with a skiff.

The high water has caused a great deal of distress among the Italians living on Third street. The lot being very low, the water backed in there from Second street, causing them to vacate the entire lower floor. The house is not a very large one and being deprived of the first floor it necessitates them living in extremely close quarters.

Train No. 331, which leaves this city at 6:30 a. m., left on time yesterday. The train went as far as George's Run, a short distance below Mingo Junction, where it was stalled on account of high water, the tracks being three feet beneath the surface of the river. After waiting there for several hours, with no visible relief from the situation, the crew finally decided to return to this city, which they did, the passengers resuming their journey on the afternoon train, the water having receded enough at that time to allow tracks to pass.

COUNCIL MEETING TONIGHT

Warm Debate Probable Over Question of Proposed Water Works Appropriation.

The regular meeting of the city council will be held at the city hall this evening, at which time many warm discussions are looked for. The water works board has asked council to appropriate sufficient funds to purchase the very latest and best water works equipment on the market. Supt. Ewing and Trustees Gerren, Donnelly and Stewart have visited at Pittsburg, Steubenville, and Andover, Mass., where they inspected the machinery of the different water works plants and found it satisfactory in every way. They wish to establish a modern apparatus here, but the one obstacle is they have not money enough on hand. They will, therefore, request council to make an appropriation.

The extending of the storm sewer at the West End will also be attended to, the bids for which have been received. The contract will be awarded this evening.

Action will also be taken in the "Wooster alley" case which was closed from traffic by the improvement of Clark avenue. Council has several other minor subjects which will be talked on at this meeting.

W. G. Stewart has returned from Holyoke, Mass., where he has been on a business trip for the city, relative to the new pumps which are to be installed here.

Mrs. S. D. Noragon returned to Cleveland last evening after spending several days with her husband, who is employed at the Wellsville shops.

They expect to move to this city as soon as a desirable house can be obtained.

An Enjoyable Ball.

The annual ball of local union No. 253, A. E. of M., was held last evening in the city hall. The colored folks generally turn out at a social gathering, and last evening was no exception to the rule, as a large crowd attended. Quite a number came from East Liverpool to join in the festivities. The orchestra, which was also composed of colored people, rendered some very fine selections. The dance did not begin until quite late, as it was late when the orchestra arrived. In spite of this fact, however, all reported a good time.

LODGE ANNIVERSARY

Pleasantly Celebrated By the Daughters of St. George—Enjoyable Program Rendered.

The anniversary of the organization of White Rose lodge No. 55, Daughters of St. George, was appropriately observed last night by the members of that organization by a literary program, followed by several hours of social intercourse. The following program was given and was heartily enjoyed by all the members.

Vocal and instrumental solo, Miss Ada Eardley; vocal solo, Miss Bettie Greenwood; piano solo, Miss Liza Fynn; recitation, Mrs. Sarah A. Harley; recitation, Miss Edna Farrall; vocal solo, Miss Anna Harley; recitation, Miss Hannah Purton.

After the program was finished the balance of the evening was spent with various games, which in turn was followed by refreshments. The White Rose lodge now numbers 93 members, and is now enjoying the greatest period of prosperity in its history.

Flood Wrecks Freight.

Gallipolis, O., March 3.—The Ohio river is 48 feet and rising fast. Lowlands are flooded and great damage has been done. A freight train of eight cars went through a trestle on the Kanawha and Michigan railway, the result of high water in the Great Kanawha river.

Confidence Reviving.

Mazatlan, Mex., March 3.—There was but one death from the plague at the lazaretto yesterday and none in the city. There are now 180 persons isolated under observation. Public confidence is somewhat reviving.

CHESTER MILL
READY TO RESUME

WORK WILL START AT THE PLANT TOMORROW.

Several Hundred Men Go On Now and Others Soon—Engine Running Well.

All Chester is delighted with the announcement that the American Tin Plate company will resume operation at its Chester plant tomorrow. Work has been suspended for more than three weeks and in that time rumors of all kinds have been afloat. All are now happily set at rest.

Several of the high officials of the mill have been here for several days watching the work on the engine. Engineers have been at work constantly trying to locate and remedy the defects and at last their efforts have been successful. This morning the final test was made and the great engine worked smoothly and was perfect in every detail.

STORE ROBBED

Money And Valuables Taken from the Place of Business of W. A. Hill.

The racket store conducted by W. A. Hill on Carolina avenue was visited by thieves Saturday night and a considerable amount of merchandise was taken. It was hard to ascertain the exact amount of the loss and every day more articles have been discovered missing. They also took $2.50 in change. The total loss will probably reach $35.

The robbery was kept quiet for several days, as there is a clue to the perpetrators of the theft, and it is expected that they will be detected in trying to dispose of some of the articles taken. This is the first business house to be visited by robbers in Chester for a long time.

Office Goes Begging.

There does not seem to be much eagerness to fill the position of town assessor. Thursday night was the time set for the closing of the filing of applications. As yet no one seems anxious for the position, which is a very important one, and was recommended by the finance committee at the last council meeting. The office of assessor has been filled the past year by the recorder, and in case no applications are filed, council may appoint Recorder Maxwell to act as assessor.

New Trust Company.

The New Cumberland Title & Trust company was recently organized with a capital stock of $40,000, one-half the stock to be taken by Pittsburg capital and one-half by local capital. About $16,000 of the local amount has been subscribed, leaving only $4,000 to be obtained, which it is thought will be secured in a few days. All of the Pittsburg stock is subscribed. John Shrader and Erastus Marshall are interested $2,000 each.

Trains Again Running.

The accommodation train did not get up this morning on its first trip, but was up at 9:30, as was the local freight. But little inconvenience resulted from the fact of the road being idle, as the mill and both potteries are well supplied with coal and with plenty of empty cars to load for their orders.

CHESTER NOTES.

J. H. Maxwell is on a business trip to Pittsburg.

Fred Sinclair and family have moved into the E. C. Baxter house on Adolphus street.

Mrs. B. I. Hillyard, of Carolina avenue, is seriously ill with an attack of typhoid fever.

W. O. Griffith, of Virginia avenue, has left for a visit with his parents at Kokomo, Ind.

William Logsdon and family, of Carolina avenue, will move with his family to Wheeling.

Miss Mamie Southworth, of Phoenix avenue, has returned from a visit to her parents at East Palestine.

A number of the mill men, during the enforced idleness, have taken jobs in the East End, on the grading of the C. & P. R. R.

A number of the members of Chester Council of Mechanics will attend the entertainment which will be given by the Daughters of Liberty.

Three of the old motormen and conductors, D. P. McBane, James K. Mayes and George Wynn, are back on their respective runs on the Rock Springs car line.

IN PRIZE RING STYLE

A Couple of Scrappers Settled a Dispute And Got Fined for it.

After months of threatening and fighting at long distance, James Monday and "Rags" McKenna came together last evening. They first met in the Diamond and after a debate decided that, to avoid interruption by the police, it would be better to adjourn to the hilltop, and each accompanied by a backer left for Thompson hill. A referee was also taken. Arriving at a selected spot a ring was formed and the two men started the bout. Which one received the worst of the engagement is not known, but from their appearances each got his full share and will call further encounters off.

Officer Morris met the fellows when they came down from the prize ring and placed them under arrest. They were fined $2 and costs each this morning.

Arthur Bidwell and William Sears, arrested in a disorderly house Saturday evening, were released last evening, the father of Bidwell paying both fines.

Electric Railway Company Organized. Kenton, O., March 3.—The Kenton and Southern Electric Railway company was organized yesterday, with J. S. Hershman, of Springfield, O., president; R. Emery, Columbus, vice president and secretary; C. S. D. Montgomery, Boston, treasurer.

A. F. Appleyard, of Boston, is one of the directors. It was voted to issue stock to the amount of $60,000. The company will build electric lines in Kenton and also a line to Bellefontaine.

Charged With Stealing Mail Pouch. Danville, Ky., March 3.—Postoffice Inspector Gibbons, of Cincinnati, and Chief of Police Holmes, of Danville, have arrested here Edward Nichols, Samuel Prather, William Tucker and Bud Hawkins, on the charge of stealing the mail pouch which was lost here in November. It contained about $75,000, mostly in revenue stamps, checks and drafts, with a small amount of cash.

Murderer Again Escaped. Huntington, W. Va., March 3.—William Erskstein, wanted in Culpepper, Va., for murder, was discovered riding bumpers on a Chesapeake and Ohio passenger train here yesterday. The conductor ordered Erskstein to leave the train, when the murderer assaulted him and escaped to the hills.

Tickets at a Premium.

Rome, March 3.—The struggle to obtain tickets for today's ceremony at the vatican on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the coronation of the pope has been quite unprecedented. It is expected that more than 70,000 persons will be present. The foreigners are especially chagrined at the difficulty experienced in obtaining tickets from the usual sources and the discontent is increased by the fact that good seats are offered for sale at the hotels at high prices. Most of the tickets have gone to the Italian bishops. The rector of the American college had over 500 applications for tickets and he had less than 200 at his disposal.

Morgan to Dine With Palma.

Havana March 3.—J. Pierpont Morgan and his party spent yesterday at Santiago de Las Vegas, province of Havana, visiting plantations and the experimental school. Late in the afternoon Mr. Morgan and the gentlemen of his party called at the palace by appointment and had an interview lasting 40 minutes with President Palma. It was afterwards announced that the visit was purely one of courtesy and that President Palma invited Mr. Morgan to dine at the palace on Wednesday.

Public Reception for Schley.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 3.—Admiral Schley arrived here yesterday. The admiral and his party were driven at once to the hotel, where they will make their headquarters during their stay of a fortnight in Southern California. The chamber of commerce will tender the admiral a public reception, probably this evening. Admiral Schley appeared well and in good spirits, having fully recovered from a severe cold.

Deserve Vote of Thanks.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 3.—The house yesterday passed the bill introduced by Mr. Booth, of Dallas county, prohibiting the manufacture, sale or giving away of cigarettes, cigarette papers or wrappers in this state, under penalty of a fine of from $5 to $100. The bill was passed by unanimous vote.

Another Grade-Crossing Accident.

Indianapolis, March 3.—Fourteen people were injured in a grade-crossing accident at midnight. A street car carrying 25 passengers was struck by a cut of freight cars at the Indianapolis, Decatur and Western railroad crossing, on Washington street. The car was thrown some distance and two box cars were overturned.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NOTES.

The president yesterday signed the arbitration and the Philippine coinage bills.

The postoffice department will shortly adopt a flag emblematic of the postal service.

The national geographic society is contemplating nominating a scientific geographer to accompany the Ziegler arctic expedition that is to start for the North pole in May or June of this year.

The monthly statement of the coinage executed at the mints of the United States shows that during February, 1903, the total amount was $9,196,880, as follows: Gold, $7,488,510; silver, $1,521,000; minor coins, $187,370.

Upon Secretary Hay's statement that the necessity no longer existed for the presence of a United States warship in Venezuelan waters the navy department yesterday cabled Admiral Coghlan that he might withdraw the Marietta.

Delegates from the Pittsburg chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution yesterday presented to the president a handsomely-framed picture of the historic block-house at Pittsburg that was erected in 1764 as a defense against Indians.

DATE FOR HEARING NOT FIXED.

Knapp's Family Trying to Prove Him Insane—Believed Body Found Is Hannah Goddard Knapp.

Hamilton, O., March 3.—Owing to the fact that Knapp pleaded not guilty yesterday and that he has not yet secured counsel, the date of his preliminary hearing has not yet been fixed. Prosecutor Gard and Judge Belden had a consultation in reference to calling a special grand jury, but no conclusion was reached.

The developments show that the family of Knapp intend to press the defense of insanity to the last. Knapp sat with his hands folded during the arraignment and seemed to be the most indifferent person in the court room. He seems to believe that his relatives will prove him insane and that the worst fate that awaits him is commitment to an asylum.

A dispatch received last night from New Albany, Ind., stated that the body of a woman was found floating in the Ohio river there yesterday answering the description of Hannah Goddard, including the gold band ring on the left hand and the gold earrings that Knapp maintained would be found on her body. The body had been in the water several weeks. Further details show that it is without a doubt the body of Mrs. Hannah Goddard Knapp. The jewelry and stockings found on the body were described to Knapp and Goddard, an uncle of the dead woman, and they both declared that they were those of Mrs. Hannah Goddard Knapp.

CROP CONDITIONS FOR FEBRUARY

Month Has Not Been Favorable for Farming Operations in Southern States.

Washington, March 3.—The weather bureau's general summary of crop conditions for February are as follows:

With excessive precipitation and low average temperature in the southern states, the month has not been favorable for farming operations in that section, but with lighter precipitation and only slightly deficient temperature, the Ohio and Upper Mississippi valleys experienced more favorable conditions. In California the first part of the month was abnormally cold, but the latter part was more favorable.

Winter wheat was well protected with snow covering during the severe weather from the 15th to the 19th, and the reports at the close of the month indicate that the crop is in very satisfactory condition. In portions of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky, however, the crop has sustained some injury from alternate freezing and thawing, while lowlands have suffered to some extent from overflows in the lower Ohio valley.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

Day on Wall Street Was Dull—Money Situation Weighs Heavily on the Market.

New York, March 3.—The closing rally in stocks on Saturday had some slight influence upon the opening dealings yesterday, but the advance was insignificant, and the market soon relapsed into dullness and neglect and a slow downward movement.

The money situation continues to weigh upon the market and the professional traders made the varying rumors regarding the chances of the Aldrich financial bill the nominal motive of their operations. The weight of the day's rumors inclined against the bill's chances and this was as-

CAPITAL AND LABOR.

Some Slight Differences of Opinion Regarding Wage Scale.

STRIKE ON WABASH IMMINENT

Present Season of General Prosperity Induces Laboring Men to Demand a Share—Strikes and Lockouts Increasing to an Alarming Extent.

St. Louis, March 3.—Unless certain demands for an increase in wages on the Wabash system east of the Mississippi river are granted by noon today it is probable that a general strike will be instituted. Committees representing the trainmen and firemen of the road sent ultimatums to President Ramsey late yesterday afternoon, notifying him that the result of the recent poll among employed members of their organizations was that the demand of 15 per cent increase for freight men and 12 per cent increase for passenger men east of the Mississippi, exclusive of the Canadian line, and double pay for double-header freight trains, must be conceded by noon today or a strike would be ordered.

The conductors and engineers notified President Ramsey at the same time that they would abide by the increased schedule granted a week ago and were not in favor of a strike.

After having received the notification committees President Ramsey last night issued a letter to the two committees, saying in effect that he desired to have the results of the polls in figures. He further stated that he recently had issued a new schedule of wages which meets the demands for employees west of the Mississippi, but if these demands were insisted upon over the remainder of the system the committees were answered now in a refusal to grant them and he was ready to confront a strike. President Ramsey last night said:

"I do not apprehend that we will have much trouble in running our trains in case there should be a strike. I understand that 80 per cent of the conductors voted against a strike, and I have a statement signed by a large number of switchmen and other employees stating that they will not go out and protesting against a strike being ordered."

W. L. Lee, first grand master of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, said last night:

"If President Ramsey does not make some concessions by noon tomorrow we will order a strike. While we may not tie up the system, it will be exceedingly difficult for him to get men to fill the places of at least 1,200 men who will walk out. It will take us several hours to get word to the men all over the system, but it will only be a question of a few hours before a good many trains will be without full crews."

Three Thousand on Strike.

Philadelphia, March 3.—Two strikes involving 3,000 hands were inaugurated here yesterday. Four branches of the United Garment Workers of America, including coat operators, tailors, pressers and button-hole workers, struck for better conditions, shorter hours and recognition of the union. The carriage and wagon workers and painters quit work because of the refusal of the employers to grant a minimum wage scale of $2.50 for a nine-hour day and a 10 per cent increase on piece work. More than 1,000 men are idle.

Painters Strike.

Pittsburg, March 3.—About 2,000 painters and decorators of the Pittsburg division of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America went on a strike yesterday morning. The action is the result of a mass meeting held Sunday afternoon, called to hear the report from the Master Painters' association concerning the demand of the painters for an advance from $3.20 per day to $3.60 per day. As the demands of the painters were refused, the men unanimously voted to strike.

Manufacturing Plant Burned.

Saginaw, Mich. March 3.—The entire plant of Thomas Jackson & Co., manufacturers of sashes, doors and blinds, located on the west side of the river, was destroyed by fire last night. Loss, $75,000; insurance, $50,000. Governor Bliss and Thomas Jackson are the heaviest stockholders.

Painters and Paperhangers Out.

Altoona, Pa. March 3.—The union painters and paperhangers of Altoona, employed outside the Pennsylvania railroad shops, are on a strike. They will stand firm until their demands are granted. The trouble is over the following scale, which went into effect yesterday: A nine-hour day, $2.25 for common painters, $2.50 for paper hanging, $2.70 for fresco painting, $5 for graining. Omitting price for graining, this is an average increase of 50 cents a day.

Strike Settled.

Wilkesbarre, Pa. March 3.—The carpenters' strike in this city was settled at 11:30 o'clock last night after a conference of eight hours' duration. It was in the nature of a compromise. The men will receive $2.60 per day as a minimum and eight hours' work.

Threaten General Strike.

Chicago, March 3.—Employees of the Chicago city railway and of the Metropolitan elevated railroad last night threatened a general strike that will tie up half the transportation lines in the city if they go into effect.

Carpenters Quit Work.

Pittsburg, Pa. March 3.—Over 100 carpenters and joiners went on a strike here yesterday. They demanded an increase of 30 cents a day in their wages, which the master builders refused to grant.

The man on the stage who does the trick of escaping from firmly tied ropes, submits to the bonds with a smile. He knows he can get out of the ropes that are being knotted. Put the same man in the woods and let Indian captors bind him to a tree for torture and he would struggle to the last against the bonds.

When the stomach is diseased there are bonds being woven every hour about the organs dependent on the stomach—heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, etc. The folly of mankind is to passively submit to the fastening of these bonds with no effort to escape until the pain they cause arouses fear.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures diseases of heart, liver, lungs, kidneys and other organs, when these diseases, as is often the case, have their origin in the diseased stomach.

"For a long time I was suffering and was hardly able to get about," writes Mr. Andrew J. Jennings, of Thomas, Tucker Co., W. Va. "Box 14." "I was bothered with kidney trouble and my whole system was out of order; had no appetite. A friend of mine told me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I did so and the first bottle restored my appetite. I took six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and some of the 'Pleasant Pellets' and feel like a new person."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from impurities.

Nature's Warning.

Nature has a way of warning you when danger approaches.

If you feel sluggish, "blue," run down, prostrated, out of sorts, your blood is in bad condition. You should at once do something to purify it. Life Plant is all you need, because it purifies the blood. It not only does that, but it restores the vital element in the blood. Life Plant renews life.

It is composed of roots and herbs, gathered from nature's field, and cures in nature's way. Life Plant is guaranteed to cure Rheumatism and all blood diseases. Its merits are testified to by thousands.

Mrs. Susan Lewton of Malvern, Ohio, writes: "I had rheumatism for one year and a considerable portion of the time I was so bad I could scarcely walk. My ankle was so swollen a great deal of the time, I could scarcely get on my shoe. My limbs were numb and I suffered continually. I tried a great many remedies, but was unable to get relief, until I tried Life Plant. I took four bottles and was entirely cured. It is a great remedy."

Killed in Quarrel.

Wilkesbarre, Pa. March 3.—An atrocious murder took place yesterday in the Lackawanna mine of the Temple Iron company at Olyphant. Frank Dombosky, a miner, got into a dispute with a mine runner named John R. Griffith over a can of oil which the latter accused the former of stealing. They came to blows and finally Griffith struck Dombosky on the head with a heavy mine sprag, killing him almost instantly. Griffith surrendered himself to the authorities and is now in jail at Olyphant. There had been a bitter feeling between the two men for some weeks past.

High Water Closed Mills.

Wheeling, March 3.—The crest of the rise was reached yesterday morning, when the marks showed a stage of 40 feet 3 inches. Hundreds of houses in the low-lying districts in Wheeling, Benwood, Martins Ferry, Bridgeport and Bellaire are partially submerged and considerable damage has been done. There has been an almost complete suspension of operations in the iron, steel and tin mills and the potteries and other industries. James Duffy, while being ferried across a South Side street, fell into the water and was drowned yesterday afternoon. There have been no other fatalities.

Havoc of Hurricane.

St. Johns, N. F. March 3.—A furious hurricane, the worst for many years, raged here Sunday. One schooner was wrecked, but the crew was saved. It is feared that other disasters have occurred along the coast. The gale has not yet abated. A number of bridges and fishing stations have been destroyed and the ice blocks the coast worse.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

Ignition of Gas in Coal Bin Causes Fearful Destruction.

DEAD ARE BURIED IN THE RUINS.

Six Men Thought to Be Killed and More Than Score Injured in Demolition of Cement Plant—Flames Add Horror to Casualty.

Easton, Pa. March 3.—Six men are thought to be dead and 25 or 30 others are injured, several of them seriously, from the effects of an explosion at the Edison cement plant, at New Village, N. J., seven miles from here, on the line of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad. A large part of the plant was burned. Six men are missing and it is feared their bodies are in the ruins. Their names have not been learned.

The most seriously injured, all of whom are burned, are: E. E. Darling, William Staats, Harry Rose, R. H. Goodwille, George Bowman, Clinton S. Race, Alexander Wolf, Harry Wilkmen.

All of these men have been brought to Easton. The remainder of the injured are being cared for at New Village and Stewartville, at farmhouses in the vicinity of the plant. Special trains have been running between New Village and Easton all night and more of the unfortunate men are expected to be brought to the local hospital. The explosion occurred in one of the large coal bins and was caused by the ignition of a quantity of gas. The day force had discovered a slight fire about 5 o'clock, but the men thought they had extinguished it. Foreman Rose went to the bin just before quitting and as he opened the door a terrific explosion occurred. The bin was blown to pieces and the workmen who were near it were injured. The wreckage took fire and the flames spread rapidly and for a time no effort was made to check its progress, the attention of the uninjured being directed to the care of their less fortunate companions. The coal bin, the coal boiler house, the fine coal house, the coal storage building, three conveyors and one receiving tower are in ashes. Assistance was asked from the Washington (N. J.) fire department. It is thought the flames will not spread to the other buildings.

INSURGENTS MEET WITH DEFEAT

Government Troops in Honduras Almost Annihilate Enemy—Rebels Commanded by American.

New Orleans, March 3.—The steamer Breakwater, from Puerto Cortez, Honduras, brought news yesterday of a desperate battle between government troops and a force of insurgents, under command of Lee Christmas, an American, which resulted in the defeat of Christmas and the almost complete annihilation of his little army. Christmas went to Honduras about six years ago and took part in the revolution which resulted in Senator Arias being seated in the presidential chair. As a reward for his work in that revolution Arias made him chief of police of Tegucigalpa and commander of all the soldiers in the capital.

Christmas is a close friend of Senor Bonilla, who now claims the presidency.

At the outbreak of the recent revolution he cast his lot with Bonilla. He organized an army in the interior of Honduras and was marching at the head of a column of 200 men, when he fell into a trap set by the government forces at Mani, in the valley of the Comeagua, about two days' march from the capital. He was attacked by the government troops from all sides and a fierce fight followed, which resulted in 60 of his men being killed and 100 wounded. Christmas, with 40 men, cut his way through the lines of the government troops and escaped. The government has offered a large reward for his capture, either dead or alive.

Penal Code for Philippines.

Manila, March 3.—The government is preparing to promulgate a penal code to supersede the Spanish code. Vice Governor Wright is the author of the new code. It has been renewed and revised by the other members of the Philippine commission and is modeled after those of several American states.

Gentlemen—Rheumatism is certainly one of the most tedious and painful troubles one can suffer from. I have lost many a night and shed many a tear from pain caused by rheumatism. The doctor said it was an excess of uric acid in my system which caused my joints to swell, also my hands, so that I could not use them. A neighbor who had been using told me of the great help derived from its use, and I decided to give it a trial. I need it without any visible results for three weeks, but the fourth this swelling began to diminish, and in six weeks I was like a new woman. My rheumatism gone. I thank and bless you a thousand times for this reliable medicine you have placed before the public.

Sincerely yours, MAMIE O'BRIEN, 180 S. Halsted St. Chicago, Ill.

The author of this letter is only one of hundreds who have written us words of praise for the medicine of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

N. B.—Although Dr. W. B. Caldwell did not prepare the formula for Syrup Pepsin with the expectation of making it a rheumatic cure, it is nevertheless true that certain ingredients of the medicine are used by practitioners in the treatment of rheumatism, and in a great many cases of which the above is a notable example, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has been known to effect a permanent cure.

CURE Bad
Backs

East Liverpool Backs!

FEW are the people in East Liverpool who never have a bad back. Nearly everyone you know has "now and then" an aching back—some of them suffer severely from backache pains, others have mild attacks that only harass, annoy and seem not serious. Many grievous mistakes are made through back neglect. Ever stop to think that there is reason for the weakness which causes every strain to the back—every cold—every exertion to bring backache pains? There will be less pain—less back trouble when 'tis understood the kidneys are to blame for it all nine times out of ten. The kidneys' constant call for help comes through the back—kidneys are overworked and become easily disordered, unable to perform their proper functions, then it is the back warns you to assist nature and right the wrong that is going on in the system causing impure blood to circulate and breed disease.

EAST LIVERPOOL PROOF.

Mr. Charles Smith, of 198 Fourth street, letter carrier, says: "I contracted a cold which settled in my kidneys and caused such severe pain across the small of my back that I could scarcely get around my trip. I thought it would wear off but as it did not, but grew worse, I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. Pharmacy, and took them. The result was the pain soon left me, and I am all right again."

Mrs. William James who lives at 283 Third street, says: "I was troubled off and on for eight years with a weakness of back and kidneys, dull, aching pain across my loins up under my shoulders blades and rheumatic pains in my right shoulder. The trouble affected my nervous system, causing a frequent fluttering of the heart and shortness of breath. I generally resorted to porous plasters, but the relief was only temporary. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy, obtaining instant relief and finally a cure."

Mr. William Terrance, fireman at engine house No. 1, says: "For some time I was annoyed with symptoms of either weakened or over excited kidneys. I had noticed more than one recommendation made by people living in East Liverpool about Doan's Kidney Pills and thinking that if the medicine performed half what it promised it might help me, I bought a box at Larkins' drug store. The treatment cured me."

Mr. Wm. Anderson, of 305 Lisbon street, East End, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found great relief from the treatment, although I am 70 years of age, and had about given up all hope of ever being helped. I took medicines; my back ached just the same, grew stiff and lame when sitting long or when lying in bed, and sharp twinges of pain and other symptoms convinced me my kidneys were out of order. Always on the lookout for anything that might bring relief, when I heard Doan's Kidney Pills so highly spoken of, I got a box at the W. & W. pharmacy. After using that for a short time I could plainly notice the good effects they were causing. I continued some time longer and gradually but surely improved. I found Doan's Kidney Pills a splendid remedy and advised others to try them, feeling confident if they do so they will have no cause to regret it."

Mrs. Edward Orr, of 220 Thompson street, says: "My sister, Mrs. Borland, of Pittsburgh, while visiting us recommended Doan's Kidney Pills so highly that I was induced to try them. I had severe attacks of kidney complaint. Sometimes I was so bad I could not get up. Many times my neighbors came and found me lying on the lounge suffering, when I intended to do a big day's work. I was so miserable I could do nothing. After my sister told me of the pills I made up my mind to try them, and got a box at the W. & W. pharmacy. They did just what they claimed they would do—cured me sound and well in a few days. My little girl was feeling poorly and had a sallow complexion for some time. I gave her a few doses and after the treatment she felt splendidly."

The New Arabian Nights

(Part 2—Continued)

The whole of the next day Silas filled with a sense of great importance. He was now sure she was a countess, and when evening came he minutely obeyed her orders and was at the corner of the Luxembourg gardens by the hour appointed. No one was there. He waited nearly half an hour, looking in the face of every one who passed or loitered near the spot. He even visited the neighboring corners of the Boulevard and made a complete circuit of the garden railings, but there was no beautiful countess to throw herself into his arms. At last, and most reluctantly, he began to retrace his steps toward his hotel. On the way he remembered the words he had heard pass between Mlle. Zephyrine and the blond young man, and they gave him an indefinite uneasiness.

AT BED TIME I TAKE A PLEASANT DRINK

THE NEXT MORNING I FEEL BRIGHT AND NEW AND MY COMPLEXION IS BETTER.

LANE'S FAMILY MEDICINE

"What do you mean?" demanded Silas rudely. "I cannot understand a word of this farrago."

"The short, blond young man who came for his debt," returned the other. "He is I mean. Who else should it be when I had your orders to admit no one else?"

"Of course he never came!" retorted Silas.

"I believe what I believe," returned the porter, putting his tongue into his cheek with a most roguish air.

"You are an insolent scoundrel!" cried Silas. And, feeling that he had made a ridiculous exhibition of asperity, and at the same time bewildered by a dozen alarms, he turned and began to run upstairs.

"Do you not want a light, then?" cried the porter.

But Silas only hurried the faster and did not pause until he had reached the seventh landing and stood in front of his own door. There he waited a moment to recover his breath, assailed by the worst forebodings and almost dreading to enter the room.

When at last he did so, he was relieved to find it dark and to all appearance untenanted. He drew a long breath. Here he was home again in safety, and this should be his last folly as certainly as it had been his first. The matches stood on a little table by the bed, and he began to grope his way in that direction. As he moved, his apprehensions grew upon him once more, and he was pleased, when his foot encountered an obstacle, to find it nothing more alarming than a chair. At last he touched curtains. From the position of the window, which was faintly visible, he knew he must be at the foot of the bed and had only to feel his way along it in order to reach the table in question.

He lowered his hand, but what it touched was not simply a counterpane—it was a counterpane with something underneath it like the outline of a human leg. Silas withdrew his arm and stood for a moment petrified.

"What, what," he thought, "can this betoken?"

He listened intently, but there was no sound of breathing. Once more, with a great effort, he reached out the end of his finger to the spot he had already touched, but this time he leaped back half a yard and stood shivering and fixed with terror. There was something in his bed. What it was he knew not, but there was something there.

It was some seconds before he could move. Then, guided by an instinct, he fell straight upon the matches and, keeping his back toward the bed, light-young man he had seen in the Bullier hall the night before, his eyes open and without speculation, his face swollen and blackened, and a thin stream of blood trickling from his nostrils.

Silas uttered a long tremulous wail, dropped the candle and fell on his knees beside the bed. Silas was awakened from the stupor into which his terrible discovery had plunged him by a prolonged but discreet tapping at the

"I THOUGHT I HEARD A CRY," BEGAN THE DOCTOR.

ed a candle. As soon as the flame was kindled, he turned slowly round and looked for what he feared to see. Sure enough, there was the worst of his imaginings realized. The coverlet was drawn carefully up over the pillow, but it molded the outlines of a human body lying motionless, and when he dashed forward and flung aside the sheets he beheld the blond door. It took him some seconds to remember his position, and when he hastened to prevent any one from entering it was already too late. Dr. Noel, in a tall nightcap, carrying a lamp which lighted up his long white countenance, sitting in his gait and peering and cocking his head like some sort of bird, pushed the door slowly open and advanced into the middle of the room.

"I thought I heard a cry," began the doctor, "and fearing you might be unwell, I did not hesitate to offer this intrusion."

Silas, with a flushed face and a fearful beating heart, kept between the doctor and the bed, but he found no voice to answer.

"You are in the dark," pursued the doctor, "and yet you have not even begun to prepare for rest. You will not easily persuade me against my own eyesight, and your face declares most eloquently that you require either a friend or a physician—which is it to be? Let me feel your pulse, for that is often a just reporter of the heart."

He advanced to Silas, who still retreated before him backward, and sought to take him by the wrist, but the strain on the young American's nerves had become too great for endurance. He avoided the doctor with a febrile movement and, throwing himself upon the floor, burst into a flood of weeping.

As soon as Dr. Noel perceived the dead man in the bed his face darkened, and, hurrying back to the door which he had left ajar, he hastily closed and double locked it.

"Up!" he cried, addressing Silas in strident tones. "This is no time for weeping. What have you done? How came this body in your room? Speak freely to one who may be helpful. Do you imagine I would ruin you? You think this piece of dead flesh on your pillow can alter in any degree the sympathy with which you have inspired me? Credulous youth, the horror with which blind and unjust law regards an action never attaches to the doer in the eyes of those who love him, and if I saw the friend of my heart return to me out of seas of blood he would be in no way changed in my affection. Raise yourself," he said, "Good and ill are a chimera. There is naught in life except destiny, and however you may be circumstanced, there is one at your side who will help you to the last."

Thus encouraged, Silas gathered himself together and, in a broken voice and helped out by the doctor's interrogations, contrived at last to put him in possession of the facts. But the conversation between the prince and Geraldine he altogether omitted, as he had understood little of its purport and had no idea that it was in any way related to his own misadventure.

"Alas!" cried Dr. Noel. "I am much abused or you have fallen innocently into the most dangerous hands in Europe. Poor boy! What a pit has been dug for your simplicity! Into what a deadly peril have your unwary feet been conducted! This man," he said, "this Englishman, whom you twice saw and whom I suspect to be the soul of the contrivance, can you describe him? Was he young or old, tall or short?"

But Silas, for all his curiosity, had not a seeing eye in his head, was able to supply nothing but meager generalities, which it was impossible to recognize.

"I would have it a piece of education in all schools!" cried the doctor angrily. "Where is the use of eyesight and articulate speech if a man cannot observe and recollect the features of his enemy? I, who know all the gangs of Europe, might have identified him and gained new weapons for your defense. Cultivate this art in future, my poor boy. You may find it of momentous service."

"The future!" repeated Silas. "What future is there left for me except the gallows?"

"Youth is but a cowardly season," returned the doctor, "and a man's own troubles look blacker than they are. I am old, and yet I never despair."

"Can I tell such a story to the police?" demanded Silas.

"Assuredly not," replied the doctor. "From what I see already of the machination in which you have been involved your case is desperate upon that side, and for the narrow eye of the authorities you are infallibly the guilty person. And remember that we only know a portion of the plot, and the same infamous contrivers have doubtless arranged many other circumstances which would be elicited by a police inquiry and help to fix the guilt more certainly upon your innocence."

"I am then lost indeed!" cried Silas.

"I have not said so," answered Dr. Noel, "for I am a cautious man."

"But look at this," objected Silas, pointing to the body. "Here is this object in my bed, not to be explained, not to be disposed of, not to be regarded without horror."

"Horror?" replied the doctor. "No. When this sort of clock has run down, it is no more to me than an ingenious piece of mechanism, to be investigated with the history. When blood is once cold and stagnant, it is no longer human blood. When flesh is once dead, it is no longer the flesh which we desire in our lovers and respect in our friends. The grace, the attraction and the terror have all gone from it with the animating spirit. Accustom yourself to look upon it with composure, for if my scheme is practicable you will have to live some days in constant proximity to that which now so greatly horrifies you."

"Your scheme?" cried Silas. "What is that? Tell me speedily, doctor, for I have scarcely courage enough to continue to exist."

Without replying, Dr. Noel turned toward the bed and proceeded to examine the corpse.

"Quite dead," he murmured. "Yes, as I had supposed, the pockets empty; yes, and the name cut off the shirt. Their work has been done thoroughly and well. Fortunately, he is of small stature."

Silas followed these words with an extreme anxiety. At last the doctor, his autopsy completed, took a chair and addressed the young American with a smile.

"Since I came into your room," said he, "although my ears and my tongue have been so busy, I have not suffered my eyes to remain idle. I noted a little while ago that you have there in the corner one of those monstrous constructions which your fellow countrymen carry with them into all quarters of the globe—in a word, a Saratoga trunk. Until this moment I have never been able to conceive the utility of these erections; but then I began to have a glimmer. Whether it was for convenience in the slave trade or to obviate the results of too ready an employment of the bowie knife, I cannot bring myself to decide, but one thing I see plainly—the object of such a box is to contain a human body."

"Surely," cried Silas—"surely this is not a time for jesting!"

"Although I may express myself with some degree of pleasantry," replied the doctor, "the purport of my words is entirely serious, and the first thing we have to do, my young friend, is to empty your coffin of all that it contains."

Silas, obeying the authority of Dr. Noel, put himself at his disposal. The Saratoga trunk was soon gutted of its contents, which made a considerable litter on the floor, and then Silas taking the heels and the doctor supporting the shoulders, the body of the murdered man was carried from the bed and, after some difficulty, doubled up and inserted whole into the empty box. With an effort on the part of both the lid was forced down upon this unusual baggage, and the trunk was locked and corded by the doctor's own hand, while Silas disposed of what had been taken out between the closet and a chest of drawers.

A very complete modern house which suits everybody; all work guaranteed; the site is on Minerva street, 1/2 square east of Walnut, only a few minutes walk from the Diamond. We will make minor changes without extra cost. Why not let us show you the plans and locations. Terms $700 down and balance $24 per month.

$1450 Will buy a four room slate roof house on Pennsylvania avenue, East End, with a lot 20x100; the street cars pass its front every six minutes. It is fitted with water and gas; the sidewalk is paved and curbed. This property is well worth the money. Terms $450 down, balance $10 per month.

$1750 Will buy a nicely located four room house, with city water and natural gas connections, situated on Ohio avenue, East End, on the street car line and having a fine river view and front. This property is located above the power house about five hundred yards, in the south part of that level bench that lies opposite Babb's island. The appreciation of the beauty and pleasantness of this location is attested by the very fine residences built and now being built there. Terms $500 down, $250 by June 1st, balance $10 per month.

Fifty Dollars, One Hundred Dollars or Two Hundred Dollars down has started many people toward owning their homes and making good their escape from buying rent receipts; their $10, $15 and $18 per month now buy the home instead. Practical advice and guidance in selecting the property is necessary to full and complete satisfaction. We spend our time devising ways for you to buy a home and getting together a list for you to choose from at prices lower than you can do for yourself. We want you to consult with us and learn how near we have accomplished our purpose. We have upwards of 300 properties for you to select from. We are open every day and evening.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

Sewing Circle—The ladies' sewing society of the First Presbyterian church held a meeting this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the church.

Another Democrat—Mrs. W. E. Morrow, wife of the Sixth street restaurant keeper, is the mother of a fine, large boy, which arrived yesterday.

Endeavor Social—The Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church will give a social Thursday evening in the lecture room of the church. All the young people are invited to be present and enjoy a pleasant evening.

Father Dacey's Funeral—A number of East Liverpool men went to Steubenville yesterday to attend the funeral of the late Rev. Father J. J. Dacey. Thousands were unable to gain admission to the church. Bishop Moeller was among the clergy who officiated at the impressive obsequies.

HUSBAND APPEARED AGAINST HIS WIFE

An East Liverpool Couple Airing Matrimonial Differences in the Divorce Court.
Lisbon, March 3.—(Special).—The divorce case of Myrtle Zehm vs. Henry S. Zehm, of East Liverpool, is being heard in court this afternoon. The husband appeared against his wife.

In her petition the plaintiff says they were married at Pomeroy, December 20, 1891. Two children, born to them, are both dead.

The wife alleges that her husband was on various occasions abusive toward her, accusing her of being unchaste and accompanying the accusations with vile language and threats to kill.

Decided to Take no Part.
There was a called meeting of East Liverpool Division, No. 52, of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees, held last evening in a down town building, the usual place of meeting in the East End being abandoned for reasons very important to the members of the division. The meeting was expected to take action on the proposed new car line to the East End. After a lengthy consideration it was decided that the division take no part in the question and that it remain neutral.

A Collector's Dream.

"If I should die tonight
And you should come to my cold
corpse and say,
Weeping and heart-sick o'er my lifeless clay,
If I should die tonight
And you should come in deepest grief and woe,
And say, 'Here's that ten dollars that I owe,'
I might arise in my great white cravat,
And say, 'What's that?'"

"If I should die tonight,
And you should come to my cold
corpse and say,
Clasping my bier to show the grief you feel—
I say, if I should die tonight,
And you should come, and there and then
Just hint at paying me that ten,
I might arise the while,
But I'd drop dead again."

After reading the above the Sleepless Shoe Co. congratulated themselves on the fact that they do not have the expense of collector's bad accounts, and bookkeeping of the same.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Charles Knowles Arranged a Delightful Surprise for Her Husband.

The home of Charles Knowles, of Cadmus street, was the scene of a delightful stag affair last night. It was arranged by Mrs. Knowles in honor of the twenty-seventh birthday anniversary of her husband. Mr. Knowles was called away for supper and some business affairs compelled him to remain up town for a short time. In this interval the home was prettily decorated with pink and green and everything was arranged to completely surprise him on his return. When he reached home he found it in possession of a large number of his gentlemen friends and the surprise was complete. The evening was spent with progressive euchre and the prize, a pocket-book, was won by John Kelley. The consolation prize was awarded to Willie Scraggs.

Mr. Knowles was presented a beautiful leather chair by his friends. After finishing the game, refreshments of a delicate nature were served and the evening was spent in a most enjoyable way despite the absence of the ladies.

Aldridge-Carlisle.
Lisbon, March 3.—(Special).—Arnold H. Carlisle, of Freedom, Pa., and Miss Hannah M. Aldridge were married at 8 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Aldridge, of this city. Rev. J. E. Anderson, of the Presbyterian church, officiated. Clyde Wilson, of Canton, and Miss Margaret Aldridge were groomsmen and bridesmaid. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Hampton Carlisle, of Lisbon. A furnished home awaits them in Freedom, Pa., where they will commence housekeeping next Thursday.

Wilson-Barton.
A pretty wedding took place last night at 8 o'clock, when occurred the marriage ceremony making Bennett Barton and Miss Theodora Wilson, both of this city, man and wife. The wedding took place at the home of the groom on Chester avenue and was witnessed by the families of both contracting parties and a few intimate friends. Mr. Barton is employed in one of the local potteries and is well known in the town. The couple expect to go to housekeeping at once.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. H. H. Bowden, of the First Baptist church, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. The following out-of-town guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. John Horner, Freedom, Pa.; Miss Cora Beck, Gallipolis, O.; Mrs. Mary Davidson, Pomeroy, O.; Miss Lee McBride, Millwood, W. Va.; Mrs. Margaret Campbell, Jacksonville, O.

The regular meeting of the East Liverpool Amateur Photo society will be held at their rooms tonight. At the meeting tonight the officers for the coming year will be chosen. Hereafter the society will hold two social sessions each month. One of these will be a stag smoker for the members only, but the other will be a social session at which the wives and friends of the members will be invited. The next social session will be held March 13 and the next smoker March 24.

Missionary Society Meeting.
The Women's Foreign Mission Society of the First M. E. church last evening held a most interesting business meeting, which was well attended by the members.

Tuesday Evening Club.
Miss Emma R. Bloor will entertain the Tuesday Evening club this evening at her home on Railroad street.

A MANAGER CHOSEN FOR CO-OPERATIVE STORE

Directors Made Their Selection at a Meeting Held Last Evening.

The directors of the co-operative store held a meeting last evening and practically made the selection of a manager and decided upon which of the two locations for the establishment to accept. For reasons best known to the directors their selections will not be made public at this time. It is understood that the manager is a well known young man, employed at the present time in one of the leading grocery establishments in the city.

A committee, composed of U. G. King, Samuel Steel, Richard Herbert and John Reark, was appointed to notify Edwin Oppelt that the deal for his establishment had been declared off. Another meeting of the directors will be held tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock.

Flood Is Not Dangerous.
Parkersburg, W. Va., March 3.—Parkersburg will escape serious danger from the flood, which will not reach as high a point as was first expected. Probably 50 residences in the lower part of town are surrounded and most of the factories were compelled to shut down. There is little suffering and there is no suspension of business. Traffic on the Ohio river division of the Baltimore and Ohio has been interrupted seriously. The river last night was 38 feet, and will probably reach 40 feet before falling.

Decision Sustained.
San Francisco, March 3.—In the United States circuit court of appeals Judge Hawley yesterday handed down a decision sustaining the injunction granted by the United States circuit court for the northern district of California restraining certain sheep owners from grazing their flocks on the Stanislaus forest reserve, which includes the Yosemite national park. The injunction, the court says, was entirely constitutional and just under existing federal statutes.

On a Gold Basis.
Lima, Peru, March 3.—All the banks here have signed an agreement to come into effect from yesterday to keep their accounts and carry out their operations solely on the basis of the legal coin, the Peruvian gold pound.

Erie Wants Encampment.
Erie, Pa., March 3.—Erie expects to secure the annual encampment of the Second brigade, national guard of Pennsylvania. The site proposed for a camp is near Reed driving park, on the shore of Lake Erie.

Victims of Typhoid.
Ithaca, N. Y., March 3.—The toll of victims of the present typhoid epidemic was increased yesterday by the deaths of Miss Mary L. Birdsall and Mrs. Davenport, both residents of Ithaca. The condition of student patients was reported to be the best of any day during the epidemic.

Ohio Man Appointed.
Massillon, O., March 3.—Victor H. Morgan, of this city, yesterday received appointment as United States vice consul at Marseilles, vice Robert K. Fast, of Canton, resigned.

FOR THE SOUTH.

Pale Colored Gowns—Feather Muffs and Stoles.
Cream and mastic, pale pastel blue and several shades of pink and strawberry are popular for costumes and gowns intended for the south. The coat costume is not so universally in demand, and it is more modish to have a three-quarter sack coat for cool days, the gown being made with a short bolero and altogether in more elaborate fashion to wear with a feather tippet in warm weather.

A Russian blouse lately designed had a full front of ivory satin gathered to a lace yoke, and the broad collar and revers of cloth were ornamented with the panne. The sleeve in bell form was tucked at the widest part and drawn into a cuff of panne. One of the new stoles of chinchilla colored marabout was worn with this gown, and the very large flat muff had two bushy tails on either side.

These feather sets will be much worn in the spring, and they are exceedingly warm and cozy, being so large and full that they quite cover the shoulders. The illustration shows a stole of ermine trimmed with a broad flounce of lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Babylonian Creation Legends.

The story of the creation, as told on the clay tablets of ancient Babylon, is interesting. Several doctees appear to have been regarded as in existence at the beginning of things. At least two, Apsu and Tiamat, represented chaos, and the former rebelled against the gods in consequence. The chief struggle was between him and Ea, whose son, Bel, created the world. Man was made by Marmuk, who in spite of the difference in name may have been identical with Bel. The creation of man was the culminating event of the history. Marmuk told Ea that he intended to perform his task and asked his father to behold him. Man was to be made out of Marmuk's blood and bone. Marmuk appears to have survived deification, as he subsequently took part in the councils of the gods.

Many parallels between these legends and the Hebrew story of the creation can be detected by scholars. The idea that seven days were devoted to the work may have long antedated Abraham's time. The oldest tablets yet discovered are not originals, but copies. These date back only 668-626 B. C.
